EARL BUTZ

'RACIAL SLURS' ANGER CAPITOL HILL

Fire Earl Butz, Republicans Urge Ford

By DAVE RILEY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reprimanded by President Ford for slurs against blacks, Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz says he regrets his language, but some fellow Republicans are calling for his dismissal. Butz was summoned to the White House on Friday and was given "a severe reprimand" by Ford, who found Butz' racial comments "highly offensive," presidential aides said.

But reaction rolled in quickly from both Republicans and Democrats. There were strong calls for Butz to resign or for Ford to fire him. Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois, chairman of the House Republican Conference, urged Ford to fire Butz, saying in a letter: "Anyone harboring such racist views should have no place in your administration."

And Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., said, "It seems beyond belief that a Cabinet member could so recklessly slander an entire race. The secretary's language was so foul that it cannot even be repeated in the mass media." Butz' remarks were first reported in an article in Rolling Stone magazine by John Dean, a convicted Watergate figure, who said Butz made the comment in a conversation aboard an airplane after the Republican convention in Kansas City.

Dean, who did not name Butz in his account, said the remarks were made to him and to entertainers Pat Boone and Sonny Bono during a conversation about Republican chances of attracting black voters. In his comment, as quoted by Rolling Stone and by the magazine New Times, Butz referred to blacks as "coloreds" and described in a derogatory manner what he characterized as their sexual, dress and bathroom predilections.

White House officials said Butz told Ford about his comments after discovering that New Times was naming him as the Cabinet official referred to by Dean in the Rolling Stone story. Congress was closing out its final session of the year Friday night and the Butz quotation spread rapidly through the Capitol. There were immediate demands that Ford fire him, many of them from Republicans.

Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass., the only black member of the Senate, called Butz' remarks "vulgar and offensive" and he added: "I call upon the President to ask for the secretary's resignation. No man who harbors such thoughts is fit to serve in the cabinet of the President of the United States."

Butz called Brooke to apologize to him personally, saying he "intended no disrespect." But Brooke said he told Butz he did not consider him to be fit to serve in the Cabinet. After his meeting with Ford, a spokesman for the secretary said Butz "regretted any offense which may have been given to any person or any group, and issued a complete apology."

The spokesman did not say to whom the apology was given or what it said. It was the second such incident in which Butz has had to issue a public apology. He apologized earlier after being called to task for a November 1974 remark widely regarded as offensive to Catholics and Italian-Americans.

Butz, 67, was appointed by former President Richard M. Nixon and was rumored to be close to quitting at least twice since Ford took office. But sources say Ford personally prevailed upon him

Liza Hits Baja; At Least 630 Dead

Shanty Town Of 10,000 Blanketed By Mud

LA PAZ, Mexico (AP) — Mexican troops dug victims of Hurricane Liza out of the mud and buried them in mass graves today after 100-mile-per-hour winds slashed across the Baja California peninsula. Officials said the storm killed at least 630 persons.

"We think the number of deaths could reach 1,000. We urgently need clothing, medicine and food. The situation is very grave. There are many people still buried in the mud. It's frightening," said a spokesman for the governor's office, Rogelio Felix.

Heavy rains from the hurricane burst a 30-foot-high dam just outside this desert-area resort city, sending a wall of water and mud over a shanty town where 10,000 people lived, thousands of them in cardboard shacks. Some of the shacks were swept as far as six miles, a spokesman for the governor's office said.

Many of the deaths occurred because the residents of the shanty town either did not hear or did not heed warnings to take shelter in public buildings, a spokesman for the La Paz mayor's office said.

An official at the port cap-

tain's office, Balazar Vuelna, said the known death toll of 630 did not include victims found by Mexican troops who were helping "dig up bodies which they are now burying, most of them in common graves."

An airlift of food, blankets and medicine got under way shortly before dawn. Rescue supplies were also brought in by navy ships.

Felix said that "an enormous blanket of mud" covered the area below where the dam broke along the Cajoncito River outside La Paz, devastating the shanty town.

"Military and civilian rescue brigades are flying over the nearby towns to make a complete estimate of the damage," he said. "Here in La Paz, rescue teams have gone out and covered 100 square kilometers (about 38 square miles)."

Throngs of people looking for loved ones filed silently through the city morgue.

An official in Sonora, Guillermo Flores, said that "the army and team of civilian volunteers are pulling down flooded houses that were weakened by the waters and that represent a danger."

After inspecting the damage, Mexican President Luis Echeverria early today ordered emergency aid sent to La Paz and other coastal communities including Ciudad Obregon, Los Mochis and three ports in Sonora state.

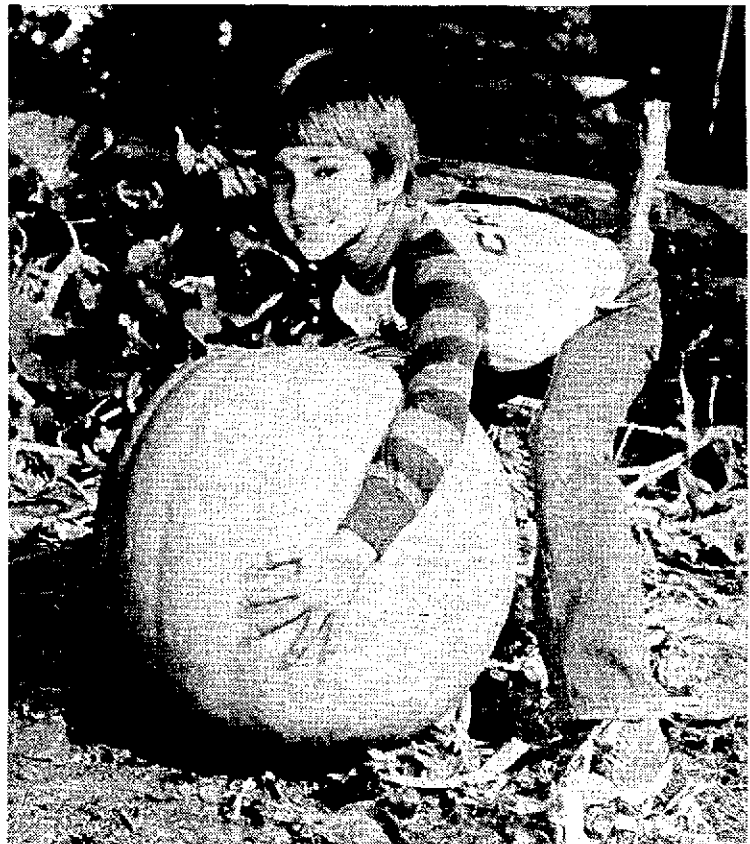

Officials said initial estimates indicated that in Baja California the hurricane injured 14,000 persons and left at least 40,000 homeless. At least 20,000 were driven out of their homes just in La Paz, a city of 85,000 near the southern tip of the peninsula, which stretches for some 700 miles south from California.

Liza dumped almost 5 1/2 inches of rain on La Paz and about three inches on Sonora, officials said.

Liza hit La Paz early Friday morning, then turned sharply northward, moving across the Sea of Cortez and lashing into the Mexican mainland between Ciudad Obregon and Los Mochis in Sonora state.

A spokesman said the storm slackened Friday afternoon as it swept over the rugged Sierra Madre Mountains. He said there will be heavy rain in the area for two or three days, but "Liza has ceased to be a threat."

The storm later caused torrential rains and some flooding in parts of the southwestern United States. National Weather Service officials warned that flooding may affect the Colorado River basin, much of Arizona, as well as desert areas of southern California and eastern and southern Nevada.

Safecrackers Hit Navy Carrier For $70,000

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — "Mulligan's Pirates," a fictional account of the holdup of a Navy carrier at sea, may have inspired the $70,000 holdup of the aircraft carrier Forrestal, the Navy says.

In "Mulligan's Pirates," civilians dressed as sailors boarded the ship as though returning from liberty but were caught because the ship's commander sounded general quarters to test the crew's combat readiness.

"We're hoping the only difference between the end of that book and the end of this robbery is that we catch them ashore," a Navy investigator said Friday. Investigators said they were "exploring all the avenues with every man available" in their effort to find out who robbed the carrier early Thursday.

The bandits bound and gagged Disbursing Clerk 2 C. Eleazar Patasilis, 29, of The Philippines, then used an acetylene torch to enter the safe containing the money about 3 a.m., Navy spokesmen said.

The clerk managed to free himself two hours later and alerted ship authorities.

A crewman who worked near the disbursing area said many of the Forrestal's sailors felt it was "an inside job."

"It would be very easy," said the crewman, who asked not to be identified.

"With only one man in your way, you could cut through that safe, take the money, and go down two decks and leave ship in half an hour. At that time of the morning, hardly anyone was walking around."

Patasilis, who had been disbursing clerk less than a month, was unarmed and was the only person working near the area.

The carrier was anchored in Hampton Roads harbor at the time of the holdup, and liberty boats were taking crewmen back and forth to shore at that time.

A source said said the small, portable acetylene torch with a 30-minute burning capacity used to enter the safe had been stolen from a ship locker.

Also, dozens of civilian shipyard employees were aboard the ship at the time preparing the carrier for repairs to be done at the Norfolk Naval Shipyard, the crewman said.

Members of the Forrestal crew who were on board after the robbery was discovered were not permitted to leave the ship until late Thursday afternoon.

A dinner honoring Richard "Mike" Daugherty, the Sister Lakes Democrat who is a candidate for election to Congress, will be held Oct. 15 at 7:30 p.m. in the Benton Harbor Holiday Inn, according to William Jones, 531 Winchester, St. Joseph, chairman of the United Democrats of Berrien county. Tuition Amendment Is Signed By Governor

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken signed into law Friday a bill to end the threat of massive tuition increases for students who go to school outside the district in which they live.

The bill changes a portion of the 1978-79 state school aid law, returning it to last year's form. Under the short-lived new provision, some parents would have seen their tuition bills increase as much as $1,000 over the $100 to $300 they now pay.

About 7,000 Michigan children attended school last year outside the districts where they live.

The law signed Friday will keep intact the practice of making state school aid payments to the district where the student attends classes. Districts then would have the option of charging either the parents or the home district the difference between the cost of education and the amount of state aid received.

The earlier proposed law would have sent school aid to the student's home district. The state was trying to save money under the proposal, by eliminating some state aid payments which would not have been needed if the child had stayed in his or her own district. That was because some districts are wealthy enough to not qualify for state aid. If a child from such a district attended school elsewhere, the state would have to provide aid.

The state had planned that home districts would hand over part of that state money to the district where the child attended school. However, some districts indicated they would not transfer money.

As a result, some school districts said they would have to bill the parents for the full cost of educating the child.

Districts in southwestern Michigan that would have been particularly affected if the legislature had not amended the act were Eau Claire, and three K-8 districts, River and Riverside in Berrien county and Wood in Van Buren.

Tuition Amendment Is Signed By Governor

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken signed into law Friday a bill to end the threat of massive tuition increases for students who go to school outside the district in which they live.

The bill changes a portion of the 1976-77 state school aid law, returning it to last year’s form. Under the short-lived new provision, some parents would have seen their tuition bills

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

An Energy Policy Minus Any Energy

For five years there has been lip service agreement that the U.S. needs an energy policy.

It started with a recommendation from Richard Nixon during his first term in the White House calling upon Congress to appropriate a $5 billion seed money research program into all resources.

Though the OPEC alliance had not been formed up at the time, economic intelligence reports left little doubt a petroleum cartel would be on its way to squeeze the consuming industrialized nations.

Nothing came of Nixon's recommendation and even the Arab oil embargo of 1974 when Jerry Ford had taken over the Presidency failed to stir Congress and the public to action.

As Congress is about to adjourn here is the scoreboard on the energy game.

The chief executive officer of Gulf Oil Company issued a press release stating he expects OPEC to raise crude petroleum prices by at least 10 percent before the year-end. This conflicts with the opinion of other oil executives who have been forecasting a lesser increase and one of a more delayed effective date. Basically, however, their difference is only one of degree. The petroleum pinch will grow tighter.

In his first debate with Ford, Jimmy Carter stated he favors a crash program to develop coal and other fossilized fuels within our borders, but he would put nuclear energy on the back burner to be turned to only as a last gasp in desperation.

A movement to produce synthetic fuels has pretty much ground to a halt.

The Interior Department has suspended oil shale development in the western states for a variety of technical and environmental difficulties.

This oil impregnated rock abounds in abundance, but liberating the fuel from its shell is a messy job and the process has not been refined to the point where the product can compete with the high priced foreign petroleum.

Putting in its two cents worth is the Congressional auditing branch, the General Accounting Office, which contends synthetics development, being as costly as it is, should be deferred until the U.S. no longer can rely upon foreign crude oil imports at whatever the price may be.

Some months ago the Canadian government announced a phasing out of its oil exports within five years because Canada is starting to run short.

Until the Alaskan pipeline is completed, the rich yields from the North Slope will remain the dribble which can be transported during an extremely short shipping season.

This week the House of Representatives really put the frosting on this cruddy cake.

By one vote it prevented bringing to the floor a proposal to supply $4 billion in loan guarantees and price supports for synthetic fuels.

The coalition shunting this idea aside is interesting if nothing else.

The liberals turned thumbs down because of pressure from the environmentalists.

The conservatives rejected it as an unwarranted obligation of public funds for private purposes.

They were the reasons given when talking to those few reporters querying them for their decision.

The synthetics bill is not an energy policy as Ford or Carter defines it.

It is simply one of several approaches to freeing the U.S. from a foreign stranglehold.

With a frankness, however, that must be admired for expressing it, many of those casting a negative vote said this is not the type of proposition which should be voted upon in an election year.

Congress, with or without prompting from the outside, teems with gas.

The 'Supremes' Return

The "Supremes", as they are sometimes called, will return to the Marble Palace, as it is sometimes known, for the opening of their 1976-77 season on Oct. 4. And Supreme Court followers everywhere are wondering what kind of reviews the group of nine will get in its new term.

The make-up of this court and the complexity of pending cases render predictions hazardous. The court already has accepted 99 cases for review, and they embrace difficult questions concerning abortion, privacy, sex discrimination, environmental pollution, and the rights of children, employees, towns and states.

Conventional opinion holds that the court under Chief Justice Warren E. Burger is becoming more conservative. But its record last term was mixed — conservative in some criminal cases but more liberal on free speech and freedom of the press issues. On balance, it was moderate.

Two justices — Burger and William H. Rehnquist — are generally conservative. Two others — William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall — are generally liberal. And the rest make up a shifting center, with Harry A. Blackmun and Lewis F. Powell Jr. leaning right, Potter Stewart and Byron R. White leaning left, and John Paul Stevens unpredictable. "He's a wild card," Professor A.E.D. Howard of the University of Virginia Law School has said of the court's newest member.

There has been some criticism of the quality of work done by the current court. Law Professor Philip Kurland of the University of Chicago said in July, at the end of the court's last term, that he would have trouble giving passing grade to many opinions written by the justices.

If there is any discernible trend, it is away from the activist role played by the court for many years under Chief Justice Earl Warren. "The present court," Justice Powell told the American Bar Association in August, "...may be more deferential to legislative judgments...more likely to give some weight to federalism, and...more conventional in demanding compliance with jurisdictional and standing requirements."

Most justices seem to be sensitive to the rights of state and local governments, making it more likely that lower court decisions will be upheld. Indeed, Justice Brennan, in a stinging dissent to a December 1975 decision, Michigan v. Mosley, virtually invited state courts to assert their independence. He noted "the emerging trend among high state courts of relying upon state constitutional protections of individual liberties — protections pervading counterpart provisions of the U.S. Constitution, but increasingly being ignored by decisions of this court."

California Justice Stanley Mosk, at a conference last April on "American Law: The Third Century," predicted a "Phoenix-like resurrection of federalism, of, if you prefer, states' rights," leading to increased reliance of state courts on state constitutions.

SHE FINDS FAULT WITH 'NO-FAULT'

Editor,

No fault insurance has been aptly named: through no no fault of his own, the careful driver may find himself faced with higher insurance rates, or even cancellation of his policy.

How can it happen? Simple. A few weeks ago a man pulled out from a tavern, sped through a red light and plowed into my sister's car, causing $1200 worth of damage. He admitted his guilt and was issued a traffic ticket, but my sister's insurance company had to pay the damages, so it cancelled her policy as "high risk!"

It used to be the careless driver who had to fear the consequences of an accident; the good driver was protected. But thanks to no-fault, the situation is reversed.

At this rate, the good drivers will eventually all be grounded by lack of insurance, the bad drivers will smash each other off the road, and the insurance companies will be out of the auto insurance business. Well, it's one way to fight pollution.

The insurance companies have been telling us for years that they want to encourage good drivers, and thus reduce accidents. We can have no faith in their vaunted concern for human life when they enthusiastically adopted a system which rewards the careless driver with immunity and penalized the innocent by economic sanctions.

To the legislators who co-operated in the perpetration of this gigantic rip-off, let me say, "What will you do when through 'no fault' of your own, your insurance is cancelled as a 'high risk'? Just try to get another company to write you a policy."

SAYS COUPLE SHOULD BE GIVEN CHARGE

Editor,

These days we hear a lot of criticism of our young people for not really caring about themselves or wanting to assume any responsibility for their children or their communities. Why, then, is no real encouragement given to the ones who do care? It seems to be much easier to hinder than to help, doesn't it?

My husband and I attended the Sept. 20 meeting of the Coloma township zoning board which was held for the purpose of further hearing on the proposed campground development of the property of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Bittner, who purchased the land some months ago on North Coloma road. They are seeking a special zoning exemption in order to proceed with their plans. So far, they have encountered very little encouragement and a great deal of opposition.

At the last meeting very unjust and unfounded remarks were made — one of them being, quote, "I and some others resent outsiders coming into the area to make a wad and then skipping out." Very obviously, that person knows nothing about the young couple that remark was aimed at and had made no effort to find out more about them, for if she had, she would have learned that Mrs. Bittner has lived in this area all her life and graduated from Coloma high school with highest honors, and her husband, Larry, comes from a family who has lived in this area for three generations. That would hardly put this young couple in the "fly by night" category.

There was also an inference made as to the campground causing pollution of Paw Paw lake.

I wonder if these people remember that just a few years ago Paw Paw lake was in such a state of pollution that a loan had to be sought (and the taxes raised on all local property owners) in order for a sewage disposal plant to be constructed to clean up the lake? That condition could only have been brought about by all lake property owners around the lake — not just one — and it took a period of years for this to become the serious situation that it did.

This young couple are living on this property and will continue to do so and have no other intention than operating a well-supervised and clean and quiet campsite. They intend to abide by any rules and regulations pertaining to such (and there are many). They are interested in providing a secure future for themselves and their children and in being an asset to their community.

I would hope that those who are opposing their plans would reconsider their position and realize that the Bittners are not setting out to "desecrate the land and lake," but to better it and preserve it to the best of their ability.

Why not give them a chance instead of pre-judging them? Isn't that the principle that our country is founded upon?

A resident of the Coloma-Watervliet area for the past 29 years, I am, company will give employment to about fifty men, which will make this factory one of the largest in the state.

Yours truly,

When the News first came into the hands of Editor Klock all hope for its recovery had been abandoned, but the change worked wonders and its chances for a long and prosperous life are very bright.

The Twin City boiler works, which started a few years ago as an infant industry, is now able to walk in pretty good shape and the proprietor, James Isbell, is making a large addition to the plant. The factory is at present located near the old D and C dock at the river bridge. The boiler works has grown to be one of St. Joseph's valuable industries.

Figures Don't Always Add Up

WASHINGTON — For all the statistics, quoted so glibly by Jimmy Carter and President Ford in their opening debate, it is clear neither man understands the economic realities behind the figures.

As a mathematics major in my college days, I learned quickly that numbers can be used to "prove" both sides of any issue. I remember once, in preparing for a debate, I'd marshalled a set of statistics which to my thinking proved my arguments hands down. I had no doubts so devastating were those numbers.

Then a friend came along, a friend assigned to the opposite side of the question I was proving. He asked to borrow my figures. With assurance, I told him they would do him no good. Never mind, he said. Let me try.

And lo and behold, this able young man took my figures and used them to prove my thesis was not true. And did an admirable job of it. I still think I was right. But he was convincing.

So it was in the Carter-Ford debate. Numbers. Numbers. Numbers.

In predicting the ability or inability of the economy to handle $80 billion to $150 billion of new programs, both started from the same data. But they came up with such different interpretations of where those figures led that it seem next to unbelievable they were talking about the same economy.

Robert McNamara, when secretary of Defense, whenever his policies were questioned would come forth with a barrage . . . opponents were cowed — at least for the first two years of his reign. His method was simple. He'd feed a set of assumptions into a computer, pour in a heavy dose of figures, insert series of complicated equations, then confidently read the answers the computer fed out.

He forgot one basic rule of computer math: "Garbage in, garbage out." The results which come from mathematical analysis depend so heavily on the assumptions (true or false) fed in, and on the choice of data used, that they tend to mirror not the truth but the prejudices of the person handling the computer.

This is the problem we have with economic theory — and why economic predictions so seldom prove true. It is why an economist of one school and one of another can come up with widely different answers.

This over-dependence on theory is why candidates with textbook answers can be dangerous in their thinking. They have the same propensity to believe their overly optimistic assumptions of profits, income or gross national product as do so many eager men starting new business, going broke because they've convinced themselves of sales and profits calculated on paper — but which never appear.

Computer mathematics is useful in the physical sciences and in major areas of business only where users hold rigidly to objective data.

The most dangerous practice of all is projection of what will happen based on hundreds or thousands of bits and pieces of economic data.

This Jimmy Carter and President Ford have forgotten or have never learned.

Men argue emotionally and endlessly that decreasing the tax rate will increase — or decrease — the tax take, whether this exemption or that will encourage new business and create new jobs, or whether they are merely loopholes, whether this tax exemption or that encourages those social values we want to promote in our society or whether they're no more than gifts to gain votes.

The plain and simple fact is that as of today we don't have the answers. We need more facts.

Both May Have Won In Debate

The first debate between Jimmy Carter and Gerald Ford constituted not so much a victory for one or even a draw but rather an opportunity for both to accomplish needed tasks. Both candidates may have done themselves different kinds of good.

Prior to the debate, Jimmy Carter had experienced about the worst two weeks imaginable, reminiscent even of George McGovern's floundering about during the Eagleton episode. As partisan a Carter-supporter as Tom Wicker of the Times conceded as much, writing that a series of astounding gaffes had had the net effect three weeks after Labor Day of setting "the Carter campaign adrift in a sea of mini-Eagleton affairs, important only cumulatively" — that is, however, important.

Carter seemed nervous at first, with a consequent tendency to wordiness, but he soon worked himself into a sense of greater ease. His articulation is unimpressive because he has a tendency to mutter and slur his words, but he did come alive on the traditional Democratic themes of unemployment and the need to stimulate the economy. He did not make it very clear how the tax code can be altered without harming investment, and most knowledgeable people doubt that there is really much mileage in an effort to soak the rich, but he did put these populist themes into the argument.

All in all, it is doubtful that Carter's image on the tube caused many in the vast audience to exclaim spontaneously that this was their idea of a U.S. president, but he did at least seem coherent and plausible. He therefore may well have halted or at least slowed his recent slide.

Ford's own figures in the polls mirror Carter's decline. Last summer, the Harris Poll showed a 63-36 negative job rating for Ford; today the figure stands at 48-52 positive — a reversal in its way as remarkable as Carter's, and certainly linked to it.

Ford nevertheless had some things to prove in the debate, and he may have done so. He had to correct the widely held impression that he is a bumbler and not very bright, not a leader, not on top of his job.

In the debate, Ford demonstrated an evident command of the facts, he set forth clearly his own view of the direction desirable for the country, and he several times deftly went over to the attack against Carter. Ford was crisp and forceful and he probably banished forever the idea that he is Bozo the Clown.

The Ford who is now fighting this election is not quite the same entity that started down the primary trail last February.

Ford may even have grasped the fact that, despite all the chatter about an "imperial presidency," Americans in general expect their president to be a force to be reckoned with. After all, he is presiding over a global combination of nations and interests that might as well be called an empire.

Americans are not really impressed by the fact that Ford toasts his own English muffin, and ironic "Betty's Husband for President" buttons have suggested as much. But the Ford we saw on the tube last Thursday evening seemed to have gained a great deal in force of personality and overall impressiveness.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

An Energy Policy Minus Any Energy

For five years there has been lip service agreement that the U.S. needs an energy policy.

It started with a recommendation from Richard Nixon during his first term in the White House calling upon Congress to appropriate a $5 billion seed money research program into all resources.

Though the OPEC alliance had not been formed up at the time, economic intelligence reports left little doubt a petroleum cartel would be on its way to squeeze the consuming industrialized nations.

Nothing came of Nixon's recommendation and even the Arab oil embargo of 1974 when Jerry Ford had taken over the Presidency failed to stir Congress and the public to action.

As Congress is about to adjourn here is the scoreboard on the energy game.

The chief executive officer of Gulf Oil Company issued a press release stating he expects OPEC to raise crude petroleum prices by at least 10 percent before the year-end. This conflicts with the opinion of other oil executives who have been forecasting a lesser increase and one of a more delayed effective date. Basically, however, their difference is only one of degree. The petroleum pinch will grow tighter.

In his first debate with Ford, Jimmy Carter stated he favors a crash program to develop coal and other fossilized fuels within our borders, but he would put nuclear energy on the back burner to be turned to only as a last gasp in desperation.

A movement to produce synthetic fuels has pretty much ground to a halt.

The Interior Department has suspended oil shale development in the western states for a variety of technical and environmental difficulties.

This oil impregnated rock abounds in abundance, but liberating the fuel from its shell is a messy job and the process has not been refined to the point where the product can compete with the high priced foreign petroleum.

The 'Supremes' Return

The "Supremes", as they are sometimes called, will return to the Marble Palace, as it is sometimes known, for the opening of their 1976-77 season on Oct. 4. And Supreme Court followers everywhere are wondering what kind of reviews the group of nine will get in its new term.

The make-up of this court and the complexity of pending cases render predictions hazardous. The court already has accepted 99 cases for review, and they embrace difficult questions concerning abortion, privacy, sex discrimination, environmental pollution, and the rights of children, employees, towns and states.

Conventional opinion holds that the court under Chief Justice Warren E. Burger is becoming more conservative. But its record last term was mixed — conservative in some criminal cases but more liberal on free

Putting in its two cents worth is the Congressional auditing branch, the General Accounting Office, which contends synthetics development, being as costly as it is, should be deferred until the U.S. no longer can rely upon foreign crude oil imports at whatever the price may be.

Some months ago the Canadian government announced a phasing out of its oil exports within five years because Canada is starting to run short.

Until the Alaskan pipeline is completed, the rich yields from the North Slope will remain the dribble which can be transported during an extremely short shipping season.

This week the House of Representatives really put the frosting on this cruddy cake.

By one vote it prevented bringing to the floor a proposal to supply $4 billion in loan guarantees and price supports for synthetic fuels.

The coalition shunting this idea aside is interesting if nothing else.

The liberals turned thumbs down because of pressure from the environmentalists.

The conservatives rejected it as an unwarranted obligation of public funds for private purposes.

They were the reasons given when talking to those few reporters querying them for their decision.

The synthetics bill is not an energy policy as Ford or Carter defines it. It is simply one of several approaches to freeing the U.S. from a foreign stranglehold.

With a frankness, however, that must be admired for expressing it, many of those casting a negative vote said this is not the type of proposition which should be voted upon in an election year.

Congress, with or without prompting from the outside, teems with gas.

It is too bad it is not the variety which can be carburetoned in the family bus.

speech and freedom of the press issues. On balance, it was moderate.

Two justices — Burger and William H. Rehnquist — are generally conservative. Two others — William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall — are generally liberal. And the rest make up a shifting center, with Harry A. Blackmun and Lewis F. Powell Jr. leaning right, Potter Stewart and Byron R. White leaning left, and John Paul Stevens unpredictable. "He's a wild card," Professor A.E.D. Howard of the University of Virginia Law School has said of the court's newest member.

There has been some criticism of the quality of work done by the current court. Law Professor Philip Kurland of the University of Chicago said in July, at the end of the court's last term, that he would have trouble giving passing grade to many opinions written by the justices.

If there is any discernible trend, it is away from the activist role played by the court for many years under Chief Justice Earl Warren. "The present court," Justice Powell told the American Bar Association in August, "...may be more deferential to legislative judgments....more likely to give some weight to federalism, and...more conventional in demanding compliance with jurisdictional and standing requirements."

Most justices seem to be sensitive to the rights of state and local governments, making it more likely that lower court decisions will be upheld. California Justice Stanley Mosk, at a conference last April on "American Law: The Third Century," predicted a "Phoenix-like resurrection of federalism, of, if you prefer, states' rights," leading to increased reliance of state courts on state constitutions.

Builder Questions LMC Construction Job Awards

Assistant City Editor

The president of Holland Construction Co. in St. Joseph has questioned Lake Michigan College's policy of awarding contracts for construction jobs.

In a letter to the college board of trustees, Gerald Levi charges that LMC in the past has failed to award his firm a major contract when it was low bidder and presently has another firm working on a project for which Holland Construction was not invited to bid.

"I certainly hope that in the future you would more seriously consider awarding bid and non-bid contracts to us," Levi stated.

Dr. Bernard Radde, chairman of the board of trustees, said the time element was responsible for waiving bids on the current project — construction of a new campus entrance marker for the college — which is being built by Pearson Construction Co. at an estimated cost of $29,000.

He also said a cutback in construction plans resulted in Holland losing the contract for Phase II construction of the Napier avenue campus in October, 1969.

At that time Holland submitted an original bid of $4,225,748 which was the low bid by almost $10,000 below Pearson, which bid $4,235,500.

But after several alternates in the plans were thrown out to bring the cost below the $4.2 million estimated for the project, Pearson was low with $4,130,500 while Holland was almost $4,000 higher at $4,134,448.

Pearson also was general contractor for the first phase of the new campus building under a $4,707,735 contract.

Dr. Radde said the current marker project was awarded without going through the bidding process so that the marker would be completed in time for today's dedication ceremonies.

He said all but one of the trustees agreed to the plans in phone discussions before this week's board meeting, at which trustees voted to waive retroactively the rule requiring bids on all projects over $500.

"We're not trying to pull any fast ones," Dr. Radde said. "It really was the time element — we felt we had to move on it. We had our counsel draw up the resolution — it's all legal."

Radde noted that Holland construction presently is doing other work for the college — installing ramps and an elevator to aid handicapped students — and would be invited to bid on major projects in the future.

"I think they're just a little off base on this complaint," he said.

Gentlemen:
When I visited your construction site today I noticed that another contractor is just starting a project for you. Upon returning to my office I had our estimating department look back and see if we were invited to bid on this work. To my amazement I could not find where we were contacted.

As you are probably aware we have submitted a bid every time we were asked. Submitting bids, of course, is expensive but we realize that it is a necessary part of a general construction operation. However, if some construction phases are not going to be bid, we certainly would hope that you could see your way clear to award some to us. As of this date, you have never awarded a contract to us that we first did not bid on. As a matter of fact, I remember one instance when we did extend you the courtesy of bidding a project and even though we were low bidder, you chose to not award us the contract.

I certainly hope that in the future you would more seriously consider awarding bid and non-bid contracts to us. Please extend us the courtesy of replying to this letter.

Crime Does Pay In Michigan

By Associated Press

If you commit a crime in Michigan, odds are you'll never see the inside of a cell.

Depending on whose figures you look at — and where in the state the crime is committed — the imprisonment rate for felons ranges from 42 per cent to one in 100.

A Citizens Research Council study says a person who kills, robs, or rapes someone in Michigan risks a slim one per cent chance of being caught and going to jail.

Another barometer of Michigan's criminal justice system, the annual state Corrections Department report on courts, gives Detroit Recorder's Court the highest imprisonment rate in the state.

That report showed that, in 1975, 42 per cent of felons convicted in Recorder's Court actually went to jail.

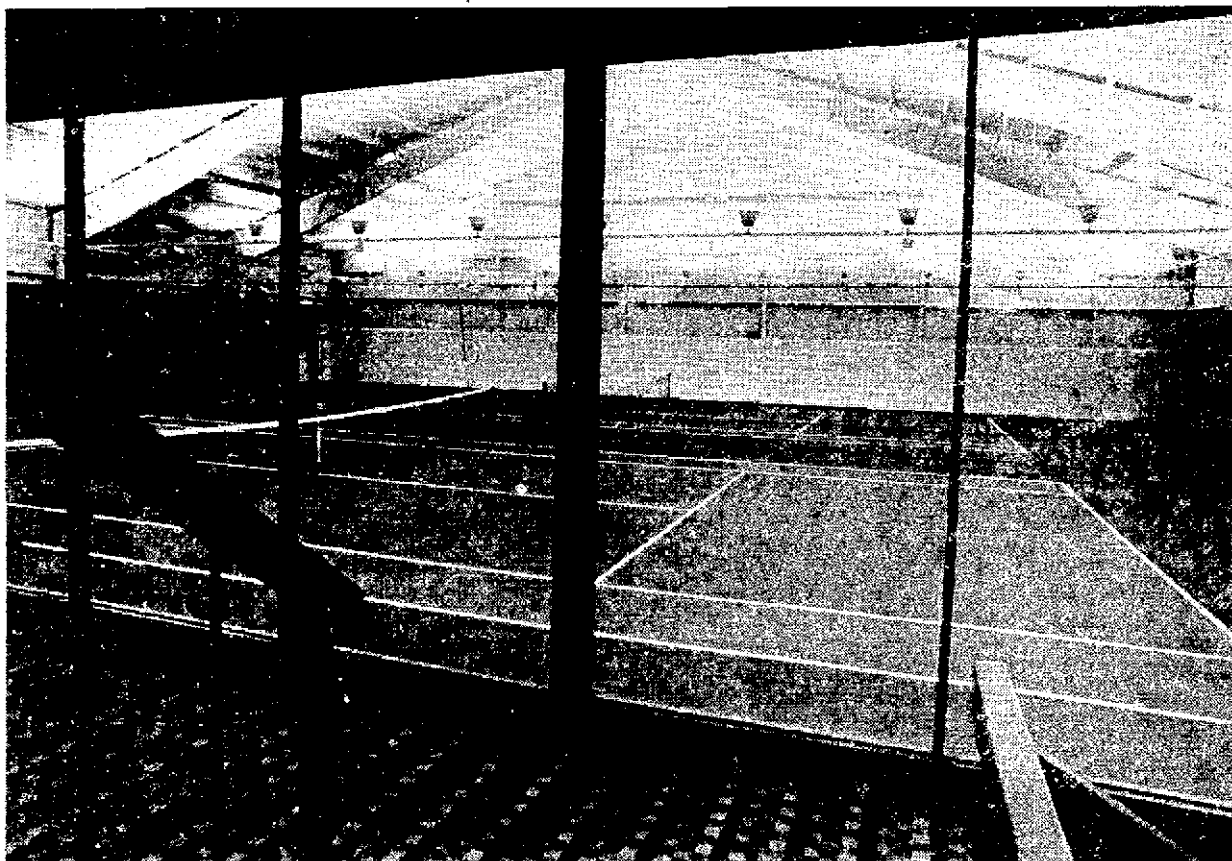

Other state jurisdictions had lower rates, ranging from 35 per cent in Oakland County to 18 per cent in Midland County.

The state figures show a sharp decline since 1970 in the number of felons actually sent to prison after being convicted of burglary, larceny, kidnapping, unarmed robbery and carrying concealed weapons.

The research council study was funded by a grant from the National Bank of Detroit, which is sponsoring a series of public symposiums on Michigan's rising crime rate and the courts' handling of criminals.

bership basis, according to Winston Cham-A-Koon, head pro-manager. He said club opens today with 600 playing members signed up. View is from lounge area. South Shore Racquet club is on 2.8-acre site off Tennis court, a new street reached by Maiden lane in St. Joseph township.

Flying from one continent to another, as most travelers do today, one misses the memorable sight of sea gulls — sometimes hundreds of them — soaring and wheeling above a ship's wake, eagerly swooping down to collect tidbits from the water's surface.

But you don't have to take an ocean voyage or even visit the seashore to catch a glimpse of these graceful creatures in flight. At least four of the 18 species common to the North American continent are nearly as abundant inland as in coastal areas.

So reports decorating consultant Mary Ann Wills, whose special interest was triggered by the introduction of a unique contemporary wall decoration, Three Sea Gulls by a Traverse City firm.

"If you've ever visited Salt Lake City, for example, you may have been surprised to see a pair of sculptured gulls, poised atop an impressive stone column there," Wills noted. "until you heard the story behind the unusual monument."

In 1848, only a year after the Mormons had settled in Utah, their crops were suddenly threatened by great clouds of crickets. But before much damage was done, flocks of gulls settled on the farmlands and devoured the crickets. Thus spared from famine, the Mormons regarded the birds' arrival as a miracle and have protected gulls ever since.

The monument, believed the first ever erected to a bird, was executed by Mahonri M. Young, grandson of the famed Brigham Young, in 1913. And Utah, located 800 miles from the Pacific Ocean, has as its state bird the California Gull.

With its 17-inch body and 52-inch wingspan, the California Gull is easily mistaken for the more common and slightly larger Herring Gull. Both have light grey back plumage with black near the wingtips and white undersides, as do most of the world's 50-odd gull species. Herring Gulls are often seen soaring high overhead like hawks, sounding a call that is loud, clear and bugle-like.

"Herring Gulls also hold the record for long-distance flight," Wills added, "having once accompanied the same vessel all the way from the Irish coast to New York Harbor for a total of 2,560 miles."

The white gulls featured in the firm's new wall design bear a striking resemblance to two species rarely spotted in the United States, the majestic Glaucous Gull and the somewhat smaller Iceland Gull. Both members of the rather exclusive white-winged category, these species inhabit the cold coastal waters of the North Atlantic, though Iceland Gulls have been sighted occasionally on the Great Lakes.

A three-dimensional design that combines the qualities of a plaque with those of a mobile, Three Sea Gulls captures each bird in a different attitude of flight. The "anchor" is a soaring gull with wings outspread, which measures 14 inches up to tip. Attached to it by unobtrusive wires are one gull with wings upraised, a second with wings gracefully arched.

Easy to assemble on a wall, the complete design is approximately 17 inches wide and 12 inches high. It extends some 10 inches from the wall, with two gulls apparently "soaring" into space and even moving slightly with normal air currents.

"Though Jonathan Livingston became something of a fad, the fact is that gulls are highly gregarious — generally living in large colonies on land or at sea," Wills said. "So it's only natural that the firm's designers chose to depict Three Sea Gulls together, and even more fitting that many homemakers are grouping three or more such trios to give the impression of a whole flock."

The three-dimensional wall mobile is a dramatic departure in technique from the firm's popular deep-dimensional plaques that hang flat against the wall. And so is a new Owl Umbrella Stand that is both decorative and practical. A sturdy 9 3/4-inches in diameter and 22 1/2-inches tall, the owl is also good for displaying autumn leaves, dried weed and feather arrangements or a decorator tree. Construction is simulated wood in antique pine finish, complete with unblinking blue eyes.

These and other designs are exactly reproduced from original sculptures in wood. They are widely available in furniture, department and gift stores.

SEA GULLS: Soaring and swooping like their real-life counterparts, Three Sea Gulls add a dramatic touch to the contemporary decorating scene. The three-dimensional design plaque with mobile qualities, is designed by a Traverse City firm. The trio measures about 17 by 12 inches high overall and extends some 10 inches from the wall.

British Bible

Goes Metric

LONDON (AP) — The latest British Bible has gone metric, giving Noah ark-building orders in meters and centimeters instead of cubits and weighing Goliath's armor in kilograms instead of shekels of brass.

The British and Foreign Bible Society said Wednesday the metric measures were used for the new Bible "because we want it to last."

Britain is in the process of converting to the metric system from miles, yards, feet, inches, pounds and ounces.

In the "Good News Bible" to be published Oct. 11, God tells Noah to build the ark "133 meters long, 22 meters wide and 13 meters high ... and leave a space of 44 centimeters between the roof and the sides."

The 400-year-old original English translation from Greek and Hebrew measured the ark at 300 cubits — a cubit being the distance from the elbow to the tip of the middle finger.

For Americans, still hewing to the modern, non-metric English system, the ark would be 436 feet long, 72 wide and 43 high. And Noah would leave a 1-foot, 5-inch space.

The new Bible makes Goliath, giant adversary of the boy David, nearly three meters — 10 feet — tall instead of six cubits and a span (a span being the thumb-to-little finger width of a stretched hand). Goliath's armor now weighs about 57 kilograms — 125 pounds — instead of 5,000 shekels of brass. A shekel was a common ancient unit of measurement.

The new Bible, translated by a panel of eight scholars of the American Bible Society and the United Bible Societies, was launched in 1966 with the New Testament, called "Good News for Modern Man." It has sold 50 million copies worldwide, according to Tom Houston, communications director of the BFBS.

The latest edition adds the Old Testament.

Houston said the American edition converts weights and measures into the non-metric English system, "but we wanted to go one step farther." He said the BFBS sells in almost every language, with nearly three times as many Bibles sold overseas as in Britain and "most of the countries we sell to use the metric system."

Flying from one continent to another, as most travelers do today, one misses the memorable sight of sea gulls — sometimes hundreds of them — soaring and wheeling above a ship's wake, eagerly swooping down to collect tidbits from the water's surface.

But you don't have to take an ocean voyage or even visit the seashore to catch a glimpse of these graceful creatures in flight. At least four of the 18 species common to the North American continent are nearly as abundant inland as in coastal areas.

So reports decorating consultant Mary Ann Wills, whose special interest was triggered by the introduction of a unique contemporary wall decoration, Three Sea Gulls by a Traverse City firm.

"If you've ever visited Salt Lake City, for example, you may have been surprised to see a pair of sculptured gulls, poised atop an impressive stone column there," Wills noted, "until you heard the story behind the unusual monument."

In 1848, only a year after the Mormons had settled in Utah, their crops were suddenly threatened by great clouds of crickets. But before much damage was done, flocks of gulls settled on the farmlands and devoured the crickets. Thus spared from famine, the Mormons regarded the birds' arrival as a miracle and have protected gulls ever since.

The monument, believed the first ever erected to a bird, was executed by Mahonri M. Young, grandson of the famed Brigham Young, in 1913. And Utah, located 800 miles from the Pacific Ocean, has as its state bird the California Gull.

With its 17-inch body and 52-inch wingspan, the California Gull is easily mistaken for the more common and slightly larger Herring Gull. Both have light grey back plumage with black near the wingtips and white undersides, as do most of the world's 50-odd gull species. Herring Gulls are often seen soaring high overhead like hawks, sounding a call that is loud, clear and bugle-like.

"Herring Gulls also hold the record for long-distance flight," Wills added, "having once accompanied the same vessel all the way from the Irish coast to New York Harbor for a total of 2,560 miles."

The white gulls featured in the firm's new wall design bear a striking resemblance to two species rarely spotted in the United States, the majestic Glaucous Gull and the somewhat smaller Iceland Gull. Both members of the rather exclusive white-winged category, these species inhabit the cold coastal waters of the North Atlantic, though Iceland Gulls have been sighted occasionally on the Great Lakes.

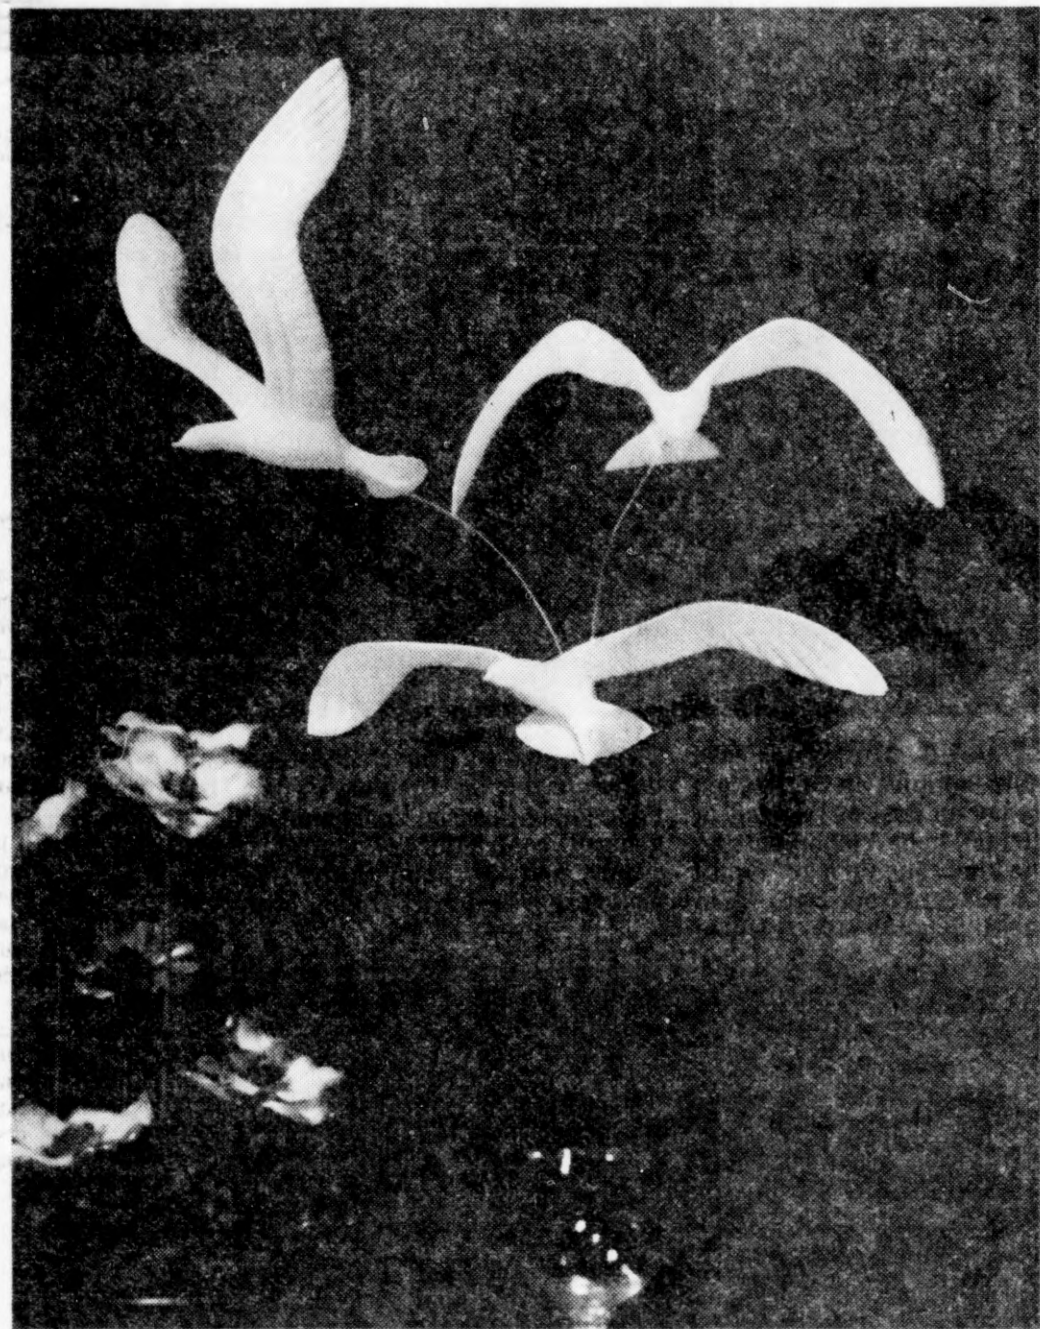

A three-dimensional design that combines the qualities of a plaque with those of a mobile, Three Sea Gulls captures each bird in a different attitude of flight. The "anchor" is a soaring gull with wings outspread, which measures 14 inches tip to tip. Attached to it by unobtrusive wires are one gull with wings upraised, a second with wings gracefully arched.

Easy to assemble on a wall, the complete design is approximately 17 inches wide and 12 inches high. It extends some 10 inches from the wall, with two gulls apparently "soaring" into space and even moving slightly with normal air currents.

"Though Jonathan Livingston became something of a loner, the fact is that gulls are highly gregarious — generally living in large colonies on land or at sea," Wills said. "So it's only natural that the firm's designers chose to depict Three Sea Gulls together, and even more fitting that many homemakers are grouping three or more such trios to give the impression of a whole flock."

The three-dimensional wall mobile is a dramatic departure in technique from the firm's popular deep-dimensional plaques that hang flat against the wall. And so is a new Owl Umbrella Stand that is both decorative and practical. A sturdy 9 1/2-inches in diameter and 22 1/2-inches tall, the owl is also good for displaying autumn leaves, dried weed and feather arrangements or a decorator tree. Construction is simulated wood in antique pine finish, complete with unblinking blue eyes.

These and other designs are exactly reproduced from original sculptures in wood. They are widely available in furniture, department and gift stores.

SEA GULLS: Soaring and swooping like their real-life counterparts, Three Sea Gulls add a dramatic touch to the contemporary decorating scene. The three-dimensional design plaque with mobile qualities, is designed by a Traverse City firm. The trio measures about 17 by 12 inches high overall and extends some 10 inches from the wall.

Tuesday Movies Feature Comedy

Motion picture history will be featured in the showing of two films Tuesday, Oct. 5, at 7:30 p.m. for Family Film Night at Maud Preston Palenske Memorial library, St. Joseph.

"Witches, Goblins and Elves," along with "Racketty Raccoon and Friends," will be featured for the story hour for preschool through second grade children Saturday, Oct. 9, at 11 a.m.

Twin City Players will have costumes, playbills and scripts in the library display case during the month of October.

British Bible Goes Metric

LONDON (AP) — The latest British Bible has gone metric, giving Noah ark-building orders in meters and centimeters instead of cubits and weighing Goliath's armor in kilograms instead of shekels of brass.

The British and Foreign Bible Society said Wednesday the metric measures were used for the new Bible "because we want it to last."

Britain is in the process of converting to the metric system from miles, yards, feet, inches, pounds and ounces.

In the "Good News Bible" to be published Oct. 11, God tells Noah to build the ark "133 meters long, 22 meters wide and 13 meters high ... and leave a space of 44 centimeters between the roof and the sides."

The 400-year-old original English translation from Greek and Hebrew measured the ark at 300 cubits — a cubit being the distance from the elbow to the tip of the middle finger.

For Americans, still hewing to the modern, non-metric English system, the ark would be 438 feet long, 72 wide and 43 high. And Noah would leave a 1-foot, 5-inch space.

The new Bible makes Goliath, giant adversary of the boy David, nearly three meters — 10 feet — tall instead of six cubits and a span (a span being the thumb-to-little finger width of a stretched hand). Goliath's armor now weighs about 57 kilograms — 125 pounds — instead of 5,000 shekels of brass. A shekel was a common ancient unit of measurement.

The new Bible, translated by a panel of eight scholars of the American Bible Society and the United Bible Societies, was launched in 1966 with the New Testament, called "Good News for Modern Man." It has sold 50 million copies worldwide, according to Tom Houston, communications director of the BFBS.

The latest edition adds the Old Testament.

Houston said the American edition converts weights and measures into the non-metric English system, "but we wanted to go one step farther." He said the BFBS sells in almost every language, with nearly three times as many Bibles sold overseas as in Britain and "most of the countries we sell to use the metric system."

No. 259. Zedekiah Sends for Jeremiah

As the Babylonian army went from Jerusalem to engage Pharaoh's army in battle, Jeremiah left to go to the land of Benjamin in order that he might separate himself from the people. However, the sentry stationed at the gate of Benjamin accused Jeremiah of defecting and took the prophet before the princes. The princes had Jeremiah flogged and placed him in the house of Jonathan the scribe, a house which they had converted into a prison.

"When Jeremiah was entered into the dungeon, and into the cabins, and Jeremiah had remained there many days; Then Zedekiah the king sent, and took him out; and the king asked him secretly in his house, and said, Is there any word from the Lord? And Jeremiah said, There is: for, said he, thou shalt be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon." (Jeremiah 37:16-17)

"Moreover, Jeremiah said unto king Zedekiah, What have I offended against thee, or against thy servants, or against this people, that they have put me in prison? Where are now your prophets which prophesied unto you, saying, The King of Babylon shall not come against you, nor against this land?" (Jeremiah 37:18-19)

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Crazy, Mixed-Up Country?

Dear Ann Landers: What kind of a crazy, mixed-up country are we living in anyway? I'm a 15-year-old girl who is so mad I could eat nails.

The Supreme Court has ruled that a minor girl can have an abortion without getting permission from her parents. But, get this, my aunt took me to a doctor to have my ears pierced and he refused to do it because my mother was not present and I had no certified authorization from her saying it was OK!!

I couldn't believe it. But this doctor assured me it's the law and he must abide by it. What do you think of such foolishness? — Mad In California bothered her, too. But there was a war on and we figured we'd better grab what happiness we could. We were married after a whirlwind courtship.

Dear Mad: Malpractice suits in your state are so wild and the insurance coverage so expensive that your physician is taking no chances. No law says a doctor must perform any kind of surgery, so most practitioners will continue to get parental consent for ANY operation. And believe it or not, ear-piercing is considered an operation.

Thirty-five years later, as I glance back at the struggles in our lives, I must say we've had more than our share of happiness. Sitting across the breakfast table looking at the same girl for so many years has been a joy.

Look at it like this, lady. When you are 100, he will be 94. The years have a way of evening up things. For example — I keep getting older and uglier, and my wife keeps getting prettier and more youthful-looking. It's incredible!

Then too, statistics are on your side. You'll have fewer years to be a widow because most husbands die first.

If, perchance, my wife goes before I do, I won't outlive her by very long. I wouldn't want to. So grab him, gal — or you'll both be sorry. — Happy In Texas

Dear Happy: What a joyous letter! What a picker-upper! Thanks for brightening this page.

Kids Wanted

Dear Ann Landers: I was annoyed when I read that letter from the bride-to-be who said no kids under 16 would be allowed at her wedding. She must be out of her mind.

I have a big family. At least 20 of my relatives are under 16 years of age. My sister is having a big wedding in November and the kids are definitely invited. In fact, she says it wouldn't be much of a wedding without them.

Yes, kids do get out of hand at times, but they will behave, if someone will take the time and trouble to discipline them.

I've attended five weddings this past year and there were kids at all of them. They behaved beautifully. Sorry I can't say the same about the adults. Several so-called grown-ups had too much to drink — became loud and obnoxious, grabbed the P.A. system, told stag-party jokes, and pulled some tasteless gags on the groom. The adults came off looking a lot worse than the kids.

So tell that gal who wrote to eat her words, you? — I Know Better

Dear Better: You and about 500 others. The mail ran 20-to-1 in favor of the kids. Surprised? So was I. My readers have convinced me that kids need not ruin a wedding, but — it should be up to the bride to make the final decision as to whether or not they should be invited.

What's prouder? What's O.K.? If you aren't sure, you need some help. It's available in the booklet: "Necking and Petting — What Are the Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Happy Marriage

Dear Ann Landers: This is for the gal, 32, who is reluctant to marry the man, 26.

When I was 18 I met the most beautiful girl I had ever seen. She was 23. The age difference

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Sometimes principles of dummy play seem to conflict. Thus, in general, declarer should defer a problem as long as possible in the hope that he will acquire information or that the problem will just go away.

Acting on this principle, declarer will take dummy's ace of diamonds, play out four rounds of trumps, cash the clubs and then discard two hearts from dummy on the high diamonds before leading a heart to try to guess how to play the suit.

By this time West, with a smidgeon of bridge ability, will know enough to play a low heart. South will have nothing better than a 50 per cent chance to guess right.

An expert South will study the dummy before playing to trick one and see that the time to play hearts is early and not late. He can learn nothing from the opponents. Why let them learn anything from him.

So expert South leads a spade to his ace and puts the eight of hearts on the table. West is caught asleep at the switch. He hesitates and then produces the ace of hearts to give declarer his slam on a silver platter.

Ask the Jacobys

North opens one spade and rebids two hearts over South's two-club response. Is that two-heart bid forcing?

It is not forcing in basic standard American, but it is in all expert circles. It is now taught as forcing in modern standard American. Remember that South has shown at least 10 points by his two-club call.

Dr. Lester Coleman

An important Federal law has been signed by President Ford. It is known as the "Medical Device Law." It is aimed at protecting the consumer against the purchase of expensive hearing aids that finally end up as useless to some people.

The Food and Drug Administration has also been active in the regulation of the sale of hearing aids. Their new regulations, a part of the Medical Devices Law, require that patients must have a medical examination before dealers can sell them hearing aids.

The new rules will require the buyer to present a written statement by a doctor, preferably one who specializes in hearing disorders. This will state that the patient has had a medical examination within the past six months and that no medical reasons exist for denying this purchase.

The patients may, if they want to, waive that legal requirement. If they do, they take on the responsibility for their value.

The Food and Drug Administration has set down very specific standards that should never be waived by the purchaser. This specifies against the buying of a hearing aid in the presence of acute medical problems that need medical attention.

Hearing aid dealers are becoming more and more responsible in the needs of their clients. They are departing from the standard selling and overselling attitudes of high-pressure salesmanship.

They have learned that the dissatisfied purchaser of a functionless hearing aid goes on a campaign of spreading the word against them.

Now, with the new regulations, each satisfied purchaser of a hearing aid becomes an enthusiastic "salesman."

The new law also affects all other medical devices. Prosthetic appliances of limbs, wheel chairs, intra-ocular lenses used in surgery, contact lenses and all other rehabilitative devices will be involved.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH...

Investment in good foot care is not a luxury. It is a necessity. Homemade devices and home "surgery," can be treacherous.

Clean Fans, Then Store

Now that cooler weather is here, fans move into storage. Before putting them away, wipe accumulated dust and soot from the blades with paper towels or a clean cloth. Then, wash carefully with a sponge wrung out of detergent or soap suds. Rinse, dry thoroughly and wrap fan in a paper or plastic bag.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Crazy, Mixed-Up Country?

Dear Ann Landers: What kind of a crazy, mixed-up country are we living in anyway? I'm a 15-year-old girl who is so mad I could eat nails.

The Supreme Court has ruled that a minor girl can have an abortion without getting permission from her parents. But, get this, my aunt took me to a doctor to have my ears pierced and he refused to do it because my mother was not present and I had no certified authorization from her saying it was OK!!

I couldn't believe it. But the doctor assured me it's the law and he must abide by it. What do you think of such foolishness? — Mad In California

Dear Mad: Malpractice suits in your state are so wild and the insurance coverage so expensive that your physician is taking no chances. No law says a doctor must perform any kind of surgery, so most practitioners will continue to get parental consent for ANY operation. And believe it or not, ear-piercing is considered an operation.

Happy Marriage

Dear Ann Landers: This is for the gal, 32, who is reluctant to marry the man, 26.

When I was 18 I met the most beautiful girl I had ever seen. She was 23. The age difference bothered her, too. But there was a war on and we figured we'd better grab what happiness we could. We were married after a whirlwind courtship.

Thirty-five years later, as I glance back at the struggles in our lives, I must say we've had more than our share of happiness. Sitting across the breakfast table looking at the same girl for so many years has been a joy.

Look at it like this, lady. When you are 100, he will be 94. The years have a way of evening up things. For example — I keep getting older and uglier, and my wife keeps getting prettier and more youthful-looking. It's incredible!

Then too, statistics are on your side. You'll have fewer years to be a widow because most husbands die first.

If, perchance, my wife goes before I do, I won't outlive her by very long. I wouldn't want to. So grab him, gal — or you'll both be sorry. — Happy In Texas

Dear Happy: What a joyous letter! What a picker-upper! Thanks for brightening this page.

Kids Wanted

Dear Ann Landers: I was annoyed when I read that letter from the bride-to-be who said no kids under 16 would be allowed at her wedding. She must be out of her mind.

I have a big family. At least 20 of my relatives are under 16 years of age. My sister is having a big wedding in November and the kids are definitely invited. In fact, she says it wouldn't be much of a wedding without them.

Yes, kids do get out of hand at times, but they will behave, if someone will take the time and trouble to discipline them.

I've attended five weddings this past year and there were kids at all of them. They behaved beautifully. Sorry I can't say the same about the adults. Several so-called grown-ups had too much to drink — became loud and obnoxious, grabbed the P.A. system, told stag-party jokes, and pulled some tasteless gags on the groom. The adults came off looking a lot worse than the kids.

So tell that gal who wrote to eat her words, will you? — I Know Better

Dear Better: You and about 500 others. The mail ran 20-to-1 in favor of the kids. Surprised? So was I. My readers have convinced me that kids need not ruin a wedding, but — it should be up to the bride to make the final decision as to whether or not they should be invited.

What's prudish? What's O.K.? If you aren't sure, you need some help. It's available in the booklet: "Necking and Petting — What Are the Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hopes Brighten For Ford Strike Settlement

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Prospects for a weekend contract settlement appeared bright today as bargainers prepared to bring a 17-day-old nationwide strike against Ford Motor Co. to a rapid close.

"It (a settlement) could be done by Sunday," a United Auto Workers source said Friday, after negotiators held their first late-night session since 170,000 workers in 22 states walked off their jobs on Sept. 15.

"There has been some good, solid progress, and the major pieces could fall quickly into place," the union source said. Company chairman Henry Ford II was spending the night in a bedroom adjoining his office at world headquarters in suburban Dearborn, site of the bargaining, a company source said.

"We were told he was going to Europe if things looked bad but would stay overnight if the chances for a settlement were good," said the source, adding that Ford sleeps in the building about twice a year. The source said several other top Ford officials were sleeping in corporate bedrooms overnight.

"Our people have said all along that once they sniffed a settlement, it could come together very quickly," said another company source. "I think that is where they are now."

Top bargainers for the union and nation's No. 2 automaker met sporadically from Friday morning until after 9 p.m., sources said.

Negotiations on a new three-year pact which will set the industry pattern for accords covering a total of 700,000 auto workers were to resume this morning.

Union sources cautioned that despite continued strides toward a settlement, there still were several unresolved issues which would ruin renewed hopes for a weekend agreement.

Triggering the coast-to-coast walkout, the first against Ford since 1967, were disputes over wages, layoff and health care benefits, pensions and a key union demand for more paid days off each year.

Friday's intensive bargaining contrasted sharply with slow-paced discussions earlier in the week.

A stern-faced UAW Vice President Ken Bannon, head of the union's Ford department, had complained all week that the talks were moving "very slowly," although some minor progress was being accomplished.

On Friday, however, Bannon declined to comment on the talks. "We're trying," he said terribly during a dinner break when asked if there was any progress. "I'd rather not say anything else."

Traditionally, when two sides are close to a settlement, they begin a news blackout and enter marathon bargaining.

Until Friday, union sources had expressed little optimism about the prospects for a settlement before next week, although they would not rule out the possibility.

By contrast, company sources have expressed confidence since the strike began that an agreement would be forged soon.

Meanwhile, the UAW and Deere & Co. were to resume contract talks today in Moline, Ill., in an effort to end a strike by some 27,000 workers in six states.

FIRST LADY T-SHIRT: First Lady Betty Ford holds up a T-shirt with "First Mama" on it during tour of new Children's Museum in Indianapolis Friday. Mrs. Ford walked through the largest museum of its kind for two hours and attended a neighborhood party afterwards. The children gave her the shirt at the party. (AP Wirephoto)

Hopes Brighten For Ford Strike Settlement

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Prospects for a weekend contract settlement appeared bright today as bargainers prepared to resume intensified efforts to bring a 17-day-old nationwide strike against Ford Motor Co. to a rapid close.

"It (a settlement) could be done by Sunday," a United Auto Workers source said Friday, after negotiators held their first late-night session since 170,000 workers in 22 states walked off their jobs on Sept. 15.

"There has been some good, solid progress, and the major pieces could fall quickly into place," the union source said.

Company chairman Henry Ford II was spending the night in a bedroom adjoining his office at world headquarters in suburban Dearborn, site of the bargaining, a company source said.

"We were told he was going to Europe if things looked bad but would stay overnight if the chances for a settlement were good," said the source, adding that Ford sleeps in the building about twice a year. The source said several other top Ford officials were sleeping in corporate bedrooms overnight.

"Our people have said all along that once they sniffed a settlement, it could come together very quickly," said another company source. "I think that is where they are now."

Top bargainers for the union and nation's No. 2 automaker met sporadically from Friday morning until after 9 p.m., sources said.

Negotiations on a new three-year pact which will set the industry pattern for accords covering a total of 700,000 auto workers were to resume this morning.

Union sources cautioned that despite continued strides toward a settlement, there still were several unresolved issues which would ruin renewed hopes for a weekend agreement.

Triggering the coast-to-coast walkout, the first against Ford since 1967, were disputes over wages, layoff and health care benefits, pensions and a key union demand for more paid days off each year.

Friday's intensive bargaining contrasted sharply with slow-paced discussions earlier in the week.

A stern-faced UAW Vice President Ken Bannon, head of the union's Ford department, had complained all week that the talks were moving "very slowly," although some minor progress was being accomplished.

On Friday, however, Bannon declined to comment on the talks. "We're trying," he said tensely during a dinner break when asked if there was any progress. "I'd rather not say anything else."

Traditionally, when two sides are close to a settlement, they begin a news blackout and enter marathon bargaining.

Until Friday, union sources had expressed little optimism about the prospects for a settlement before next week, although they would not rule out the possibility.

By contrast, company sources have expressed confidence since the strike began that an agreement would be forged soon.

Meanwhile, the UAW and Deere & Co. were to resume contract talks today in Moline, Ill., in an effort to end a strike by some 27,000 workers in six states.

Prosecutor Will Publicly Clear Ford Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate special prosecutor will publicly clear President Ford next week and close his investigation of campaign financing in Ford's home county without any prosecutions, sources familiar with the probe say.

The disclosure came Friday night as Ford headed into a weekend of reduced office work so he can prepare for his second debate with Democrat Jimmy Carter and for a six-day campaign swing into three Western states. The trip will be Ford's third campaign tour since his nomination in August.

The special prosecutor's investigation has cast a cloud over the Ford campaign for two weeks since word of it first appeared in news stories. Carter and his running mate Walter Mondale had taken public notice of the probe, and Carter challenged Ford to answer reporters' questions about it this week.

Ford told a hastily convened news conference a day later that

Flint Policewoman Wins Reinstatement

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — Madeline Fletcher, the black policewoman who was found innocent of criminal charges in the shooting of her white male partner, is being reinstated by the Flint police department.

Miss Fletcher, 21, was fined 60 days' pay as a disciplinary measure for shooting Patrolman Walt Kalberer, 35, last Dec. 27 during an argument over who was going to drive their patrol car. She will return to work Oct. 11 and will receive some $7,500 in back pay. Kalberer, who was wounded in the left thigh in the gun fight, was given a five-day suspension.

Miss Fletcher, wounded in the abdomen in that shootout, contended at her trial on assault charges that she was a victim of sex and race discrimination by the police department.

Recently-appointed Flint Police Chief Max Durbin, who ordered the sentences and the reinstatement, said Miss Fletcher was receiving the most severe penalty because she was "by far more guilty of infraction after infraction." Her attorney, Kenneth Cockrel of Detroit, said he planned to appeal the 60-day fine.

Boy, 10, Escapes From His Kidnaper

GROSSE POINTE FARMS, Mich. (AP) — A 10-year-old boy is safe at home with his parents after escaping from a man who kidnapped him on his way home from school Friday, police said.

Grosse Pointe Farms police said Scott Miller was walking home from the Gabriel Richard school in the morning when a man driving a car pulled alongside him and told the boy his father had been hurt in an accident. The stranger said he would take the boy to the hospital.

Miller was taken to a home in northeast Detroit where he was bound by the wrists and shoved inside a car trunk. Later, police said, the kidnapper took the child to the basement where he was tied to a wall support.

Maneuver Kills ERDA Fund Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $7 billion authorization bill for Energy Research and Development Administration programs was killed in the Senate early today because of a parliamentary move by Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska.

Gravel demanded that the entire 62-page conference report be read as the Senate was ready for adjournment after a 17-hour final session.

Milliken 'Irrational' To Delay Decision On Project Seafarer

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP) — State House Speaker Bobby Crim has accused Gov. William Milliken of being "irrational" in delaying a decision about Project Seafarer. And the Davison Democrat said Friday he feels the governor will probably agree to the establishment of a huge underground communications grid in the Upper Peninsula despite overwhelming local opposition.

Public sentiment reflected through public referenda in the counties involved in the Seafarer network is overwhelmingly opposed to the project, said Crim, who campaigned for Bill Gregory, a House candidate in the 104th district.

"I don't know what other kind of sampling he (Milliken) wants to do," Crim said. "Why do we have to build it in Michigan?" he asked rhetorically in an interview. "I think the governor's being irrational on this one," he added. "I don't know what kind of deal there's been with the administration in Washington, but I've had the feeling time and time again over the last few weeks that Seafarer is pretty much set for Michigan no matter what the people say."

he was confident the prosecutor would find nothing amiss in his 1972 congressional race in Kent County, Mich. Carter said he'd take Ford's word.

But Watergate prosecutor Charles Ruff remained silent about the probe that focused on contributions to Ford by two maritime unions and reportedly sought to determine whether any money was converted to Ford's personal use.

Then Friday night, a Justice Department source said Ruff had found no basis for criminal charges against Ford or anyone else and will say so in a public report early next week.

A source in the FBI added that the FBI has completed its investigation for Ruff and also found no basis for prosecuting anyone.

The FBI source said the original allegation made by an FBI informant was found to be without substance. "I don't think anybody missed anything" in the investigation, this source said.

The FBI informant's allegations were referred by top Justice Department officials to the special prosecutor. The FBI source said the informant's tip prompted a full investigation because "if you don't take a look at it in today's climate, that's a cover-up."

Aides to Carter say he accepted corporate hospitality as governor of Georgia.

Carter was to campaign in Washington today as he headed back toward Georgia after a swing through the Northeast, and President Ford was preparing to launch a major trip to the West that will include next week's debate in San Francisco.

Carter and his aides said Friday that when the Democratic nominee was Georgia governor he twice stayed at corporate lodges.

Carter celebrated his 52nd birthday Friday and he started the day in Maine, campaigned south to Tennessee and stayed overnight in Pittsburgh.

He acknowledged that he and his family twice were the guests of the Brunswick Pulp and Paper Co. at the corporation's lodge in the southeastern part of Georgia.

A Carter spokeswoman, Betty Rainwater, said the weekend outings at the Brunswick lodge were publicized when the Carter family took them. She noted that Carter was sponsoring new environmental legislation affecting companies such as Brunswick.

Brown: Right-To-Die Law Faces Death Realistically

By BOB EGELKO Associated Press Writer

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. says the nation's first "right-to-die" law is an attempt to face death realistically and to end the tyranny of machinery over human lives.

But a member of a "pro-life" group says Brown's decision to sign the measure was "a tragic mistake for the future of helpless patients and his own political future."

The law, effective Jan. 1, allows doctors to remove life-support equipment from a dying patient who has authorized it in advance, without fear of prosecution or lawsuit.

The Democratic governor met with reporters in his office Friday to explain his approval of the measure only minutes before the Thursday midnight deadline.

"There is no moral principle that requires extraordinary means or artificial devices to prolong life beyond its natural end," said Brown, a former Jesuit seminarian.

"In this country we have often been afraid and unwilling to face death. This bill recognizes birth and death and not making humans slaves to a machine."

Dr. Philip Dreisbach of a group called Concerned Physicians and Attorneys Against Euthanasia said, "This is the act that all euthanasia groups in the United States and Europe have been waiting for."

"Gov. Brown will now be known as the first American governor to point us toward legalized medical homicide and suicide," Brown, however, said the bill specifically repudiated euthanasia.

The California Medical Association, representing most doctors in the state, backed the bill. Its president-elect, Dr. Kash Rose, said he and his wife would sign the "living will" the measure authorizes.

The author of the bill, Assemblyman Barry Keene, D-Eureka, also said he would sign one.

The living will must be renewed every five years to remain valid. It can be acted on only after two doctors certify a patient hopelessly ill, with death imminent no matter what treatment is used.

Because she had not signed any such document before lapsing in a coma from an overdose of tranquilizers and liquor, Karen Anne Quinlan, the young New Jersey woman whose case partly inspired the measure, would not have been affected by it.

Tall Ship Antes Up The Cash

MENOMINEE, Mich. (AP) — The tall ship Erawan, stranded because of unpaid pilot fees, will set sail Monday after being stuck in this Great Lakes port for a month.

The Erawan arrived in the United States July 4 to participate in the American bicentennial parade of tall ships in New York harbor.

After the celebration, the Erawan came to the Great Lakes but its expenses outstripped available funds and the captain was unable to pay a Great Lakes pilot, who abandoned the ship under orders from his superiors.

Capt. Philippe Esnos, 29, returned from Paris Thursday night bearing $15,000 demanded by the Upper Great Lakes Pilots Corp. before the Erawan could escape its month-long incarceration.

"What more can I say?" asked Capt. Esnos, part-owner of the ship along with other French partners. "We have made a very big mistake to come in these lakes."

NAACP Gets Week Reprieve On Bond

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The NAACP and 128 individual defendants have won a week's postponement of the deadline for posting a $1.56 million bond that organized labor says it will help the organization pay.

Attorneys for the NAACP were granted a temporary restraining order in federal court Friday in their efforts to appeal a $1.2 million damage judgment in a racial boycott case.

The NAACP, however, lost its attempt to reduce the required bond of 125 per cent of the judgment for an appeal to be made. The Mississippi Supreme Court said it could not change the statute setting the amount of the bond.

The NAACP has raised less than half the needed bond money through its own fund raising efforts and the AFL-CIO said Friday it would help provide the rest.

The suit grew out of a 1960s black boycott of white merchants in the Claiborne County seat of Port Gibson, 60 miles southwest of Jackson. The merchants charged they were the victims of an illegal secondary boycott because the black grievances were with local government and not the stores.

After almost three years of testimony and proceedings in Hinds County Chancery Court here, Chancellor George Haynes held the defendants were guilty and liable for $1.2 million in damages.

Haynes refused Thursday to reduce bond on grounds the law required defendants to post 125 per cent of the judgment. The defendants appealed this ruling to Mississippi Supreme Court Justice William Inzer on Friday, but he also upheld it.

David Seth Michaels of Jackson, representing the defendants before Inzer, said the urgency of the situation had been relieved when Judge Orma Smith issued a temporary federal district court order at Oxford to delay collection of the judgment.

Smith set a hearing on the matter for Oct. 7 in Oxford.

In New York, the NAACP said it had raised $763,000 toward the appeal bond and organized labor had guaranteed the other $800,000. The guarantee came from the AFL-CIO and the United Auto Workers.

Michaels said the defendants believed they would win on appeal because the secondary boycott law is an unconstitutional invasion of free speech.

Dixon Pyles of Jackson, attorney for the merchants, opposed the request for a bond reduction.

"I don't like the way the courts are coddling these people (NAACP)," Pyles said. They have made a shambles of every court I've been in. I don't like being dragged around."

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $7 billion authorization bill for Energy Research and Development Administration programs was killed in the Senate early today because of a parliamentary move by Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska.

Gravel demanded that the entire 82-page conference report be read as the Senate was ready for adjournment after a 17-hour final session.

Milliken 'Irrational' To Delay Decision On Project Seafarer

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP) — State House Speaker Bobby Crim has accused Gov. William Milliken of being "irrational" in delaying a decision about Project Seafarer. And the Davison Democrat said Friday he feels the governor will probably agree to the establishment of a huge underground communications grid in the Upper Peninsula despite overwhelming local opposition.

Public sentiment reflected through public referenda in the counties involved in the Seafarer network is overwhelmingly opposed to the project, said Crim, who campaigned for Bill Gregory, a House candidate in the 104th district.

"I don't know what other kind of sampling he (Milliken) wants to do," Crim said. "Why do we have to build it in Michigan?" he asked rhetorically in an interview. "I think the governor's being irrational on this one," he added. "I don't know what kind of deal there's been with the administration in Washington, but I've had the feeling time and time again over the last few weeks that Seafarer is pretty much set for Michigan no matter what the people say."

Sodus Firemen Battle 2 Blazes

SODUS — Sodus township firemen battled fires that caused extensive damage to two vacant buildings last night and early this morning. Calvin (Cal) Bennett, fire chief, said arson is suspected in a fire that destroyed a vacant house in the 2800 block of Burkett street, south of Townline road. No damage estimate has been made, he said.

The one-story frame structure was engulfed in flames when firemen arrived shortly before midnight, Bennett said.

Owner of the structure was identified as Kenneth Watkins, rural Cassopolis, Bennett said.

In the second fire, reported shortly before 5 a.m. today, Bennett said a two-apartment building, located on Pipestone road at River road, was extensively damaged by fire.

The blaze, reported over a citizens band radio by a passing motorist, had broken through the roof of the two-story structure by the time firemen arrived, Bennett said.

Bennett said cause of the second fire has not been determined. No exact damage estimate has been made, but Bennett said the amount will exceed $15,000 to $20,000.

Owner of the structure, a converted house, has not been determined, Bennett said.

There were no injuries in either fire, Bennett said.

Edison Customer Surcharge

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A monthly surcharge on electric bills of Detroit Edison Co. customers has been ordered by the state Public Service Commission. The surcharge, about 41 cents a month for average residential customers for a year, will take effect immediately. The surcharge will enable Detroit Edison to collect some $23.5 million that the company said was owed them by customers for fuel costs in December 1974 and January 1975. The PSC originally denied the company's request for the surcharge, but Ingham County Circuit Court Judge James Kallman overruled the PSC denial in August and ordered the commission to grant the request.

Teenager Tackles City Hall

SAUSALITO, Calif. (AP) — Jon Gergus, 15, is a law-abiding citizen, so he stopped riding his skateboard illegally until he changed the law. Eight months ago, as he was zipping down the street on the way to his part-time job at City Hall, he was curbed by a policeman. "He told me I couldn't skateboard any more because it's against the law in Sausalito," Jon said. Apparently the law had been on the books for 10 years or so but no one had bothered to enforce it until the recent renaissance of sidewalk surfing. "That's kind of dumb," thought Jon. So the high school sophomore wrote a letter to the City Council. And he riled up a few of his friends enough to sit through half a dozen City Council meetings, waiting for their chance at the microphone. "I told them that skateboards really weren't that much more dangerous than other things, like roller skating and little kids on bicycles, and it was unfair just to ban skateboards," he said. The City Council voted 3-2 to let the skateboards back into town, at least in residential areas. They'll still be banned from crowded business areas.

Ralph Lhotka is glad he took the advice of the Crime Prevention unit of the Benton Harbor police department and marked valuables with identification numbers.

He's $135 glad. That's the value of his son's bike which was stolen, recovered by police and traced to Lhotka because his driver's license number was on the bike.

"We didn't get back quite the same bike because the thief had removed some parts and replaced them with others that are in good condition," Lhotka said.

"I had marked various parts of the bike with my driver's license number. When the bike came back, the number on the frame was still there, but other parts had no numbers."

Lhotka, 44 Division street, a former city commissioner, said he learned of Operation Identification through his block club. "I used my own vibrator to put my driver's license number on just about everything. If it weren't for the driver's license, the bike would have never been returned because the thief had ripped off the city license tag."

Operation Identification is sponsored by the Crime Prevention unit and Association of Independent Insurance Agents. Det. Lt. Alfred Edwards said the police department has markers to loan.

He said property should be marked with a driver's license number because that can be tracked quickly.

The Crime Prevention unit promotes Operation Identification through block clubs, but people who are not members also are invited to use it, Edwards said.

AREA POLICE ROUNDUP

Officer Says He's Foiled In Grabbing 2 Suspects

Benton Harbor police said two people were stabbed on a street corner last night but the assailants escaped from an officer at the scene when a man not involved with the stabbings allegedly interfered.

The stabbings were reported at 7:20 p.m. and occurred at Fifth street and Territorial road.

Treated and released from Mercy hospital were Vivian Joiner, 46, of 992 East Empire, Benton Harbor, and Lloyd Griffin, 55, of 2834 Hillendale road, Sodus township.

Booked on charges of assaulting a police officer and obstructing an officer in his duties was Lewis King Jr., 44, of 979 North Euclid avenue, Benton township.

Patrolman Arthur Bell gave this account:
Griffin was stabbed by one of two women wielding a butcher knife, after a brief altercation. Vivian Joiner happened by with her two sons, ages 13 and 14, and yelled at the women, "You shouldn't have done that." The second woman took the knife and stabbed Mrs. Joiner about the head and shoulders. Her sons were not reported hurt.

Bell said officers had been called and arrived in time to apprehend two women suspects. A man then walked up and attempted to hit one of the women. Bell said he grabbed the man and a scuffle occurred, with the two women disappearing in the process. Bell reported he was struck during the scuffle.

A 21-year-old Benton Harbor woman told city police she was raped Friday afternoon by two men who forced her to undress at gunpoint in a room of Colfax Inn, 163 Colfax avenue.

She told police of visiting a friend in a home and commenting about the need of buying another auto, when one of two men also present said he had a 1968 Chevrolet for sale. Police said the woman reported she went to the hotel with the men after being told the title of the car was in a room. The victim was examined and released from Mercy hospital. Police were called at 4:58 p.m.

State police at the Benton Harbor post said Simp Robinson Jr., 38, East St. Louis, Ill., was booked on a charge of violating the controlled substance act after troopers stopped an auto on eastbound I-94 in Benton township about 12:25 p.m. Friday. The post said three suspected marijuana cigarettes were seized. The auto was reported stopped because license plates were wired on and a dangling ornament was fastened to the rear view mirror.

Berrien sheriff's officers Friday investigated the reported theft of $277 in cash during a burglary at Brookwood golf course clubhouse, 1339 Ryneason road, Buchanan.

Obscene words were found sprayed on two walls of the recreation building at Kiwanis park in St. Joseph Friday, reported city police. The walls will have to be sandblasted to remove the substance because it is sticky, police said.

Vets Get Pension Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two plans providing cost-of-living increases in pensions and disability payments for five million veterans and their survivors have been enacted.

Members of Congress and representatives of veterans groups were on hand this week as President Ford signed the bills before a crowded East Room audience.

One bill makes permanent an 8 per cent increase in benefits for 2.25 million veterans and their families that was first granted last January. It had been due to expire Thursday. The renewal also provides a new increase in benefits of 7 per cent.

The second measure offers an 8 per cent cost-of-living increase in monthly pension benefit rates to more than two million veterans with service-connected disabilities. The same increase goes to surviving spouses and children of veterans whose deaths were service-connected.

The two measures are estimated to cost some $832 million for fiscal 1977.

Handy Handbook Helps

Restore Those Antiques

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newfeatures

Tag sale enthusiasts are beginning to take a long look at some of the great buys they made during the height of the summer season when such events take on the competitive glamour of bargain basement sales.

Never mind the handsome bird cage that needs a bird — what to do about the chipped pitcher, the cabinet without a key, the damaged papier mache tilt top table?

In an unusual approach to such repairs, authority George Grotz passes on many trade secrets in "The Antique Restorers Handbook." Directions are not pat for amateurs — some may need to be reread several times before proceeding — but he tells it like it is. Best of all, he tells where some of the magic mending materials may be obtained.

For example, a locked drawer in a cabinet might be reached by removing the dust boards from the the back of the case and prying out the back of the drawer so the lock can be reached. That is a good professional tip which might not readily occur to the amateur restorer.

As for repairing ceramics, it is for "the kind of people who like to wear close-up magnifying glasses, even a jeweler's glass and work slowly and painstakingly." It isn't to be sloughed off in a quick operation, but he tells how to do it.

For cleaning old prints, etchings and other printed matter, there are a number of techniques that might be used to remove various stains.

In providing directions for restoring furniture finishes,

Grotz gets away from the traditional seven coats of shellac, seven sandings method. After cleaning the old finish by scrubbing the surface with a wet cloth and wiping it dry, douse it with mineral spirits with a rag to remove any wax or oil. Wipe it dry (hard) with paper towels. Repeat process twice, getting into carvings with an old toothbrush. (A crazed surface should be treated with a nailbrush used over the entire surface.) Dry the piece for five minutes before trying to refinish it.

It is possible to reamalgamate because for 200 years, until 1900, shellac was used on all furniture, he maintains.

Mix a cup of denatured alcohol in a bowl, add once ounce of lacquer thinner and brush it lightly on the wood with a clean brush. The shellac dissolves as you brush it on as if you were brushing on fresh shellac. Dry finish overnight in dry room (avoid dampness). The following day, polish the piece to smoothness with steel wool, wax it with paste wax. If the old shellac has been brushed too thin in some areas, spray a coat of clear dull lacquer over it or, after buffing with steel wool, apply a coat of varnish over the shellac.

Professionals use padding lacquer when they reamalgamate, he insists, because it is faster. They apply it with a three-inch square of padding (15 or 20 layers of cotton sheeting) which is rubbed hard over the surface as the pad is wetted with lacquer. That technique takes special skills and special lacquer.

"The Antique Restorers Handbook" is published by Doubleday.)

Has Energy

To Spare

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — Missouri has energy to spare — about 10,000 years worth.

In 1975, 85 per cent of the state's electric power came from coal (compared to 45 per cent for the U.S. average) and by 1978 nearly 90 per cent of the state's energy will be produced from a slice of the 6-billion tons of recoverable reserves in the state. It will take an estimated 10,000 years to deplete at current rates.

MICE OR MEN

The first frost of the year signaled the mice to begin moving into their quarters. If this choice happens to be your garage, attic, basement, or walls, the war is on! Get an early start by buying three or four mouse traps and placing them around in areas where droppings are found or are known to be runways from past years.

Trapping is preferable to poison bait early because sometimes the mice die in walls or other inaccessible places and cause an offensive odor. Go to the bait if trapping does not get the job done. Outside, you should remove tall grass from around foundations and tree trunks to discourage nesting.

SQUIRRELS, TOO

If squirrels cause a problem in the attic and walls, the situation is a bit different than mice. To drive animals out of attics, sprinkle 5-10 pounds of naphthalene flakes, moth balls, or paradichloro benzene around the area they are using. When they are out, block the entrance with hardware cloth (wire mesh) or other material. If this fails, consider putting a cat up in the attic for a short time. Squirrels can be kept out of isolated trees by placing a two-foot wide band of metal six feet off the ground. Overhanging branches within six feet of the ground or roof line should be trimmed.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newfeature

Q. — I recently started a workshop in the utility room of our house and began to fix our house and began to fix things myself that I would not have dared to try a few months ago. While I have bought a number of do-it-yourself books, I find myself constantly confused by the terms that are used. One example is in the matter of wood and sheet metal screws. Is there some easy way to tell the difference between them?

A. — Yes. Sheet metal screws are threaded right up to the head. Wood screws are threaded only about two-thirds of the way.

Q. — Four years ago I put up gypsum board walls in our attic. Everything came out fine, better than I expected, except that now I notice some of the nails have started to pop. A neighbor has shown me how to correct the condition, but what he didn't know was how to prevent the trouble in the first place. I am especially concerned because I soon expect to do a similar job in our garage.

A. — I got this advice from a professional contractor: Simply hammer in two nails next to each other at every spot where you ordinarily would use one nail.

Q. — I bought some plywood in a local lumber yard and made three cabinets with it. I used a stain on the plywood. Some parts of the grain came out very dark, some very light. My wife and I have decided to leave it as it is, since the effect isn't entirely displeasing. However, I have been wondering what would happen if I had a similar project in the future and wanted to get an even stain. What did I do wrong?

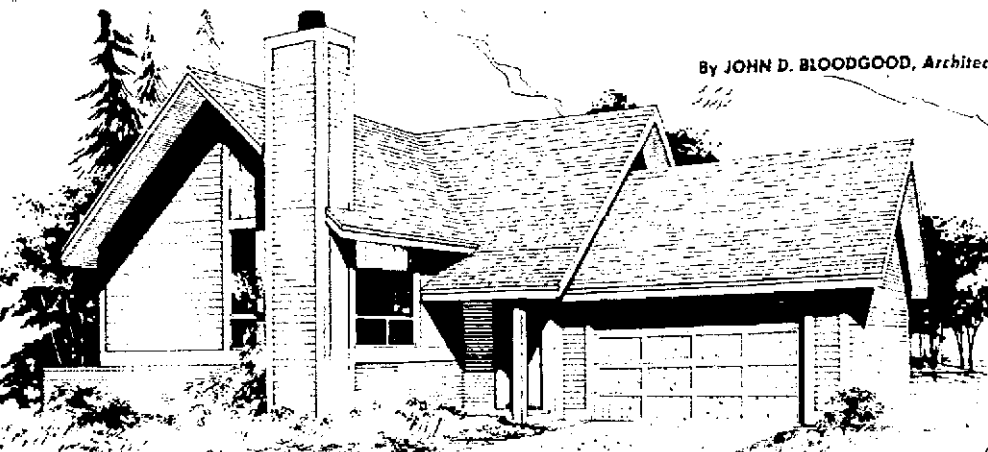

A. — Nothing. It is likely that you bought fir plywood, which is the kind you usually get in a lumber yard when you do not specify what the face of the wood should be. Fir plywood usually is the least expensive of the plywoods and is very strong, but there is a wide variation of the summer and winter wood of the growth rings. When the wood is stained, the soft portions absorb more of the stain and come out considerably darker than the hard portions, resulting in a contrasting grain pattern. To alleviate this condition, manufacturers have put out sealers made especially for fir. When the clear sealer is applied, it enables the stain to take more evenly. There is a white sealer of the same type which is used when the final finish is to be paint rather than a transparent coating.

Q. — We need some extensive work done on our house and plan to get a Federal Housing Administration loan, the kind called Title I. Will the FHA guarantee the quality of the workmanship and the materials?

A. — No. What it does is to insure the lender that he will get his money if you default. Therefore, take as much time and trouble to get a good contractor as you should even if the FHA were not in the picture. The best recommendation is one which comes from a previous customer.

A HOME THAT'S EXPANDABLE

HOUSE DESIGN 7639: This split-level home is great for starters. The main level provides everything a young couple needs. Note the extra roomy dining area in the kitchen; master bedroom with spacious walk-in closet and easy access to the main bath; den that can become a nursery for the first baby, revert back to a den as the family grows and the lower level is finished to provide three more bedrooms, a laundry area, second bath and a recreation room with a corner fireplace. Storage space is excellent throughout this home. Outside, the garage lends importance to porch-protected entry and brings pleasing balance to roof line.

STORAGE WALL PLAN: Organize a bedroom with built-in wall that has "his" and "her" wardrobes plus two sections with drawers. Overhead cabinets stow out-of-season clothing. Center shelves over cabinet can be adapted; if wall has window, place the cabinet under the sill.

Handy Handbook Helps

Restore Those Antiques

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

Tag sale enthusiasts are beginning to take a long look at some of the great buys they made during the height of the summer season when such events take on the competitive glamor of bargain basement sales.

Never mind the handsome bird cage that needs a bird — what to do about the chipped pitcher, the cabinet without a key, the damaged papier mache tilt top table?

In an unusual approach to such repairs, authority George Grotz passes on many trade secrets in "The Antique Restorers Handbook." Directions are not pat for amateurs — some may need to be reread several times before proceeding — but he tells it like it is. Best of all, he tells where some of the magic mending materials may be obtained.

For example, a locked drawer in a cabinet might be reached by removing the dust boards from the the back of the case and prying out the back of the drawer so the lock can be reached. That is a good professional tip which might not readily occur to the amateur refinisher.

As for repairing ceramics, it is for "the kind of people who like to wear close-up magnifying glasses, even a jeweler's glass and work slowly and painstakingly." It isn't to be sloughed off in a quick operation, but he tells how to do it.

For cleaning old prints, etchings and other printed matter, there are a number of techniques that might be used to remove various stains.

In providing directions for restoring furniture finishes,

Grotz gets away from the traditional seven coats of shellac, seven sandings method. After cleaning the old finish by scrubbing the surface with a wet cloth and wiping it dry, douse it with mineral spirits with a rag to remove any wax or oil. Wipe it dry (hard) with paper towels. Repeat process twice, getting into carvings with an old toothbrush. (A crazed surface should be treated with a nailbrush used over the entire surface.) Dry the piece for five minutes before trying to amalgamate it.

It is possible to reamalgamate because for 200 years, until 1900, shellac was used on all furniture, he maintains.

Mix a cup of denatured alcohol in a bowl, add once ounce of lacquer thinner and brush it lightly on the wood with a clean brush. The shellac dissolves as you brush it on as if you were brushing on fresh shellac. Dry finish overnight in dry room (avoid dampness). The following day, polish the piece to smoothness with steel wool, wax it with paste wax. If the old shellac has been brushed too thin in some areas, spray a coat of clear dull lacquer over it or, after buffing with steel wool, apply a coat of varnish over the shellac.

Professionals use padding lacquer when they reamalgamate, he insists, because it is faster. They apply it with a three-inch square of padding (15 or 20 layers of cotton sheeting) which is rubbed hard over the surface as the pad is wetted with lacquer. That technique takes special skills and special lacquer.

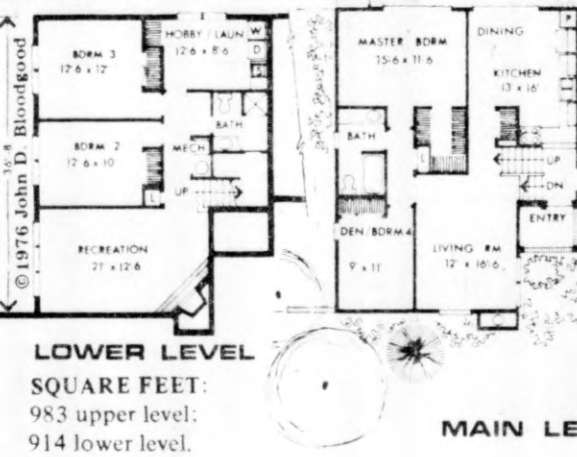

("The Antique Restorers Handbook" is published by Doubleday.)

A HOME THAT'S EXPANDABLE

By JOHN D. BLOODGOOD, Architect

HOUSE DESIGN 7639: This split-level home is great for starters. The main level provides everything a young couple needs. Note the extra roomy dining area in the kitchen; master bedroom with spacious walk-in closet and easy access to the main bath; den that can become a nursery for the first baby, revert back to a den as the family grows and the lower level is finished to provide three more bedrooms, a laundry area, second bath and a recreation room with a corner fireplace. Storage space is excellent throughout this home. Outside, the garage lends importance to porch-protected entry and brings pleasing balance to roof line.

STORAGE WALL PLAN: Organize a bedroom with built-in wall that has "his" and "her" wardrobes plus two sections with drawers. Overhead cabinets stow out-of-season clothing. Center shelves over cabinet can be adapted; if wall has window, place the cabinet under the sill.

Missouri

Has Energy To Spare

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — Missouri has energy to spare — about 10,000 years worth.

In 1975, 85 per cent of the state's electric power came from coal (compared to 45 per cent for the U.S. average) and by 1978 nearly 90 per cent of the state's energy will be produced from a slice of the 6-billion tons of recoverable reserves in the state. It will take an estimated 10,000 years to deplete at current rates.

MICE OR MEN

The first frost of the year signaled the mice to begin moving into their quarters. If this choice happens to be your garage, attic, basement, or walls, the war is on! Get an early start by buying three or four mouse traps and placing them around in areas where droppings are found or are known to be runways from past years. Trapping is preferable to poison bait early because sometimes the mice die in walls or other inaccessible places and cause an offensive odor. Go to the bait if trapping does not get the job done. Outside, you should remove tall grass from around foundations and tree trunks to discourage nesting.

SQUIRRELS, TOO

If squirrels cause a problem in the attic and walls, the situation is a bit different than mice. To drive animals out of attics, sprinkle 5-10 pounds of naphthalene flakes, moth balls, or paradichloro benzene around the area they are using. When they are out, block the entrance with hardware cloth (wire mesh) or other material. If this fails, consider putting a cat up in the attic for a short time. Squirrels can be kept out of isolated trees by placing a two-foot wide band of metal six feet off the ground. Overhanging branches within six feet of the ground or roof line should be trimmed.

NEIBAUER

Here's the Answer

Q. — I recently started a workshop in the utility room of our house and began to fix our house and began to fix things myself that I would not have dared to try a few months ago. While I have bought a number of do-it-yourself books, I find myself constantly confused by the terms that are used. One example is in the matter of wood and sheet metal screws. Is there some easy way to tell the difference between them?

A. — Yes. Sheet metal screws are threaded right up to the head. Wood screws are threaded only about two-thirds of the way.

Q. — Four years ago I put up gypsum board walls in our attic. Everything came out fine, better than I expected, except that now I notice some of the nails have started to pop. A neighbor has shown me how to correct the condition, but what he didn't know was how to prevent the trouble in the first place. I am especially concerned because I soon expect to do a similar job in our garage.

A. — I got this advice from a professional contractor. Simply hammer in two nails next to each other at every spot where you ordinarily would use one nail.

Q. — I bought some plywood in a local lumber yard and made three cabinets with it. I used a stain on the plywood. Some parts of the grain came out very dark, some very light. My wife and I have decided to leave it as it is, since the effect isn't entirely displeasing. However, I have been wondering what would happen if I had a similar project in the future and wanted to get an even stain. What did I do wrong?

A. — Nothing. It is likely that you bought fir plywood, which is the kind you usually get in a lumber yard when you do not specify what the face of the wood should be. Fir plywood usually is the least expensive of the plywoods and is very strong, but there is a wide variation of the summer and winter wood of the growth rings. When the wood is stained, the soft portions absorb more of the stain and come out considerably darker than the hard portions, resulting in a contrasting grain pattern. To alleviate this condition, manufacturers have put out sealers made especially for fir. When the clear sealer is applied, it enables the stain to take more evenly. There is a white sealer of the same type which is used when the final finish is to be paint rather than a transparent coating.

Q. — We need some extensive work done on our house and plan to get a Federal Housing Administration loan, the kind called Title I. Will the FHA guarantee the quality of the workmanship and the materials?

A. — No. What it does is to insure the lender that he will get his money if you default. Therefore, take as much time and trouble to get a good contractor as you should even if the FHA were not in the picture. The best recommendation is one which comes from a previous customer.

Too Much Waiting Makes Nolan Mad

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Gary Nolan, the winningest pitcher on the defending world champion Cincinnati Reds, has a pet peeve.

"The only thing that bothers me is that it takes so long for a batter (after hitting a home run) to run around the bases. I just wish that when a guy hits one, he could walk straight back to the dugout."

Nolan, who scattered seven hits in beating the Atlanta Braves 5-2 Friday night, increasing his record to 15-9, has walked only 27 batters — three intentionally — in his 239 1-3 innings.

In other National League games Friday, the Chicago Cubs defeated Montreal 3-1, Philadelphia edged the New York Mets 2-1, Houston nipped San Francisco 5-4 and Los Angeles clubbed San Diego 8-1. St. Louis at Pittsburgh was rained out.

While Nolan was holding the Braves in check, Tony Perez was providing the Cincinnati firepower, driving in two runs, one with his 19th homer of the year.

Besides the home run, Perez hit a run-scoring double to move to within two runs batted in of his 10th straight season with 90 or more RBI — most by any active major leaguer.

Rick Monday slammed his 32nd homer of the year and Bill Bonham, with last-out relief from Bruce Sutter, threw a seven-hitter Friday to lead Chicago to a victory over Mon-trreal. Steve Garvey collected his 200th hit for the third straight season while pitchers Dennis Lewallyn and Charlie Hough combined to stop San Diego. Garvey is the first Dodger to ever collect 200 or more hits three years in a row. It was Lewallyn's first major league victory.

A home run in the bottom of the ninth by John Vukovich — only his sixth in the major leagues and his first since 1974 — snapped a 1-1 tie and gave Philadelphia its victory over New York. The homer pinned the loss on Jerry Kosman, 21-10, who struck out 11 and allowed eight hits.

Philadelphia scored its first run in the first on two-out singles by Mike Schmidt, Ollie Brown and Dick Allen, who was replaced in the fifth by Vukovich. John Stearns singled home the Mets' lone run.

A four-run rally in the seventh, capped by Cliff Johnson's two-run single, gave Houston its victory despite two-run homers by San Francisco's Gary Alexander and Gary Matthews. Houston's first run came in the fifth on a double by Ed Herrmann and Alex Taveras' single.

Dallas Faces Expansion Seahawks

From Associated Press

There are six undefeated teams in the National Football League but only one of them — Dallas — gets to play the Seattle Seahawks Sunday.

"Over-all, they're the best team we've seen," said Jack Patera, coach of the expansion Seahawks.

The Cowboys — mixing explosive offense, ample defense and luck — edged the Baltimore Colts 30-27 last week on a 32-yard field goal by Efren Herrera with three seconds left. That gave them a 3-0 record for the young season, giving them three more victories than Seattle.

The Seahawks are still finding their way around the NFL. Seattle has surrendered 98 points so far — only the New York Jets have given up more — and will have their hands full trying to keep Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach in check.

Staubach is coming off one of his best days as a pro, having completed 22 of 28 passes for 339 yards and two touchdowns against Baltimore.

Seattle will counter with lefthanded rookie Jim Zorn, who was cut by the Cowboys last year. Zorn hit 20 of 43 tosses for 264 yards in last week's loss to San Francisco. He also is Seattle's leading rusher with 99 yards on 13 carries.

In other Sunday NFL action, Oakland is at New England; San Diego at Denver; Philadelphia at Atlanta; Cincinnati at Cleveland; Washington at Chicago; Tampa Bay at Baltimore; Detroit at Green Bay; the New York Giants at St. Louis; Houston at New Orleans; Kansas City at Buffalo; Los Angeles at Miami; San Diego at Denver, and the New York Jets at San Francisco.

Hiller Wins Rare Start For Detroit

Hurls Four-Hit Shutout

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Here's today's baseball trivia question: What American League pitcher starts only one game every four years, and then only against the Milwaukee Brewers on Oct. 1, and comes through with a nine inning victory?

Try John Hiller of the Detroit Tigers. On Oct. 1, 1972, the lefthanded relief ace made his first start since before his 1971 heart attack and beat the Brewers on a five-hitter, 5-1. Friday night, 21 relief appearances later, Hiller started and allowed the Brewers four hits as the Tigers won 5-0.

"Four or five innings at most is the longest I had gone this year," Hiller said. "But I didn't even think about that. We were stuck for a starter and they asked me. This time of year it didn't really matter."

It mattered a lot to the Brewers' Bill Travers, who after a brilliant start of the season has finished his part of it with a six game losing streak and 15-16 record.

Travers carried a two-hitter into the seventh inning, when the Tigers scored all their runs. They came after second baseman Jack Heidemann fumbled what could have been an inning ending double play grounder and got only the out at second base.

A one out single by Mickey Stanley and a walk started the rally. After Heidemann mishandled Chuck Scrivener's grounder, ex-Brewer Pedro Garcia's single broke the scoreless duel.

Garcia took second on the throw to third on the play, and Phil Mankowski's single made it 3-0. Marv Lane and Rusty Staub capped the inning with run scoring doubles.

Travers said he had thrown hard Friday for the first time since he was stricken with what he thinks was the mysterious Legionnaires' disease while in Philadelphia as a member of the American League All-Star team.

"I'm not going to say getting sick was my downfall, but it took a lot out of me," he said. "I weighed 194 before, dropped 13 pounds and I'm only back to 186 or 187 now. I hadn't thrown as hard until tonight."

"I never thought I would have a losing season when I was 15-10," he said. "Now I still have never had a winning season. But I feel a lot better about next season. I think my arm is a little tired because I pitched 100 innings in winter ball last year. Now I'm just going to rest it, and not even work all winter."

The Brewers, who played at a better than .500 clip during July and August but have lost 20 of their last 24 games, have to win the final two games of the season ending weekend series to better their .420 winning percentage of last year.

Bulls Release Chet Walker

CHICAGO (AP) — Chet Walker, the Chicago Bulls forward who sat out last season, has been declared a free agent by Commissioner Larry O'Brien of the National Basketball Association.

The action Friday by O'Brien means Walker, 36, can negotiate with any NBA club for his services. However, the Bulls must receive a player or draft choice from any club signing him. He also is free to sign with the Bulls if he wishes.

Governors Bet Playoffs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James Rhodes has accepted Pennsylvania Gov. Milton Shapp's wager on the outcome of the National League playoff between the Cincinnati Reds and the Philadelphia Phillies.

Rhodes matched Shapp's wager of a bushel of Pennsylvania mushrooms with a bushel of Ohio's Melrose apples.

"It will be nice to have some fresh mushrooms in mid-October," he said confidently.

The best-of-five-game playoff series begins in Philadelphia Oct. 9 and then moves to Cincinnati.

Zollar Criticizes Campaign Bill

State Sen. Charles Zollar of Benton Harbor has sharply criticized the Senate Democratic majority for ramrodding through the Senate a weak and unbalanced campaign finance bill.

The Democratic-sponsored bill was passed by the Senate Thursday over vehement Republican opposition.

"This bill does not deserve to be called campaign finance reform," Senator Zollar said. "It offers the citizens of Michigan even less public disclosure of campaign funding than the previous law and creates a severe imbalance between the abilities of business and labor to participate in the political process."

"Senate Republicans attempted to amend the bill to bring it back up to the level of the previous law," he explained. "Our efforts to correct the glaring deficiencies in the bill went unheeded by the Democratic majority, however."

"This bill permits candidates to accept up to $100, an amount 8 1/2 times higher than previously sanctioned, without reporting the donor's name and address and up to $200 — or 100 per cent higher — without reporting the contributor's occupation," he explained. "Our amendments would have tightened the recording and reporting provisions by requiring donors' names and addresses for contributions over $15 and occupations for over $100 as established in the previous law."

"Senate Republican pleas for a balance between the rights of business and labor to participate in the political process were also ignored," he said.

"This bill prohibits corporations from establishing and administering political action committees, as permitted on the federal level, while granting the very same rights to unions, overwhelmingly Democratic supporters," he explained.

"In essence, the bill gives the labor union hierarchy a stranglehold over the political process in our state," he charged.

Senate Republican amendments to correct this inequity were flatly rejected by the Democratic majority, he said.

"This bill is a blatant attempt by Democrats to control the political process through the manipulation of their traditionally supportive special interest groups," Zollar said. "It provides Michigan citizens with no protection against unscrupulous campaign finance tactics."

"Another Senate Republican amendment which would have prohibited the transfer of organization and union funds also met with defeat," he said. "It was designed to assure the public that funds used to support local candidates would come from the very same people the candidate would be representing."

"We were also squelched in our efforts to allow organization and union members to specify to which candidate their contribution would be donated," Zollar said. "We wanted to prohibit unions and organizations from being able to spend their members' dues on candidates that the member himself may not support."

"The Governor has vowed he will veto this bill in its present form," he said. "It is indeed unfortunate that the Democrats are pushing a bill which they know full well will not become law."

Realtors Endorse Kennedy

The Southwestern Michigan Board of Realtors has announced it is endorsing state Rep. Bela Kennedy (R-Bangor) for re-election and is endorsing passage of Proposal C in the Nov. 2 general election.

Proposal C, if passed, would force the state to hold spending to no more than 8.3 per cent of the total personal income of the state, which is about the current level.

The political action committee of the realtor board, in announcing its decision to endorse the proposal, said personal income in Michigan has increased 200 per cent since 1960 while state spending has increased 500 per cent in the same period.

Kennedy is facing Democrat Ronald K. DeCook, Grand Junction, for the 45th district state representative seat.

Ray Mitchell, St. Joseph, chairman of the political action committee, said Kennedy was endorsed because of his "conscientious spending of the taxpayers' dollars and for his support of private sector property ownership."

Mitchell said the committee is a bipartisan organization of the realtor board that endorses only candidates and legislation that protects the right of the public to own property.

Daugherty Outlines Plan For Elderly

NILES — Richard E. "Mike" Daugherty, Democratic candidate for 4th District Congressman, yesterday outlined changes he would seek in social security and health programs to benefit the elderly.

"We must reform our social security system to provide a decent standard of living upon retirement and we must provide adequate health care — including an intelligent form of a national health program — for those who have given so much for us," Daugherty said.

Daugherty's remarks came during a press conference at the Democratic party headquarters in Niles.

In a statement prepared for delivery at the conference, he said a thorough restructuring of the social security tax system is needed. He charged that the present system is "regressive and approaching insolvency."

Daugherty said the income ceiling for social security deductions should be raised.

At present, social security is deducted on all income up to a ceiling of $15,300. The amount deducted is 5.85 per cent for employees and 7.9 per cent for the self-employed.

Daugherty said raising the ceiling would reduce "the burden which currently penalizes working class families of low and middle incomes."

Daugherty said social security eligibility requirements and payment schedules should also be changed so senior citizens can keep pace with inflation.

"We have many senior citizens who are deterred from making their maximum contribution to society because their social security benefits will be reduced if they earn over a certain amount of money a month," Daugherty said.

"Our government should remove the restriction which prevents our society from utilizing the full talents of our senior citizens," he continued.

Daugherty blasted his November election opponent, Republican Dave Stockman of St. Joseph, for his support of a plan now under consideration by Congress.

"This plan in its present form would not provide adequate health care because of its unavailability," Daugherty said. He charged that a retired person seeking aid under the plan "would not receive its services until one foot was in the grave and the other foot was on a banana peel."

Labeling Stockman a "29-year-old politician with a $100,000 campaign," the 55-year-old Sister Lakes Democrat said he remains skeptical that Stockman would "know the problems or concerns of those living on fixed incomes."

Jury Acquits South Haven Man Of Arson Conspiracy

A South Haven man who pleaded no contest to an arson charge and then withdrew his plea was acquitted Friday in Berrien Circuit court of a charge of conspiracy to commit arson.

Jurors in Judge Chester J. Byrns' court deliberated some 2 1/2 hours before returning the innocent verdict for David Blankenship, 26, of 128 South Haven street, South Haven. He was charged with conspiring, during September, 1975, with another man to burn his residence at 128 South Haven.

Blankenship was arrested last October after an informant told police he had been offered money to burn the house for insurance purposes. The informant, of Benton township, was named a co-conspirator, but was not charged.

Blankenship was tried in Berrien county rather than Van Buren county because the conspiracy was alleged to have occurred in Benton township.

In May, Blankenship pleaded no contest before Judge William S. White to preparation to burn real property, but then withdrew his plea in June.

The charge to which he had pleaded no contest carries a maximum prison sentence of four years, while the charge of which he was acquitted has a maximum penalty of 20 years in prison if convicted.

During the 3 1/2 day trial, Blankenship took the witness stand and admitted he had talked with another man, who was not charged, about burning the house, but claimed he was joking when he said it.

Opposing counsel in the trial were Atlys. John and Leo Hoffman of Allegan, representing Blankenship, and Assistant Prosecutor Scott Beatty.

SMC's Board Chief Honored

DOWAGIAC — Southwestern Michigan college (SMC) announced yesterday that Dr. Fred L. Mathews of Dowagiac, president of its board of trustees, has received the M. Dale Ensign Community College Leadership award.

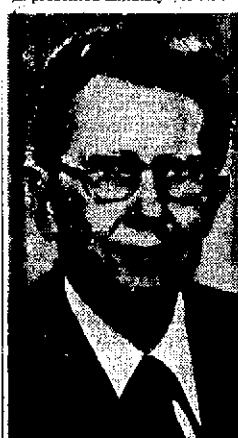

The award was presented at the 7th annual convention of the Association of Community College Trustees (ACCT) in St. Louis, Mo., Thursday night.

According to the college's announcement, the Ensign award is presented annually "to an individual who has made the most significant national contribution as a lay trustee toward promoting the concept of the community college movement."

The award is presented by the ACCT board of directors which represents 3,500 trustees at 500 community colleges in America, the SMC announcement said.

The SMC announcement said the criteria for the award included whether the trustee nominated had served as an officer on his or her board, service in the community and the "initiation and assistance in developing new programs for junior colleges."

Dr. Mathews was one of the organizers of SMC in the early 1960's, and the only chairman the college trustees have had. He is also one of the founders and past president of the Michigan Community College Association.

Two Charged With Arson In Cass Farm Fire

DOWAGIAC — Cass sheriff's deputies said they arrested two Dowagiac men Thursday on arson charges following an investigation of a fire which destroyed a barn last Saturday on the Stanley Pankauski farm near here. Officers identified the two men as Vern Smith, 38, Daily road, and Eugene Phillips, 18, 103 Hamilton street.

Bond was set at $10,000 Friday for both men in Cass District court. Assistant prosecutor William Grimmer said Smith and Pankauski had been involved in an argument last Friday night.

The barn was destroyed by a fire about 6 a.m. Saturday morning. Several pieces of farm equipment, including a tractor, combine, chopper and baler, were also destroyed in the blaze.

The barn was located on California road at Frost street in Cass county's Pokagon township. The Pankauski family house is next to the barn.

DOWNTOWN AREA

Bangor Sidewalk Project Gets Nod

BANGOR — The Bangor city council has voted to proceed with a $34,999 sidewalk replacement project in the downtown area.

Half of the project cost is to be paid by the city and the other half will be raised through special assessments on lots in the area to receive new sidewalks.

Prior to the vote, six property owners present at last night's hearing told council members they would not object to the project.

City officials said the work is to be done by Z.O.F. Inc., a construction company from Byron Center, the low bidder on the project.

Plans call for installing 10-foot wide sidewalks on both sides of Monroe street. On the south side, the new sidewalk would run from Division to Walnut street. On the north side, it would run from Division to 500 feet west of Center street.

City officials said the existing sidewalk is old and is cracked and broken in many places.

Republicans Oppose Holland Annexation

ALLEGAN — The Allegan county Republican committee has adopted a resolution opposing a Nov. 2 general election proposal to annex that part of the city of Holland in Allegan county to Ottawa county.

John Watts, an Allegan attorney who is chairman of the Allegan county GOP committee, said the annexation was proposed by Holland officials and is on the ballot in both Ottawa and Allegan counties.

Annexation of the area would take $300,000 annually in tax revenues from Allegan county, the Republicans said in their resolution urging a "no" vote on the annexation issue.

Holland is cut almost in half by the Ottawa-Allegan county line. Voters in both counties must approve annexation if it is to become effective, Watts said.

PAYMENTS HIKED

Medicare Patients Getting Bad News

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Social Security Administration has ordered a 19 per cent increase in the amount of money the nation's 25 million Medicare recipients must pay to cover their portion of hospital or nursing home costs.

The increase, which will go into effect Jan. 1, means any elderly or disabled person receiving Medicare will have to pay the first $124 of his hospital bill for any stay of less than 60 days. The current charge is $104.

It also means a recipient will have to pay 19 per cent more for hospitalizations of more than 60 days and for post-hospital admittances in skilled nursing homes.

The record hike follows a 13 per cent increase that went into effect less than a year ago. The portion paid by Medicare beneficiaries for short hospital stays now has jumped $32 in less than two years.

Social Security Commissioner James B. Cardwell said the hike was necessary to keep pace with hospital costs that have been rising twice as fast as the cost of living.

His administration is required to follow a federal formula each year in determining the future cost of the Medicare program to beneficiaries.

The American Association of Retired Persons said the increase is "evidence of the critical need for an effective national program to curb the exorbitant increase in health care costs for older Americans. 'They are the ones most in need of adequate health care and the least able to pay for these skyrocketing costs.'"

Butz Remarks Anger Official

each time to remain. In his article for Rolling Stone, Dean said he was talking with Boone about the GOP convention when Butz, who had campaigned to win the nomination for Ford, walked down the aisle of the plane and stopped to chat.

Dean reported that Boone said to Butz: "John and I were just discussing the appeal of the Republican party. It seems that the party of Abraham Lincoln could and should attract more black people. Why can't that be done?" "I'll tell you why you can't attract coloreds," Butz was quoted as replying. "Because coloreds only want three things. You know what they want? I'll tell you what coloreds want, it's three things." Then Butz continued with the remark that led to the reprimand.

In explaining the Ford reprimand, Ford spokesman Ron Nessen said, "The President informed the secretary that such language and attitudes were not acceptable from a member of his administration. The President told the secretary the remarks were highly offensive to him and to the American people." Nessen said Ford's statement to Butz amounted to "a severe reprimand."

Among the lawmakers who quickly issued statements on hearing of the Butz remark Friday:

—Rep. Paul Findley of Illinois, ranking GOP member of the House Agriculture Committee, called Butz the greatest agricultural secretary the country has had, but he added: "the racial slur which he voiced is so revolting that Secretary Butz would render a great service to the President if he would offer to resign."

—Rep. Robert Bauman, R-Md., said that if Butz indeed acknowledges the remarks "he ought to seriously consider resigning."

—District of Columbia Delegate Walter Fauntroy, vice chairman of the Congressional Black Caucus, called for Butz' resignation and said: "It's shocking to me that a man of this mentality has occupied this high office for so long."

—Sen. Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., also urged Ford to act against Butz, calling the remarks "coarse and crude."

Assault Charge Is Authorized

SOUTH HAVEN — The Van Buren county prosecutor has authorized a felony assault charge against a 67-year-old Grand Junction woman in connection with an alleged knife assault on a man in her home Thursday.

State police at the South Haven post said the woman, Willie Mae Stout, is to be charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder.

The alleged victim, William Jackson, 65, Grand Junction, suffered slashes to his throat and was listed in serious condition today at South Haven Community hospital. Police said his jugular vein, voice box and windpipe were cut.

Mrs. Stout was also in the hospital this morning being treated for a bleeding ulcer. She was listed in fairly good condition.

Both sons, Stout and Jackson were hospitalized Thursday.

According to police, Jackson said he was stabbed during an argument at the Stout home about 9 a.m. Thursday. The home is located on CR-215 near CR-388 in Van Buren county's Columbia township.

Howard Presses Jail Escape Case

Jesse Howard, Democratic candidate for Berrien county sheriff, said he has filed a complaint with state Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley over escapes of prisoners from custody of Berrien county jail.

Howard in a copy of a letter he said was mailed to Kelley charged the sheriff's office and prosecuting attorney's office of Berrien "refuse to make any investigation . . . after four prisoners escaped." Howard's letter to Kelley said the sheriff's office and the prosecutor's office should both be charged with misconduct.

Prosecutor John Smetanka said last month an investigation had been made into the escapes, which were on an individual basis, and findings showed prosecution was not warranted for negligence.

Howard told The Herald-Palladium he will be campaigning today at Fairplain Plaza in his race against Republican incumbent Forrest (Nick) Jewell.

N-Dump Risk Is 'So Small'

ALPENA, Mich. (AP) — The dumping of nuclear waste materials in the Alpena area would have "no effects whatsoever," according to a noted radiological health authority. The health risks of dumping nuclear wastes underground are "so small" they amount to zero when compared to the risk of day-to-day living, Dr. G. Hoyt Whipple, a University of Michigan professor, said. The Energy Research and Development Administration has suggested a site near Alpena as a possible dumping ground for nuclear waste. Whipple spoke at the invitation of the Alpena Power Co., which is considering a proposal for a $300 million nuclear reprocessing plant near the dumping site. ERDA officials have not decided whether to locate either a nuclear waste dump or a waste reprocessing plant in the area.

Warranty Bill Advanced

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Senate committee has approved two bills which would extend warranty protection to consumers. One bill would require that any warranty on an object would cover labor as well as parts. Currently, warranties on some goods pay for new parts during the warranty period, but customers have to pay for the labor of fixing the item. The second bill would extend warranties if the item spent much time "in the shop" being repaired. It provides that when merchandise is kept for repair more than 10 days or more than 10 per cent of the warranty period, whichever is less, the time in excess of that figure must be added to the warranty itself. Thus if an object carrying a 30-day warranty were under repair for four days, another day would be added to the warranty period.

'Redlining' Bill On Way

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislation banning "redlining" and deceptive insurance industry practices is on its way to the governor after having won final House approval. The House voted 94-1 to accept a Senate version of a bill it had passed earlier. The Senate version, according to House sponsor Rep. Dan Angel, was more specific than his own in prohibiting redlining. It also reduced proposed fines for violation of the law. Redlining is the practice of denying or cancelling property insurance in certain geographic areas without statistical evidence that the area has an unusually high fire risk. Under provisions of the bill, insurance companies would have to provide statistical rationale for canceling any coverage because of high fire risk. Cancellation without such data would be termed unfair competition, and would be subject to penalties. The legislation also expands the list of outlawed practices in the insurance business to include such things as increasing a person's coverage without his knowledge and then raising his premium; refusing, limiting or charging more for insurance, on the basis of race, marital status, age, sex or place of residence; or denying insurance because a person was previously denied coverage.

Grace Ward Dies Friday In St. Joseph

Mrs. Grace Ward, 90, widow of Arthur H. Ward, a former secretary-treasurer of A.B. Morse Printing Co., died Friday at her home, 1000 State street, St. Joseph.

St. Joseph Patrolman David Agay said a maid, Jane Sarabia, reported at 5:11 p.m. that Mrs. Ward complained of chest pains and collapsed in the kitchen. Agay said resuscitation efforts by him and Action ambulance attendants were unsuccessful.

Mrs. Ward was pronounced dead on arrival at Memorial hospital at 5:30 p.m. by Dr. David Hills. A post-mortem examination was to be held to determine the cause of death, Dr. Hills said. He said Mrs. Ward apparently had not been under a physician's care in the past 10 years and post-mortem examinations are routine in such cases.

Mrs. Ward was born May 8, 1886 at Crystal, Mich., and resided in this area for 31 years. She and Mr. Ward were married in 1933. He died in 1969. PLEASURE CRAFT: The Casa Rodi sits in her slip on Lake Michigan in Chicago's Burnham Harbor Thursday after Chicago undercover police raided the boat as an alleged floating house of prostitution. The skipper of the yacht, a deckhand and two women were arrested. (AP Wirephoto)

UNUSUALLY WELL APPOINTED

Operation 'Sunk' By Police

CHICAGO (AP) — An alleged floating prostitution operation aboard a 60-foot cabin cruiser has been broken up by police posing as wealthy businessmen. As the $450,000 chartered yacht Casa Rodi set sail Thursday from Burnham Harbor into Lake Michigan for an eight-hour pleasure cruise, one of the well-tailored businessmen asked a partially disrobed woman, "Do you know who I am?" "No, but you're cute," came her reply. That's when Michael O'Donnell told her, "Well, I'm commander of the vice-control division," announcing the arrest of the crew and the two young women charged with operating a floating prostitution operation. The dozen businessmen were undercover policemen. O'Donnell said the officers were told that they could have food, drink and perform any sexual act they desired with the two women for $100 each. The officers handed over $100 each and when the money was accepted they arrested skipper Raymond Dust, 45, deckhand John Ruiseco, 35; Rowena Canacini, 20, and Patricia Reyes, 21. Dust was charged with being the keeper of a house of prostitution, Ruiseco with arranging prostitution, and the two women with prostitution. Police said the investigation began a month ago into the floating pleasure palace when they received a report from the wife of a man who had witnessed sex orgies.

Truck Cover Bill Passes State House

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill requiring covers on trucks carrying certain loads piled to certain heights has been passed by the state House.

Aimed at reducing cracked windshields, other damages to automobiles, and accidents caused by flying dirt and other materials, the bill was approved by the House 80-6. The vote was on a recommendation by a joint House-Senate committee.

Senate approval is still needed before the bill is sent to the governor for his signature.

Specifically, the bill would require covers on trucks whose loads, measured at the sideboards or rear panel, are piled higher than six inches from the top of the enclosure.

Opponents say this will still allow companies to pile sand,

Truck Cover Bill Passes State House

dirt or other loads very high in the middle and go without a cover, as long as the load is at least six inches from the top of the enclosure on the edges.

Exempt from the bill's requirements are trucks that salt highways and farmers' trucks moving agricultural products.

The bill approved by the House also would require that logs or other tubular objects like pipes be secured to trucks in specified ways. The bill passed by the Senate would have exempted the logging industry from any restrictions.

Penalties in the bill approved by the House would be fines of up to $500 or 90 days in jail or both. No actual spillage of any materials would have to occur for a violation to have occurred.

Judge Blocks New Civil Service Policy

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A new employee policy that state troopers said would make the state personnel director a "virtual czar" over employee bargaining units has been blocked by an Ingham County judge.

Circuit Court Judge Ray Hotchkiss Friday signed a temporary injunction against the policy and said he will rule on whether it would effectively abolish the existing state employee associations.

Hotchkiss acted on a suit by the Michigan State Police Troopers Association. He said other employee groups are expected to join in the action, and no hearing date will be set until they do.

The policy, enacted Aug. 20 by the Civil Service Commission, says "Future recognition and unit determination . . . shall be made by the director" of personnel on the basis of "broad occupational lines" and a "community of interest."

Hotchkiss said this could be interpreted to mean that employees in the same civil service classification, whether policemen or maintenance workers, would be lumped into the same bargaining group.

"This policy authorizes the director of state personnel to arbitrarily establish the unit which the employee may join," the troopers' suit contends.

In opposing the injunction, which replaced a temporary restraining order granted by Hotchkiss Sept. 3, the Civil Service Commission said any court action at this point is "premature."

The troopers said the new policy would affect nearly 60,000 state employees now represented by seven employee associations. All but one, the Michigan State Employees Association, have indicated they will join in the suit, the troopers said.

N-Dump Risk Is 'So Small'

ALPENA, Mich. (AP) — The dumping of nuclear waste materials in the Alpena area would have "no effects whatsoever," according to a noted radiological health authority. The health risks of dumping nuclear wastes underground are "so small" they amount to zero when compared to the risk of day-to-day living, Dr. G. Hoyt Whipple, a University of Michigan professor, said. The Energy Research and Development Administration has suggested a site near Alpena as a possible dumping ground for nuclear waste. Whipple spoke at the invitation of the Alpena Power Co., which is considering a proposal for a $300 million nuclear reprocessing plant near the dumping site. ERDA officials have not decided whether to locate either a nuclear waste dump or a waste reprocessing plant in the area.

Warranty Bill Advanced

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Senate committee has approved two bills which would extend warranty protection to consumers. One bill would require that any warranty on an object would cover labor as well as parts. Currently, warranties on some goods pay for new parts during the warranty period, but customers have to pay for the labor of fixing the item. The second bill would extend warranties if the item spent much time "in the shop" being repaired. It provides that when merchandise is kept for repair more than 10 days or more than 10 per cent of the warranty period, whichever is less, the time in excess of that figure must be added to the warranty itself. Thus if an object carrying a 30-day warranty were under repair for four days, another day would be added to the warranty period.

'Redlining' Bill On Way

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislation banning "redlining" and deceptive insurance industry practices is on its way to the governor after having won final House approval. The House voted 94-1 to accept a Senate version of a bill it had passed earlier. The Senate version, according to House sponsor Rep. Dan Angel, was more specific than his own in prohibiting redlining. It also reduced proposed fines for violation of the law. Redlining is the practice of denying or canceling property insurance in certain geographic areas without statistical evidence that the area has an unusually high fire risk. Under provisions of the bill, insurance companies would have to provide statistical rationale for canceling any coverage because of high fire risk. Cancellation without such data would be termed unfair competition, and would be subject to penalties. The legislation also expands the list of outlawed practices in the insurance business to include such things as increasing a person's coverage without his knowledge and then raising his premium; refusing, limiting or charging more for insurance, on the basis of race, marital status, age, sex or place of residence; or denying insurance because a person was previously denied coverage.

UNUSUALLY WELL APPOINTED

Operation 'Sunk' By Police

CHICAGO (AP) — An alleged floating prostitution operation aboard a 60-foot cabin cruiser has been broken up by police posing as wealthy businessmen. As the $450,000 chartered yacht Casa Rodi set sail Thursday from Burnham Harbor into Lake Michigan for an eight-hour pleasure cruise, one of the well-tailored businessmen asked a partially disrobed woman, "Do you know who I am?" "No, but you're cute," came her reply. That's when Michael O'Donnell told her, "Well, I'm commander of the vice-control division," announcing the arrest of the crew and the two young women charged with operating a floating prostitution operation. The dozen businessmen were undercover policemen. O'Donnell said the officers were told that they could have food, drink and perform any sexual act they desired with the two women for $100 each. The officers handed over $100 each and when the money was accepted they arrested skipper Raymond Dust, 45; deckhand John Ruiseco, 35; Rowena Canacini, 20, and Patricia Reyes, 21. Dust was charged with being the keeper of a house of prostitution, Ruiseco with arranging prostitution, and the two women with prostitution. Police said the investigation began a month ago into the floating pleasure palace when they received a report from the wife of a man who had witnessed sex orgies.

Truck Cover Bill Passes State House

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill requiring covers on trucks carrying certain loads piled to certain heights has been passed the State House.

Aimed at reducing cracked windshields, other damages to automobiles, and accidents caused by flying dirt and other materials, the bill was approved by the House 80-6. The vote was on a recommendation by a joint House-Senate committee.

Senate approval is still needed before the bill is sent to the governor for his signature.

Specifically, the bill would require covers on trucks whose loads, measured at the sideboards or rear panel, are piled higher than six inches from the top of the enclosure.

Opponents say this will still allow companies to pile sand, dirt or other loads very high in the middle and go without a cover, as long as the load is at least six inches from the top of the enclosure on the edges.

Exempt from the bill's requirements are trucks that salt highways and farmers' trucks moving agricultural products.

The bill approved by the House also would require that logs or other tubular objects like pipes be secured to trucks in specified ways. The bill passed by the Senate would have exempted the logging industry from any restrictions.

Penalties in the bill approved by the House would be fines of up to $500 or 90 days in jail or both. No actual spillage of any materials would have to occur for a violation to have occurred.

Judge Blocks New Civil Service Policy

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A new employee policy that state troopers said would make the state personnel director a "virtual czar" over employee bargaining units has been blocked by an Ingham County judge.

Circuit Court Judge Ray Hotchkiss Friday signed a temporary injunction against the policy and said he will rule on whether it would effectively abolish the existing state employee associations.

Hotchkiss acted on a suit by the Michigan State Police Troopers Association. He said other employee groups are expected to join in the action, and no hearing date will be set until they do.

The policy, enacted Aug. 20 by the Civil Service Commission, says "Future recognition and unit determination . . . shall be made by the director" of personnel on the basis of "broad occupational lines" and a "community of interest."

Hotchkiss said this could be interpreted to mean that employees in the same civil service classification, whether policemen or maintenance workers, would be lumped into the same bargaining group.

"This policy authorizes the director of state personnel to arbitrarily establish the unit which the employee may join," the troopers' suit contends.

In opposing the injunction, which replaced a temporary restraining order granted by Hotchkiss Sept. 3, the Civil Service Commission said any court action at this point is "premature."

The troopers said the new policy would affect nearly 60,000 state employees now represented by seven employee associations. All but one, the Michigan State Employees Association, have indicated they will join in the suit, the troopers said.

Crackups Hurt Trio In Berrien

Three people were reported injured Friday in two unrelated traffic accidents investigated by Berrien sheriff's deputies.

Deputies said Ralph H. Young, 56, of 2432 Rocky Weed road, Lincoln township, suffered a broken left wrist when a Michigan Bell Telephone Co. panel truck he was driving went out of control and struck a mound of earth off Rocky Weed road, near Washington avenue in Lincoln township. Young was treated and released from Memorial hospital.

The accident at 1:20 p.m. apparently was caused by a faulty tie rod that controlled steering, deputies said. No tickets were issued.

Robert L. Williams, 18, Box 36 Maple street, Glendora, and Kenneth E. Clark, 47, of 1359 Norman road, St. Joseph, were reported injured when vehicles they were driving collided on Cleveland avenue near Hinchman road, Baroda township about 7:05 a.m. Clark was treated for a fractured collarbone and released from Memorial hospital, while Williams chose to seek his own treatment for a bruised right leg, officers reported.

Williams was ticketed for driving left of the centerline. Officers reported that Williams said he swerved to miss an animal in the roadway.

Ex-Prisoner Sues Judge For Billions

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — A man who served in the Nebraska Penal Complex has filed a lawsuit in U.S. District Court seeking $8.1 billion from the judge who put him in prison.

Named as defendant in the suit was Douglas County District Court Judge John C. Burke. The suit was filed in Omaha by Artis X. Johnson, a former Omahan now living in Marquette, Mich.

Johnson contends that he was deprived of several constitutional rights when Judge Burke sentenced him to eight to 10 years for manslaughter in 1970.

The lawsuit has been assigned to U.S. District Court Judge Robert Denney.

Owner Remains Hot Over Free Winterizing Job

By MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

More than six months after Berrien County Action, Inc., (BCA) was to have completed a free winterizing project at his home, Hubert Gabbard is still not happy.

Gabbard says the anti-poverty agency still has not repaired damage to his house at 1332 East Napier avenue, Benton township, he claims was caused while the anti-poverty agency installed weatherproofing and insulation on his house last winter.

"It's like having someone volunteer to fix a flat tire on your car and after they're done, beat in your fender," Gabbard said.

But Gabbard's unhappiness with the job has left BCA officials equally perplexed.

"We've done everything humanly possible to please him," said Charles Shepherd, head of BCA's winterizing program. "We feel we have done him a service, but he has misconstrued what we can do for him. It seems he wants us to repair his house for him."

Gabbard's complaints and BCA's response were first aired in The Herald-Palladium Feb. 19 and 21. Since that time, BCA has returned to Gabbard's home, Gabbard has again complained to the BCA board of directors, and BCA has again returned to Gabbard's home.

Gabbard claims in the process of winterizing his home, BCA workers left staples in his window frames, damaged aluminum siding on part of his house, readjusted his doors so they no longer close and installed insulation improperly so birds get in the attic.

"My house is worse now than when they came in," Gabbard said. "If they never touched my house again, I'd probably be better off, but I don't want the next person to get the same deal, either."

Gabbard said his sole income is a monthly social security check of $210 and said he owes $290 before he has his house paid for.

"I'm not begging for anything," he said. "I just want them to come back and fix what they tore up. They've stalled and stalled and promised and haven't done anything."

Shepherd said Gabbard's complaint is the only one the agency has received since he started with BCA in November, 1975.

He said BCA exceeded the budget set by the state funding agency for the program on Gabbard's house. He said the agency spent 108 hours, $378 on labor and $93 on material on Gabbard's home and another $66 trying to rectify Gabbard's complaints. He said state guidelines recommend spending no more than $350 on each job.

Shepherd said the BCA board of directors will have to decide now what is to be done about Gabbard's complaints.

GARY BARTALONE

BY PAUL MORGAN
Staff Sports Writer
BRIDGMAN — If there is one thing Gary Bartalone knows how to do it's carry a football. Lake Michigan Catholic's outstanding halfback gained a school record 324 yards in 30 carries and scored four touchdowns to pace the Lakers to a 31-14 win over Bridgman in a Red Arrow Conference high school football battle played here Friday night.

"Gary has played behind some fine running backs here, but now he is getting his," grinned Catholic's head coach Terry Rose.

"He has overcome a knee injury and the fact that last season he had to play a lot of defense and not much offense," he added.

Rose helped Bartalone change

his style of running a few years ago and it seemed to help the senior. "He used to like to punish people when he ran. Now he runs more to daylight."

Bartalone said after the game that he didn't realize he had so much yardage. "I didn't feel I parts of the "Italian Connection," quarterback Mike Masini, and fellow running back Bill Couvelis. "We've been going with the fakes in practice and Bill and Mike worked theirs well," he indicated.

"The line did a super job tonight," he grinned. "And the downfield blocking was good. Everybody just knew what they had to do and did it."

Bartalone feels the Lakers, now 2-0 in the league and 3-0 overall, are starting to jell as a unit. "I think we've come together," he declared. "We're not a vocal team, mostly we just do the job."

Assistant coach Gary Boyce has the Lakers running up and down a steep hill at Kiwanis Park, Catholic's practice field, and Bartalone feels that this has helped the team. "A big thing is

Bartalone also sees this year's Lakers as a different bunch than last season's. "We don't have the talent this year like we had last season," he said. "But this year we have people that have unity."

Rose said he hadn't planned on running Bartalone so much. "I had no intention of giving Gary the ball that much," he said. "We were calling the sequence and not the back."

enough about the offensive line," grinned Rose. "They all did a heck of a job."

"I'm not disappointed with our kids," commented Bees' head coach Jerry Planutis. "The kids just got physically worn down. But they didn't quit."

Bob Linke and Bob Foster drew praise for their work on defense. Planutis was also pleased with quarterback Tom Meredith's play. "Meredith is a good passer and field general," he said.

"If we had a little more depth, it might have been different," he added.

The Lakers never really sewed up the contest until Bartalone scored on a three-yard run with 6:44 left in the third quarter to cap the scoring. Catholic had scored the first two times it had the ball as Bartalone swept around right end for touchdown runs of 23 and 24 yards.

Bridgman, now 1-1 in the conference and 2-1 overall, then came back to take the lead as Jim Murray scored on a three-yard run near the end of the first quarter and Meredith hit Howie Mutz with a 30-yard scoring pass with 9:38 left in the first half.

The Lakers took the lead for good with 2:37 left in the half as Bartalone capped a 74-yard drive with a 12-yard touchdown run. Couvelis ended the scoring in the first half, going over from the five with 12 seconds left.

Couvelis added 82 yards on 14 carries to the Lakers' 446 yards rushing. Bridgman was led by Murray's 62 yards in 17 carries and John Matthias' 56 yards on eight totes.

Planutis was impressed with Bartalone's running ability. "He is one of the best backs in the region," he said. "But Murray did a great job for us."

A big factor which hurt the Bees was an ankle injury to Mutz right after he caught his touchdown pass in the second quarter. "We could have kept a couple of drives going with him," Planutis moaned.

A foot, an arm and lots of determination earned St. Joseph an almost unbelievable 24-21 victory over Kalamazoo Central in a non-league football game Friday night at Dickinson Stadium.

The Bears appeared doomed to their first defeat of the campaign while trailing 21-8 early in the last quarter.

But then in a miraculous series of events St. Joseph rallied and presented like Muhlenkamp with a victory gift in the 100th game of his coaching career.

Frank Bock got the winning points with a 24-yard field goal with 16 seconds remaining, but the passing of reserve quarterback Steve Ziebart to wide receivers Keene Taylor and Ted Dongvillo caused most of the excitement.

Ziebart, a junior and the younger brother of Dave, last year's quarterback, continually hit key passes in the last quarter while completing five of 10 attempts for 93 yards. He also ran for a TD.

Taylor caught two of Ziebart's passes for 47 yards, including a 29-yard scoring strike, and Dongvillo hauled in three during the comeback for 46 yards.

"I knew he could make that one," declared Muhlenkamp afterwards when recalling Bock's winning field goal. "That was a chip shot."

Muhlenkamp, who now owns

18-yard aerial to Taylor and a 22-yard scamper by tailback Dale Rupley on a draw play. Ziebart got the TD on a one-yard sneak with 6:06 remaining to narrow the gap to 21-14.

Kalamazoo Central then gave the ball right back by fumbling the ball away on the following kickoff. A turn of events that Muhlenkamp aptly termed "probably the biggest play."

St. Joe took over on the Central 32 and scored three plays later with 5:10 left on the TD pass to Taylor which covered 29 yards. Bock kicked the extra point which tied the score at 21-21.

Kalamazoo was forced to punt on the following series. Rupley was the victim of a Central personal foul on the kick return, and the Bears had a first down on Central 46 with just under four minutes left.

Runs by Rupley and Kevin Wheeler netted one first down, but Bear ball carriers were thrown for losses on the next two plays. That left Ziebart with a third and 19 situation, but he took care of that with a 25-yard pass to Dongvillo. Another personal foul was tacked on, so the Bears had a first down at the 10. They then settled for the winning field goal after three running plays netted four yards.

Up until the winning St. Joseph surge, the game belonged almost entirely to Central and bulling fullback Al Taborn, who gained 185 yards in 28 carries and scored a touchdown on a two-yard run in the second quarter to give the Maroon Giants a 9-0 halftime advantage. The other points came on a 37-yard first quarter field goal by Randy Ball.

Central added a third quarter TD on 33-yard run by Ball and a fourth period touchdown on a 28-yard pass from Ball to Jim Marsh.

The Giants outgained St. Joe 337 yards to 271 and left Muhlenkamp impressed. "At the end the only way we could stop them was to blitz them and get them into poor down situations," declared the Bear mentor.

Hurst Standout For Benton Harbor

By JACK WALKDEN

Oh, those turnovers.

That thought must be going through Benton Harbor coach Paul Bergan's mind over and over today. For if it weren't for seven costly turnovers, the Tigers would probably be savoring a victory today.

Instead Benton Harbor dropped a bitter 12-8 non-league decision to Fruitport Friday before more than 3,500 fans at Filstrup Field.

The loss ruined a tremendous defensive effort by the Tigers and spoiled a brilliant individual performance by Tiger sophomore Andrew Hurst.

Hurst, who wasn't expected to play because of a thigh injury, rushed for 185 yards in 12 carries, including a sparkling 98-yard touchdown run which gave the Tigers a short-lived 8-0 lead in the third quarter.

"We finally got Andrew loose," Bergan said. "And we plan to get him loose some more this year. If something happens to our tailbacks, we will probably move Andrew to tailback and start Neill Kirkwood at quarterback."

"Our effort wasn't all Hurst, though. Andrew did a great job, but we got some great blocking on his runs. I'm really proud of the kids."

Benton Harbor, which fell to 1-2, lost four fumbles and threw three interceptions in helping to aid its own downfall.

"Sure the turnovers hurt," Bergan said. "But when you run this kind of offense (option offense) you're going to break some big ones, but it can also be dangerous. It might be either feast or famine, but we'll always be in the game."

Fruitport, now 2-1, relied mainly on the running of Ron Pieczynski. The 6-3, 210-pounder rushed for 126 yards in 42 carries.

"We figure Pieczynski is one of the finest backs Fruitport has ever had," Trojan coach Tom Holden said. "His size, speed and desire are his big assets."

Pieczynski was forced to carry much of the Fruitport

On the first play afterward for the Tigers, Hurst cut around the left end and raced 98 yards down the sidelines to tie the score. Hurst dove over the left side for the conversion and Benton Harbor led 8-6 with 1:25 left in the third quarter.

It looked as though the lead might just hold up before a costly Tiger turnover turned the game around. Early in the final period, Hurst was hit just as he tried to pitchout to Willie Campbell. The ball was recovered by Mike Grimm at the Tiger 32.

On fourth down and 10 from the 32, O'Brien connected with Mike Lilac on a brilliant 32-yard scoring strike to give Fruitport a 12-8 lead with only 7:54 left.

A fumble and an interception kept Benton Harbor from even mounting a serious scoring threat afterward.

"I'm proud of the kids because they never gave up," Bergan said. "They'll still come back. They made some mistakes but we're young. The attitude of the kids is just great."

"It was unfortunate that the kids are used to losing. But they were used to losing in the wrong way. Now I think they will learn from this loss. We made mistakes but we're going to work to correct them. We'll be a better football team each week."

Bergan was especially pleased with the defense, which was forced to stay on the field much of the game. Fruitport ran 63 plays to just 37 for the Tigers.

"The defense was consistent," he explained. "They were great on goal line stands. They played inspired football. We were outweighed by 40 pounds per man but still held our own."

"We were in the hole all night again. Considering they were on the field all night, the defense did a super job. They played their hearts out. They didn't deserve to lose but they did."

"Some day, even if it isn't this year, Benton Harbor is going to make some breaks for itself."

Bergan singled out the play of James Williams. Keith Taylor and Alex McCoy on defense.

GARY BARTALONE

BY PAUL MORGAN
Staff Sports Writer

BRIDGMAN — If there is one thing Gary Bartalone knows how to do it's carry a football.

Lake Michigan Catholic's outstanding halfback gained a school record 324 yards in 30 carries and scored four touchdowns to pace the Lakers to a 31-14 win over Bridgman in a Red Arrow Conference high school football battle played here Friday night.

"Gary has played behind some fine running backs here, but now he is getting his," grinned Catholic's head coach Terry Rose.

"He has overcome a knee injury and the fact that last season he had to play a lot of defense and not much offense," he added.

Rose helped Bartalone change

his style of running a few years ago and it seemed to help the senior. "He used to like to punish people when he ran. Now he runs more to daylight."

Bartalone said after the game that he didn't realize he had so much yardage. "I didn't feel I

parts of the "Italian Connection," quarterback Mike Masini, and fellow running back Bill Couvelis. "We've been going with the fakes in practice and Bill and Mike worked their well," he indicated.

"The line did a super job tonight," he grinned. "And the downfield blocking was good. Everybody just knew what they had to do and did it."

Bartalone feels the Lakers, now 2-0 in the league and 3-0 overall, are starting to jell as a unit. "I think we've come together," he declared. "We're not a vocal team, mostly we just do the job."

Assistant coach Gary Boyce has the Lakers running up and down a steep hill at Kiwanis Park, Catholic's practice field, and Bartalone feels that this has helped the team. "A big thing is

Bartalone also sees this year's Lakers as a different bunch than last season's. "We don't have the talent this year like we had last season," he said. "But this year we have people that have unity."

Rose said he hadn't planned on running Bartalone so much. "I had no intention of giving Gary the ball that much," he said. "We were calling the sequence and not the back."

enough about the offensive line," grinned Rose. "They all did a heck of a job."

"I'm not disappointed with our kids," commented Bees' head coach Jerry Planitis. "The kids just got physically worn down. But they didn't quit."

Bob Linke and Bob Foster drew praise for their work on defense. Planitis was also pleased with quarterback Tom Meredith's play. "Meredith is a good passer and field general," he said.

"If we had a little more depth, it might have been different," he added.

The Lakers never really sewed up the contest until Bartalone scored on a three-yard run with 6:44 left in the third quarter to cap the scoring.

Catholic had scored the first two times it had the ball as Bartalone swept around right end for touchdown runs of 23 and 24 yards.

Bridgman, now 1-1 in the conference and 2-1 overall, then came back to take the lead as Jim Murray scored on a three-yard run near the end of the first quarter and Meredith hit Howie Mutz with a 30-yard scoring pass with 9:38 left in the first half.

The Lakers took the lead for good with 2:37 left in the half as Bartalone capped a 74-yard drive with a 12-yard touchdown run. Couvelis ended the scoring in the first half, going over from the five with 12 seconds left.

Couvelis added 82 yards on 14 carries to the Lakers 446 yards rushing. Bridgman was led by Murray's 62 yards in 17 carries and John Matthias' 56 yards on eight totes.

Planitis was impressed with Bartalone's running ability. "He is one of the best backs in the region," he said. "But Murray did a great job for us."

A big factor which hurt the Bees was an ankle injury to Mutz right after he caught his touchdown pass in the second quarter. "We could have kept a couple of drives going with him," Planitis moaned.

Sophomore Tom Claudon filled in for Mutz and did an admirable job under the circumstances.

"I knew he could make that one," declared Muhlenkamp afterwards when recalling Bock's winning field goal. "That was a chip shot."

Muhlenkamp, who now owns an impressive 75-24-1 coaching record, said he made a change in quarterbacks in the last quarter because regular signal caller Barry Coburn "was low on his passes" and because Ziebart "could throw the ball longer."

Ziebart came out passing when he took over, launching aerials on his first four plays in a march where St. Joe reached pay dirt by covering 66 yards in nine plays.

Big gainers were passes of 11 and 10 yards to Dongvillo, an 18-yard aerial to Taylor and a 22-yard scamper by tailback Dale Rupley on a draw play. Ziebart got the TD on a one-yard sneak with 6:05 remaining to narrow the gap to 21-14.

"We figure Pieczynski is one of the finest backs Fruitport has ever had," Trojan coach Tom Holden said. "His size, speed and desire are his big assets."

Pieczynski was forced to carry much of the Fruitport burden against the Tigers after running back Luke Furgerson left the game in the first quarter with a knee injury.

It was Pieczynski who got the Trojans on the scoreboard with 9:51 left in the first half, capping a 9-play, 48-yard drive with a one-yard scamper up the middle. The pass for the conversion failed and Fruitport held a 6-0 lead.

The margin held up until late in the third quarter. Fruitport moved to the Benton Harbor two where Trojan quarterback Steve O'Brien was stacked up inches short of the first down on a fourth-down play.

Lakeshore Finally Puts It Together

Posts 38-12 Homecoming Win

There's nothing like Homecoming to bring out the best in a football team.

That was the case Friday night at Lakeshore where the Lancers finally put it together in an easy 38-12 Blossomland rout over Dowagiac.

The victory was the first after two season-opening losses for Lakeshore, the preseason pick to win the Blossomland conference. The Lancers are still very much in the league race at 1-1. Dowagiac, another favorite in the Bud race, fell to 0-2 and 0-3, respectively.

"The kids finally started playing football," Lancer coach

Dave Topping said. "We wanted to score first and then keep our shutout as long as possible. We reached our goal in the first half."

Lakeshore, in fact, kept its goal until late in the third quarter, rolling up a 38-0 lead before the Chieftains dented the scoreboard.

Bob Harvey and Odell Brister were the big guns for Lakeshore. Harvey rushed for 156 yards in 13 carries, while Brister added 95 yards in 21 totes. Both scored a pair of touchdowns.

It was the play of the line, however, which pleased Topping the most.

"The boys were opening up holes and it gave Harvey and Brister a chance to run for a change," he said. "Mike Mason, Larry Toth and Mark Owen did a great job blocking and opening holes.

"This game sure can't hurt us. Hopefully it will get us on the right foot. It gave us the confidence we needed. The line is going to have more confidence because they know we have the backs who can run the ball. The key is that we have to have confidence in each other's ability."

Lakeshore completely dominated the game, rolling 355 yards in total offense while holding Dowagiac to only 89. The Chieftains were limited to minus-two yards in total offense in the first half.

Dan Wiennan, who rushed for 159 yards last Friday against Edwardsburg, was held to just 38 yards in 17 carries by the Lancers.

Lakeshore quickly got on the scoreboard in the first quarter, marching 80 yards in eight plays with Brister going the final 38.

Brister added a second touchdown on a six-yard run in the second quarter to make it 12-0, and Lakeshore broke the game open in the final two minutes of the first half and first minutes of the second.

Quarterback Kevin Campbell found end Tom Jager open for a 57-yard scoring pass with less than two minutes left in the first half. Brister ran for the conversion and Lakeshore held a commanding 20-0 halftime edge.

On the first play of the second half, the Lancers came through with the game-breaker as Harvey raced 55 yards into the end zone to make it 26-0.

Paul Freer returned an interception 35 yards for a score and Harvey raced 46 yards for another to make it 38-0 before Dowagiac could even collect a first down.

Dowagiac finally got on the scoreboard when Pugh ran back the ensuing kickoff 75 yards for a TD. The touchdown broke a string of 14 straight scoreless quarters for the Chieftains going back into last season.

Dan Wiennan's six-yard run late in the third quarter rounded out the scoring.

Lakeshore travels to Buchanan next Friday, while Dowagiac, off to its worst start since 1956, hosts River Valley.

Pilarski Leads Bobcat Victory

THREE OAKS — Brandywine finally got rolling in the second quarter here Friday night. And once the Bobcats got rolling there was no stopping them.

Sparked by the running and passing of Ed Pilarski, Brandywine ripped River Valley 34-0 to keep a share of the heads. The kids played a great first quarter."

The Bobcats finally got on the board with 7:44 left in the half when Pilarski found Mike Harris open in the end zone for a 20-yard scoring pass. From there it was all down hill for the Mustangs.

In all Pilarski completed seven of 11 passes for 146 yards and also added another 42 yards rushing.

Pilarski passed to Gus Mayo for a 35-yard touchdown with 3:50 left in the half to make it 16-0.

After a blocked punt gave the Bobcats the ball on the River Valley 13 the final two minutes of the half, Mayo went over from the one to give Brandywine a 22-0 halftime margin.

Tony Harris and Norm Hollins rounded out the scoring with TD runs of one and 11 yards in the second half.

Hollins finished with 74 yards in nine carries, while Mayo carried the ball nine times for 59 yards.

Rocks Hand Bisons Third Shutout

NEW BUFFALO — Berrien Springs finally got its offense in gear here Friday night.

Rolling up 401 yards in total offense, the Shamrocks blasted New Buffalo 37-0 in a Red Arrow football game.

The punt total was the most Berrien has scored since routing Watervliet 40-13 in 1956.

The Bisons, meanwhile, have now lost 20 straight, six away from the area record. New Buffalo has scored two touchdowns or less in 38 straight and has been shut out in three straight games and six of the last eight.

"They're a great football team," New Buffalo coach Max Burnell said of Berrien Springs. "They're too big, quick and strong for us. They're the best team we've played so far."

And Berrien never gave the Bisons a chance to get started, limiting New Buffalo to only 67 yards in total offense, all through the air.

The Shamrocks finally got on the scoreboard near the end of the first quarter on a five-yard run by quarterback Tim Sunday. Ron Harter's kick made it 7-0 Berrien.

With less than three minutes left in the half, Sunday hooked

Lakeshore Finally Puts It Together

Posts 38-12 Homecoming Win

There's nothing like Homecoming to bring out the best in a football team.

That was the case Friday night at Lakeshore where the Lancers finally put it together in an easy 38-12 Blossomland rout over Dowagiac.

The victory was the first after two season-opening losses for Lakeshore, the preseason pick to win the Blossomland conference. The Lancers are still very much in the league race at 1-1. Dowagiac, another favorite in the Bud race, fell to 0-2 and 0-3, respectively.

"The kids finally started playing football," Lancer coach

Dave Topping said. "We wanted to score first and then keep our shutout as long as possible. We reached our goal in the first half."

Lakeshore, in fact, kept its goal until late in the third quarter, rolling up a 38-0 lead before the Chieftains dented the score.

Bob Harvey and Odell Brister were the big guns for Lakeshore. Harvey rushed for 156 yards in 13 carries, while Brister added 95 yards in 21 totes. Both scored a pair of touchdowns.

It was the play of the line, however, which pleased Topping the most.

"The boys were opening up holes and it gave Harvey and Brister a chance to run for a change," he said. "Mike Mason, Larry Toth and Mark Owen did a great job blocking and opening holes.

"This game sure can't hurt us. Hopefully it will get us on the right foot. It gave us the confidence we needed. The line is going to have more confidence because they know we have the backs who can run the ball. The key is that we have to have confidence in each other's ability."

Lakeshore completely dominated the game, rolling 355 yards in total offense while holding Dowagiac to only 89. The Chieftains were limited to minus-two yards in total offense in the first half.

Dan Wiennan, who rushed for 159 yards last Friday against Edwardsburg, was held to just 38 yards in 17 carries by the Lancers.

Lakeshore quickly got on the scoreboard in the first quarter, marching 80 yards in eight plays with Brister going the final 39.

Brister added a second touchdown on a six-yard run in the second quarter to make it 12-0, and Lakeshore broke the game open in the final two minutes of the first half and first minutes of the second.

Quarterback Kevin Campbell found end Tom Jager open for a 57-yard scoring pass with less than two minutes left in the first half. Brister ran for the conversion and Lakeshore held a commanding 20-0 halftime edge.

On the first play of the second half, the Lancers came through with the game-breaker as Harvey raced 55 yards into the end zone to make it 26-0.

Paul Freer returned an interception 35 yards for a score and Harvey raced 46 yards for another to make it 38-0 before Dowagiac could even collect a first down.

Dowagiac finally got on the scoreboard when Pugh ran back the ensuing kickoff 75 yards for a TD. The touchdown broke a string of 14 straight scoreless quarters for the Chieftains going back into last season.

Dan Wiennan's six-yard run late in the third quarter rounded out the scoring.

Cass Beats Eddies In Bud Showdown

EDWARDSBURG — Cassopolis won the early-season showdown of Blossomland unbeaten here Friday night by edging Edwardsburg 13-2.

from Denny Lawson to Marshall Sinclair.

"It was a defensive game," declared Edwardsburg coach Ted Peak. "They broke two big gainers on us and that was what did us in right at the beginning."

"They are a very aggressive defensive ball club. They hit...they are very quick. Their defense is much quicker than I expected."

Hartsell finished as the game's leading rusher with 83 yards. Edwardsburg had a minus one yard rushing but got 100 through the air, with Steve Barella hitting 10 of 21. Rob Wilfert caught five of the passes for 69 yards.

Edwardsburg had one real opportunity for a touchdown. It reached the four-yard line in the first half, before being pushed back by a penalty and a loss on another play.

Edwardsburg got its two points in the third quarter when Wilfert tackled Lawson, who was trying to pass, in the end zone for a safety.

Cass had one other scoring threat, reaching the Edwardsburg 10 in the fourth quarter before stalling. The Rangers' Roy Brown tried a 38-yard field goal which was short.

Top defensive players for Edwardsburg, now 1-1 in the Blossomland and 2-1 overall, were tackle Mike Pace, nose guard Bob White and Wilfert at end. Pace and Wilfert each sacked the quarterback three times.

Skepticism Grows Over Retirement

NEW YORK (AP) — Is Muhammad Ali serious or does he have his tongue in his cheek again?

Who knows? As has often been the case with the pugnacious heavyweight boxing champion, only he knows for sure — and no one would bet on it.

There was considerable skepticism among the fight mob to Ali's cataclysmic announcement Friday in Istanbul, Turkey, that he was hanging up his gloves.

"I am skeptical," said James A. Farley, Jr., chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission. "He has said it before — now we will just have to wait and see."

Many of boxing's leading personalities were lathered at a midtown steak house Friday for a CBS preview of the Ali-Norton fight film and the place buzzed with speculation over the champion's true intentions.

Norton was there, still insisting that the officials robbed him Tuesday night.

"Sure, I was surprised when I heard the announcement," Norton said of Ali's voluntary surrender of the heavyweight crown. "I think he did it because I knew I whipped him. My manager tells me I am the people's champion now, anyhow, because most people thought I won."

The place crawled with entrepreneurs, the guys who get up the money and choreograph these multi-million-dollar ring spectacles. All apparently were saddened by the news from Turkey.

Ali's skills, unpredictability and personality have turned the once decaying sport into a skyrocketing bonanza. Ali wouldn't put on gloves again for less than $6 million.

"Ali has talked of retirement before," said Bob Arum, chief of Top Rank, Inc., which marketed the Ali-Norton fight to 300 closed circuit theaters and overseas. "Let's wait 'til he gets back to the United States."

Don King, who promoted Ali's ventures in Zaire and Manila among others, said he was convinced the retirement was genuine.

John Condon, publicist for Madison Square Garden, had this interesting version: "I am 100 per cent sure Ali is retiring. But you have to know the man. He will let George Foreman and Ken Norton fight it out for the championship and then he will come out of retirement and take on the winner."

"It would tickle his vanity to be the only man in history who won the world heavyweight title three times. I wouldn't put it beyond him. He is a fabulous man."

Back Keys Raiders

LAWTON — Dennis Warkentien rushed for three touchdowns and 228 yards on only 11 carries while powering Decatur to a 36-0 SAC victory over Lawton here Friday night.

Gary Krueger added the other two Raider TDs on 82 yards in 15 attempts as the winners added their league mark to 2-0 and overall record to 2-1.

Lawton slipped to 0-2 in the conference and 0-3 on the season while remaining winless against Decatur in SAC competition over six years. The Raiders have posted an 18-13 scoring edge in the series.

Trojans Blank Redskins

PAW PAW — Paw Paw is still looking for its first touchdown of the season.

The Redskins outgained Plainwell here Friday night in total offense but came away scoreless for the third consecutive week in a 16-0 Wolverine conference loss to the Trojans.

Paw Paw, 0-3 in the league and overall this season, has now lost 12 straight games over two seasons.

The Redskins posted a 214 to 197 edge in total offense Friday with senior halfback Raymond Gipson gaining 77 yards in 12 carries. They got to the one yard line once, but time ran out in the half before they could score.

Brian Arehart scored the first Plainwell touchdown on a 11-yard run. Doug Haase added the second TD on a five-yard run, and Dave Rantz capped the scoring with a 25-yard field goal.

Leading rushers for Plainwell, now 2-1 in the conference and overall, were Haase with 72 yards in 15 carries and Dave Gal with 56 yards in 10 attempts.

Paw Paw guard Mark Gregory suffered a sprained ankle in the game.

A's Blast Charlie Finley

KC Takes Pennant

The Oakland A's finally ran out of time, but it seems they'll never run out of wind.

Win or lose, the A's always talk — and they had plenty to say Friday night after losing the American League West pennant to the Kansas City Royals.

Pitchers Vida Blue and Rollie Fingers, two of Oakland's leaders, took out their bitter disappointment on Oakland owner Charles O. Finley.

"We didn't get any help from him," shouted Blue in the Oakland locker room after a 2-0 loss to the California Angels eliminated the A's from contention in the West.

Blue, who pitched brilliantly Friday night, hurled unprintable expletives at the controversial Finley and Fingers added his voice.

It appeared that the Oakland players were letting their frustrations all hang out after a long and bitter chase of the Royals that ended abruptly with Rusty Torres' home run in the California 12th.

That blast broke up a scoreless pitching duel between Blue and California's Frank Tanana and gave the division pennant to Kansas City. The Royals missed an opportunity to wrap up the West on their own earlier with a 4-3 loss to the Minnesota Twins.

In the night's other American League games, Boston whipped Baltimore 7-4; Detroit downed Milwaukee 5-0 and Texas outscored the Chicago White Sox 11-8. Rain washed out a doubleheader between the New York Yankees and Cleveland.

Carl Yastrzemski drove in three runs with a pair of singles and a tie-breaking sacrifice fly, giving Boston its victory over Baltimore. Yastrzemski improved his RBI total to 102, marking the fourth time in his 16-year career that he has gone over the century mark.

Reggie Jackson put Baltimore in front 4-3 with his 27th homer in the seventh before the Red Sox rebounded against reliever Fred Holdsworth, 4-1, in their half of the inning.

Tom Grieve pounded a pair of two-run home runs Friday night and the Texas Rangers routed the Chicago White Sox 11-8.

Jim Sundberg and Jeff Burroughs also joined the homer parade against White Sox pitching with each collecting a solo shot in the 13-hit Texas attack.

The home runs for Grieve gave him 20 for the year and 81 RBI for the season as Steve Hargan, 8-8, picked up the victory in relief.

The Rangers did most of their damage off White Sox reliever Francisco Barrios, 5-8.

The Rangers scored three runs in the fifth and sixth innings and iced the game with two more runs in the eighth on Grieve's second homer.

The White Sox scored two runs in the ninth on a run-scoring double by Lemar Johnson and an RBI single by Jim Spencer before reliever Nelson Briles halted their rally.

LAS VEGAS (AP) — "I've been in this position a couple of times," husky George Burns observed from his spot at the top halfway through the $135,000 Sahara Invitational Golf Tournament, "and I haven't been able to get it across."

"I hope I have learned from the experience."

Burns, who has led in the final round of two other tournaments this year but is still seeking his first title at the end of his rookie season, fired a six-under-par 65 Friday for a one-stroke lead at 132 after two rounds of this event.

Just one shot back at 133, nine under par on the 8,800-yard Sahara-Nevada Country Club course, were tour sophomore Bruce Lietzke and former Masters champion George Archer. Archer had a 66 and Lietzke a 67 in a rare, rainy day in the desert. A steady drizzle fell throughout the morning and the afternoon was marked by occasional showers.

Don January, Charles Coody and Mike McCullough were two shots back of the leader at 134.

Marcellus Easy Winner

GOBBLES — Lonnie Lewis and Kevin Rimes rushed for over 300 yards in leading undefeated Marcellus to an easy 48-6 Southwestern Athletic yards while piling up 119 yards on 20 carries. Lewis received a bruised thigh.

Rimes, a junior filling in for injured Steve Bradley, scored two second half touchdowns on runs of 5 and 32 yards. He ended up with 175 yards on 16 attempts. Other Marcellus scores came on a 4-yard run by Jerry Cornwell and a 3-yard scamper by Chuck Harris.

The lone Gobles tally came in the third period on a 55-yard pass from Jeff Price to Glenn Keeley.

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gary Nolan, the winningest pitcher on the defending world champion Cincinnati Reds, has a pet peeve.

"The only thing that bothers me is that it takes so long for a batter (after hitting a home run) to run around the bases. I just wish that when a guy hits one, he could walk straight back to the dugout."

Nolan, who scattered seven hits in beating the Atlanta Braves 5-2 Friday night, increasing his record to 15-9, has walked only 27 batters — three intentionally — in his 238 1/3 innings.

In other National League games Friday, the Chicago Cubs defeated Montreal 3-1. Philadelphia edged the New York Mets 2-1. Houston nipped San Francisco 5-4 and Los Angeles clubbed San Diego 8-1. St. Louis at Pittsburgh was rained out.

While Nolan was holding the Braves in check, Tony Perez was providing the Cincinnati firepower, driving in two runs, one with his 19th homer of the year.

Besides the home run, Perez hit a run-scoring double to move to within two runs batted in of his 10th straight season with 90 or more RBI — most by any active major leaguer.

Rick Monday slammed his 32nd homer of the year and Bill Bonham, with last-out relief from Bruce Sutter, threw a seven-hitter Friday to lead Chicago to a victory over Montrach.

Steve Garvey collected his 200th hit for the third straight season while pitchers Dennis Lewallyn and Charlie Hough combined to stop San Diego. Garvey is the first Dodger to ever collect 200 or more hits three years in a row. It was Lewallyn's first major league victory.

A home run in the bottom of the ninth by John Vukovich — only his sixth in the major leagues and his first since 1974 — snapped a 1-1 tie and gave Philadelphia its victory over New York. The homer pinned the loss on Jerry Koosman, 21-10, who struck out 11 and allowed eight hits.

Philadelphia scored its first run in the first on two-out singles by Mike Schmidt, Ollie Brown and Dick Allen, who was replaced in the fifth by Vukovich. John Stearns singled home the Mets' lone run.

A four-run rally in the seventh, capped by Cliff Johnson's two-run single, gave Houston its victory despite two-run homers by San Francisco's Gary Alexander and Gary Matthews. Houston's first run came in the fifth on a double by Ed Herrmann and Alex Taveras' single.

Lawrence Continues Win Streak

LAWRENCE — Lawrence used a balanced attack here Friday night to win its 12th straight Southwestern Athletic Conference game 36-7 over winless Martin.

The defending SAC champs were paced by the running of Jeff Queen and Kevin Triestram and

The only Martin score came in the third period on a 6-yard pass from Ken Vandenberg to Mike Buskirk. Lawrence is 2-1 overall and 2-0 in league play.

Hiller Wins Rare Start For Detroit

Hurls Four-Hit Shutout

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Here's today's baseball trivia question: What American League pitcher starts only one game every four years, and then only against the Milwaukee Brewers on Oct. 1, and comes through with a nine inning victory?

Try John Hiller of the Detroit Tigers. On Oct. 1, 1972, the lefthanded relief ace made his first start since before his 1971 heart attack and beat the Brewers on a five-hitter, 5-1. Friday night, 21 relief appearances later, Hiller started and allowed the Brewers four hits as the Tigers won 5-0.

"Four or five innings at most is the longest I had gone this year," Hiller said. "But I didn't even think about that. We were stuck for a starter and they asked me. This time of year it didn't really matter."

It mattered a lot to the Brewers' Bill Travers, who after a brilliant start of the season has finished his part of it with a six game losing streak and 15-16 record.

Travers carried a two-hitter into the seventh inning, when the Tigers scored all their runs. They came after second baseman Jack Heidemann fumbled what could have been an inning ending double play grounder and got only the out at second base.

A one out single by Mickey Stanley and a walk started the rally. After Heidemann mishandled Chuck Scrivener's grounder, ex-Brewer Pedro Raula's single broke the scoreless duel.

Garcia took second on the throw to third on the play, and Phil Mankowski's single made it 3-0. Marv Lane and Rusty Staub capped the inning with run scoring doubles.

Travers said he had thrown hard Friday for the first time since he was stricken with what he thinks was the mysterious Legionnaires' disease while in Philadelphia as a member of the American League All-Star team.

pounds and I'm only back to 180 or 187 now. I hadn't thrown as hard until tonight."

"I never thought I would have a losing season when I was 15-10," he said. "Now I still have never had a winning season. But I feel a lot better about next season. I think my arm is a little better because I pitched 100 innings in winter ball last year. Now I'm just going to rest it, and not even work all winter."

The Brewers, who played at a better than .500 clip during July and August but have lost 20 of their last 24 games, have to win the final two games of the season ending weekend series to better their .420 winning percentage of last year.

Bulls Release Chet Walker

CHICAGO (AP) — Chet Walker, the Chicago Bulls forward who sat out last season, has been declared a free agent by Commissioner Larry O'Brien of the National Basketball Association.

The action Friday by O'Brien means Walker, 36, can negotiate with any NBA club for his services. However, the Bulls must receive a player or draft choice from any club signing him. He also is free to sign with the Bulls if he wishes.

Governors Bet Playoffs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James Rhodes has accepted Pennsylvania Gov. Milton Shapp's wager on the outcome of the National League playoff between the Cincinnati Reds and the Philadelphia Phillies.

Rhodes matched Shapp's wager of a bushel of Pennsylvania mushrooms with a bushel of Ohio's Melrose apples. "It will be nice to have some fresh mushrooms in mid-October," he said confidently.

The best-of-five-game playoff series begins in Philadelphia Oct. 9 and then moves to Cincinnati.

The term "hot corner" was used to describe third base in an 1889 game in Cincinnati.

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

There are six undefeated teams in the National Football League but only one of them — Dallas — gets to play the Seattle Seahawks Sunday.

"Over-all, they're the best team we've seen," said Jack Patra, coach of the expansion Seahawks.

The Cowboys — mixing explosive offense, ample defense and luck — edged the Baltimore Colts 30-27 last week on a 32-yard field goal by Efron Herrera with three seconds left. That gave them a 3-0 record for the young season, giving them three more victories than Seattle.

The Seahawks are still finding their way around the NFL. Seattle has surrendered 98 points so far — only the New York Jets have given up more — and will have their hands full trying to keep Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach in check.

Staubach is coming off one of his best days as a pro, having completed 22 of 28 passes for 339 yards and two touchdowns against Baltimore.

Seattle will counter with lefthanded rookie Jim Zorn, who was cut by the Cowboys last year. Zorn hit 20 of 43 tosses for 284 yards in last week's loss to San Francisco. He also is Seattle's leading rusher with 99 yards on 13 carries.

In other Sunday NFL action, Oakland is at New England; San Diego at Denver; Philadelphia at Atlanta; Cincinnati at Cleveland; Washington at Chicago; Tampa Bay at Baltimore; Detroit at Green Bay; the New York Giants at St. Louis; Houston at New Orleans; Kansas City at Buffalo; Los Angeles at Miami; San Diego at Denver; and the New York Jets at San Francisco.

The Vikings blew open a close game by scoring three touchdowns in the third quarter. Besides Partee's four TD's, other Viking touchdowns were scored by Glen Wilken on a 27-yard pass from Toby Lewallen and a 78-yard scamper by Tyrrence Spencer. The Vikings rushed for 265 yards.

Detroit and Green Bay, 1-5 between them, both have had offensive problems. The Lions blew a chance to tie the Minnesota last week when they missed up an extra point. The Packers' passing game and running game were virtually non-existent against Cincinnati.

St. Louis will get a boost with the return of fleet wide receiver Mel Gray, who has caught 26 passes for 716 yards and 10 TD's in his last 10 games against the Giants. Gray has been out with a bad ankle. The Giants, 0-3, will be playing their fourth straight road game.

Running back Ronnie Coleman, who led the AFC in rushing after the first two weeks, will return to action for Houston after missing last week's game with a knee injury.

"We'll hang in there though," Hodgman said. Bangor is 0-2-1 on the year and 0-2 in conference play, while Mattawan is 2-1 overall and 1-1 in league action.

Mattawan held Bangor to minus-1 yard gained, while rolling up 130 net yards of their own.

Hodgman said Bangor linebacker Earl Borden has 18 solo tackles and 12 assists. Bangor, which relies mostly on its passing attack, was without its two receivers, David Sarters pulled a muscle during warmups and Bob Garrison sprained an ankle in the first quarter.

Two Charged With Arson In Cass Farm Fire

DOWAGIAC — Cass sheriff's deputies said they arrested two Dowagiac men Thursday on arson charges following an investigation of a fire which destroyed a barn last Saturday on the Stanley Pankauski farm near here. Officers identified the two men as Vern Smith, 38, Daily road, and Eugene Phillips, 18, 103 Hamilton street.

Bond was set at $10,000 Friday for both men in Cass District court. Assistant prosecutor William Grimmer said Smith and Pankauski had been involved in an argument last Friday night.

The barn was destroyed by a fire about 6 a.m. Saturday morning. Several pieces of farm equipment, including a tractor, combine, chopper and baler, were also destroyed in the blaze.

The barn was located on California road at Frost street in Cass county's Pokagon township. The Pankauski family house is next to the barn.

DOWNTOWN AREA

Bangor Sidewalk Project Gets Nod

BANGOR — The Bangor city council has voted to proceed with a $34,999 sidewalk replacement project in the downtown area.

Half of the project cost is to be paid by the city and the other half will be raised through special assessments on lots in the area to receive new sidewalks.

Prior to the vote, six property owners present at last night's hearing told council members they would not object to the project.

City officials said the work is to be done by Z.O.F. Inc., a construction company from Byron Center, the low bidder on the project.

Plans call for installing 10-foot wide sidewalks on both sides of Monroe street. On the south side, the new sidewalk would run from Division to Walnut street. On the north side, it would run from Division to 500 feet west of Center street.

City officials said the existing sidewalk is old and is cracked and broken in many places.

Republicans Oppose Holland Annexation

ALLEGAN — The Allegan county Republican committee has adopted a resolution opposing a Nov. 2 general election proposal to annex that part of the city of Holland in Allegan county to Ottawa county.

John Watts, an Allegan attorney who is chairman of the Allegan county GOP committee, said the annexation was proposed by Holland officials and is on the ballot in both Ottawa and Allegan counties.

Annexation of the area would take $300,000 annually in tax revenues from Allegan county, the Republicans said in their resolution urging a "no" vote on the annexation issue.

Holland is cut almost in half by the Ottawa-Allegan county line. Voters in both counties must approve annexation if it is to become effective, Watts said.

PAYMENTS HIKED

Medicare Patients Getting Bad News

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Social Security Administration has ordered a 19 per cent increase in the amount of money the nation's 25 million Medicare recipients must pay to cover their portion of hospital or nursing home costs.

The increase, which will go into effect Jan. 1, means any elderly or disabled person receiving Medicare will have to pay the first $124 of his hospital bill for any stay of less than 60 days. The current charge is $104.

It also means a recipient will have to pay 19 per cent more for hospitalizations of more than 60 days and for post-hospital admissions in skilled nursing homes.

The record hike follows a 13 per cent increase that went into effect less than a year ago. The portion paid by Medicare beneficiaries for short hospital stays now has jumped $32 in less than two years.

Social Security Commissioner James B. Cardwell said the hike was necessary to keep pace with hospital costs that have been rising twice as fast as the cost of living.

His administration is required to follow a federal formula each year in determining the future cost of the Medicare program to beneficiaries.

The American Association of Retired Persons said the increase is "evidence of the critical need for an effective national program to curb the exorbitant increase in health care costs for older Americans."

"They are the ones most in need of adequate health care and the least able to pay for these skyrocketing costs."

Crackups Hurt Trio In Berrien

Three people were reported injured Friday in two unrelated traffic accidents investigated by Berrien sheriff's deputies.

Deputies said Ralph H. Young, 56, of 2432 Rocky Weed road, Lincoln township, suffered a broken left wrist when a Michigan Bell Telephone Co. panel truck he was driving went out of control and struck a mound of earth off Rocky Weed road, near Washington avenue in Lincoln township. Young was treated and released from Memorial hospital.

The accident at 1:20 p.m. apparently was caused by a faulty tie rod that controlled steering, deputies said. No tickets were issued.

Robert L. Williams, 18, Box 36 Maple street, Glendora, and Kenneth E. Clark, 47, of 1359 Norman road, St. Joseph, were reported injured when vehicles they were driving collided on Cleveland avenue near Hinchman road, Baroda township about 7:05 a.m. Clark was treated for a fractured collarbone and released from Memorial hospital, while Williams chose to seek his own treatment for a bruised right leg, officers reported.

Williams was ticketed for driving left of the centerline. Officers reported that Williams said he swerved to miss an animal in the roadway.

Ex-Prisoner Sues Judge For Billions

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — A man who served in the Nebraska Penal Complex has filed a lawsuit in U.S. District Court seeking $8.1 billion from the judge who put him in prison.

Johnson contends that he was deprived of several constitutional rights when Judge Burke sentenced him to eight to 10 years for manslaughter in 1970.

The lawsuit has been assigned to U.S. District Court Judge Robert Denney.

Owner Remains Hot Over Free Winterizing Job

By MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

More than six months after Berrien County Action, Inc., (BCA) was to have completed a free winterizing project at his home, Hubert Gabbard is still not happy.

Gabbard says the anti-poverty agency still has not repaired damage to his house at 1332 East Napier avenue, Benton township, he claims was caused while the anti-poverty agency installed weatherproofing and insulation on his house last winter.

"It's like having someone volunteer to fix a flat tire on your car and after they're done, beat in your fender," Gabbard said.

But Gabbard's unhappiness with the job has left BCA officials equally perplexed.

"We've done everything humanly possible to please him," said Charles Shepherd, head of BCA's winterizing program. "We feel we have done him a service, but he has misconstrued what we can do for him. It seems he wants us to repair his house for him."

Gabbard's complaints and BCA's response were first aired in The Herald-Palladium Feb. 19 and 21. Since that time, BCA has returned to Gabbard's home, Gabbard has again complained to the BCA board of directors, and BCA has again returned to Gabbard's home.

Gabbard claims in the process of winterizing his home, BCA workers left staples in his window frames, damaged aluminum siding on part of his house, readjusted his doors so they no longer close and installed insulation improperly so birds get in the attic.

"My house is worse now than when they came in," Gabbard said. "If they never touched my house again, I'd probably be better off, but I don't want the next person to get the same deal, either."

Gabbard said his sole income is a monthly social security check of $210 and said he owes $290 before he has his house paid for.

"I'm not begging for anything," he said. "I just want them to come back and fix what they tore up. They've stalled and stalled and promised and haven't done anything."

Shepherd said Gabbard's complaint is the only one the agency has received since he started with BCA in November, 1975.

He said BCA exceeded the budget set by the state funding agency for the program on Gabbard's house. He said the agency spent 106 hours, $378 on labor and $83 on material on Gabbard's home and another $66 trying to rectify Gabbard's complaints. He said state guidelines recommend spending no more than $350 on each job.

Shepherd said the BCA board of directors will have to decide now what is to be done about Gabbard's complaints.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development has approved a $150,000 community development grant sought jointly by Baroda township and village. The grant is to be used for an administrator and rehabilitation specialist for housing improvement, acquisition, demolition and relocation and for sidewalk construction. Car-Pickup Crash Kills Ex-Hartfordite

HARTFORD — A former Hartford woman was killed and six other people were hurt in a two-vehicle collision on Red Arrow highway about two miles east of here yesterday morning, according to state police at Paw Paw.

Troopers said Mrs. Verna A. Johnson, 63, of Vicksburg and formerly of Hartford, was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. David Millard, Paw Paw, a deputy Van Buren county medical examiner.

Police said Dr. Daniel Glaser, a Kalamazoo pathologist who later performed an autopsy, listed the cause of death as a broken neck.

Mrs. Johnson was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Emil W. Johnson, 73, Vicksburg, headed west on Red Arrow highway at 9:50 a.m., when it was struck by a pickup truck operated by Emma Lee Evans, 22, route 1, CR-378, Bangor, police reported.

Witnesses told police the truck was headed south on CR-681 when the driver ran a stop sign.

Both vehicles were spun around and ended up in a field at the edge of the Van Buren county fairgrounds, troopers said.

Emil Johnson was listed in fair condition today at Watervliet Community hospital, according to a hospital spokesman.

Other passengers in the truck included Miss Evans' father, Edward Evans, 58; her son, Fredrick, 23 months; her brother, Robert Evans, 28, and his wife, Angeline, 26, and their three children, LaTanya, 21 months, Kerry, 3, and Gabriel, 2. All listed addresses of route 1, 38th avenue, Bangor, according to police.

Emma Evans, LaTanya, and Fredrick were all listed in fair condition at Watervliet, while Robert and Angela were treated and released, a hospital spokesman said.

Edward Evans was transferred from Watervliet to Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor, where he was listed in fair condition. Police said Kerry and Gabriel, who were riding in the back of the truck with Edward, Robert, and Angeline Evans, were not hurt.

It's NEWS TODAY In MICHIGAN

Del Rio Hearing To Continue

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court has refused to block hearings involving judicial misconduct charges against Detroit Recorder's Court Judge James Del Rio. In a terse order, the court said Del Rio did not make a strong enough case in his request that the court should stop the hearings. Del Rio, who is in a hospital for an undisclosed ailment, failed to show up for the opening session in Detroit. Del Rio is facing charges of judicial misconduct and has been suspended from the bench with pay, pending the outcome of the hearing. The charges of misconduct were brought by the state by the Judicial Tenure Commission, the bench's official state watchdog. They include judicial bias and harassment of witnesses, defendants and court employees.

Tenant Rights Bill Readied

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill to protect tenants from being evicted without proper hearings is on its way to the governor for his signature. The House approved the bill 80-3, agreeing with minor changes the Senate made earlier this week. Gov. William Milliken is expected to sign it, with the new law taking effect next March 1. Specifically, the bill bars landlords from turning off a tenant's utilities, removing his belongings, changing his locks or otherwise forcing him out of his apartment without a court hearing. Landlords who do such things without giving the tenant a hearing would be liable for a minimum of $200 in damages.

Aid For Part-Time Students?

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — If the state can come up with the money, part-time students at Michigan's private colleges could become eligible for tuition grants, under legislation approved in the House. The House voted 70-21 on a bill sponsored by Sen. John Otterbacher, D-Grand Rapids, that would extend tuition grants given by the state to part-time students for up to 10 semesters of undergraduate work and six semesters of graduate work. But lawmakers agreed that there is not even enough money to provide such grants for full-time students, let alone part-timers. They approved an amendment that would give first priority on the grants to full-time students, generally agreed to be those taking at least 12 credit hours a semester.

'Blues' Aim For Savings

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Blue Cross-Blue Shield has announced a program aimed at controlling the cost and volume of radiology and laboratory services ordered by physicians. John J. McCabe, president of the Michigan Blues, said hospitals will be required to set up a review system and establish the appropriateness of services. He said that based on standards of accepted medical practice and necessity, the hospital then will undertake educational efforts to get physicians to eliminate excessive or unnecessary services. McCabe said many of the services are currently ordered because of the threat of malpractice actions have encouraged doctors to practice defensive medicine.

Chrysler Hikes '77 Prices

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp., following the lead of industry price leader General Motors, is boosting car prices this fall by an average $320 or 5.9 per cent over comparable 1976 models. The No. 3 automaker said the increase on its 1977 cars includes an average $251 boost in base prices and $75 for options. The hike is nearly identical to the $338 or 5.9 per cent average boost previously announced by GM, and compares with a $310 or 5.1 per cent increase by Ford Motor Co. Chrysler raised prices a year ago by an average $178 or 3.4 per cent. Under the new prices, a 1977 Chrysler car will retail for an average $8,000, including options and shipping charges but not counting taxes and discounts offered by dealers. The average 1977 GM car will retail for about $6,250, and an average Ford for about $6,150. Chrysler said its new cars officially go on sale next Tuesday.

Road Wear And Tear Adds Up

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A new study funded largely by road-builders claims rough, rutted roads cost Michigan drivers over $700 million a year in extra fuel, tire wear and vehicle repairs. The typical Michigan motorist drives 3,907 miles a year on bumpy, broken pavement that inflates annual vehicle running costs by an average of $126.70 per driver, says the Road Information Program of Washington, D.C. A state transportation department spokesman said the organization gets its raw data from the federal Highway Administration and is funded largely from contributions from the industry that makes its money by improving old roads and building new ones. The Road Information Program, in a statement released in Lansing, said "nearly half" of Michigan's 37,084 miles of main roads are "so worn that driving on them costs an average of 9.3 cents per mile. This compares with 6.4 cents per mile on smooth pavement, the organization contends.

Waning Times For Moon

HELEN, Ga. (AP) — You just can't trust the moon for predicting weather now that astronauts have been messing around with it, say a couple of Georgia mountain men. "I used to rely on the moon pretty good, but they done knocked some chunks out of it and they might even have parked some junk cars on it. You just don't know," said Paul Westmoreland, who's spent his 78 years in the north Georgia mountains. All the other signs, though, point to "a doozy" of a winter in north Georgia, he said. "It looks like a long, hard winter to me. The shuck is thick on the corn and the cattle have heavier coats than usual," he said, adding that even hornets are building better protected nests higher than usual. Harley Brady, 82, of nearby Cleveland, disagrees with Westmoreland about the hornets as a sign of hard winter, but he did say the moon has been a problem since the astronauts tromped on it and brought chunks back with them. "It just don't seem to work right anymore," Brady said.

Neighbors Help Douse BH Fire

Benton Harbor firemen, assisted by neighbors, extinguished a blaze in a mattress in the back yard of the Irene McKenney home, 387 Pavone street, about 2:59 p.m. Friday.

Firemen said the blaze apparently was started by small children playing with matches. Neighbors pulled the mattress away from a nearby garage and were trying to put out the flames when firemen arrived. Damage was confined to the mattress.

City firemen at 9:36 p.m. Friday, extinguished a fire in a minibus, operated by Lynn Dunn, 15, who said the bike burst into flames in the parking lot of Mercy hospital. Dunn of 800 Weld street, told firemen he had mechanical problems with the bike. He said he poured gasoline into the carburetor and the fire started when he tried to start the engine. Extensive damage to the engine, seat and rear tire was reported.

Neighbors Help Douse BH Fire

Benton Harbor firemen, assisted by neighbors, extinguished a blaze in a mattress in the back yard of the Irene McKenney home, 397 Pavone street, about 2:59 p.m. Friday.

Firemen said the blaze apparently was started by small children playing with matches. Neighbors pulled the mattress away from a nearby garage and were trying to put out the flames when firemen arrived. Damage was confined to the mattress.

City firemen at 9:56 p.m. Friday, extinguished a fire in a minibus, operated by Glynn Dunn, 15, who said the bike burst into flames in the parking lot of Mercy hospital. Dunn of 808 Weld street, told firemen he had mechanical problems with the bike. He said he poured gasoline into the carburetor and the fire started when he tried to start the engine. Extensive damage to the engine, seat and rear tire was reported.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — A special squad of black undercover police officers has been created here in an effort to fight what Police Chief Mack Vines calls "black on black" crime.

Flint College Honors Reuther

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — For the first time in Flint history, a public facility will be named for a labor leader. The Mott Community College Board of Trustees has voted to name the college's career development center after the later Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers from 1946 until his death in an airplane crash in 1970. The building, formerly the downtown Sears store, was given to the school in 1972. It was remodeled with funding coming from the state and the Waters Charitable Trust. Officials said the center is partially completed and will be finished by January. Mott has more than 9,000 students.

Del Rio Hearing To Continue

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court has refused to block hearings involving judicial misconduct charges against Detroit Recorder's Court Judge James Del Rio. In a terse order, the court said Del Rio did not make a strong enough case in his request that the court should stop the hearings. Del Rio, who is in a hospital for an undisclosed ailment, failed to show up for the opening session in Detroit. Del Rio is facing charges of judicial misconduct and has been suspended from the bench with pay, pending the outcome of the hearing. The charges of misconduct were brought by the state by the Judicial Tenure Commission, the bench's official state watchdog. They include judicial bias and harassment of witnesses, defendants and court employees.

Tenant Rights Bill Readied

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill to protect tenants from being evicted without proper hearings is on its way to the governor for his signature. The House approved the bill 80-8, agreeing with minor changes the Senate made earlier this week. Gov. William Milliken is expected to sign it, with the new law taking effect next March 1. Specifically, the bill bars landlords from turning off a tenant's utilities, removing his belongings, changing his locks or otherwise forcing him out of his apartment without a court hearing. Landlords who do such things without giving the tenant a hearing would be liable for a minimum of $200 in damages.

Aid For Part-Time Students?

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — If the state can come up with the money, part-time students at Michigan's private colleges could become eligible for tuition grants, under legislation approved in the House. The House voted 70-21 on a bill sponsored by Sen. John Otterbacher, D-Grand Rapids, that would extend tuition grants given by the state to part-time students for up to 10 semesters of undergraduate work and six semesters of graduate work. But lawmakers agreed that there is not even enough money to provide such grants for full-time students, let alone part-timers. They approved an amendment that would give first priority on the grants to full-time students, generally agreed to be those taking at least 12 credit hours a semester.

'Blues' Aim For Savings

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Blue Cross-Blue Shield has announced a program aimed at controlling the cost and volume of radiology and laboratory services ordered by physicians. John J. McCabe, president of the Michigan Blues, said hospitals will be required to set up a review system and establish the appropriateness of services. He said that based on standards of accepted medical practice and necessity, the hospital then will undertake educational efforts to get physicians to eliminate excessive or unnecessary services. McCabe said many of the services are currently ordered because the threat of malpractice actions have encouraged doctors to practice defensive medicine.

Chrysler Hikes '77 Prices

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp., following the lead of industry price leader General Motors, is boosting car prices this fall by an average $326 or 5.9 per cent over comparable 1976 models. The No. 3 automaker said the increase on its 1977 cars includes an average $251 boost in base prices and $75 for options. The hike is nearly identical to the $338 or 5.9 per cent average boost previously announced by GM, and compares with a $310 or 5.1 per cent increase by Ford Motor Co. Chrysler raised prices a year ago by an average $178 or 3.4 per cent. Under the new prices, a 1977 Chrysler car will retail for an average $6,000, including options and shipping charges but not counting taxes and discounts offered by dealers. The average 1977 GM car will retail for about $6,250, and an average Ford for about $6,150. Chrysler said its new cars officially go on sale next Tuesday.

Road Wear And Tear Adds Up

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A new study funded largely by road-builders claims rough, rutted roads cost Michigan drivers over $700 million a year in extra fuel, tire wear and vehicle repairs. The typical Michigan motorist drives 3,907 miles a year on bumpy, broken pavement that inflates annual vehicle running costs by an average of $126.70 per driver, says the Road Information Program of Washington, D.C. A state transportation department spokesman said the organization gets its raw data from the federal Highway Administration and is funded largely from contributions from the industry that makes its money by improving old roads and building new ones. The Road Information Program, in a statement released in Lansing, said "nearly half" of Michigan's 37,084 miles of main roads are "so worn that driving on them costs an average of 9.3 cents per mile. This compares with 6.4 cents per mile on smooth pavement, the organization contends.

Waning Times For Moon

HELEN, Ga. (AP) — You just can't trust the moon for predicting weather now that astronauts have been messing around with it, say a couple of Georgia mountain men. "I used to rely on the moon pretty good, but they done knocked some chunks out of it and they might even have parked some junk cars on it. You just don't know," said Paul Westmoreland, who's spent his 78 years in the north Georgia mountains. All the other signs, though, point to "a doozy" of a winter in north Georgia, he said. "It looks like a long, hard winter to me. The shuck is thick on the corn and the cattle have heavier coats than usual," he said, adding that even hornets are building better protected nests higher than usual. Harley Brady, 62, of nearby Cleveland, disagrees with Westmoreland about the hornets as a sign of hard winter, but he did say the moon has been a problem since the astronauts tromped on it and brought chunks back with them. "It just don't seem to work right anymore," Brady said.

Fund Bar Ruled Dead

NEW JOB: Rick Holt has been hired as manager and salesman of aluminum siding division of General Building Maintenance of Benton Harbor. He previously worked for Blossomland Window Sales of Benton Harbor and prior to that was owner of National Beauty College in Benton Harbor. Holt and his wife, Sheri, live at 512 State street, St. Joseph.

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A provision in a 1954 Michigan election law that bars corporations from contributing to the support or opposition of a ballot proposal is unenforceable, says the attorney general.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said Friday that the 22-year-old campaign financing law does clearly prohibit corporate contributions on ballot questions.

But, Kelley said, recent court decisions "have cast doubt on the continued viability of this proposal."

Earlier this year, the Michigan Supreme Court, in ruling on a new political ethics law passed in 1975, upheld the right of corporations to contribute money toward the victory or defeat of ballot proposals.

The Supreme Court cited the right of the public to be informed, and added that ballot questions can affect "the assets, the conduct or, indeed, the very existence of a corporation."

Kelley's opinion clearly opens the way for corporate contributions to, for example, help defeat Proposal A that would ban nonreturnable beverage containers.

The opinion was sought by House Republican Leader Dennis Cawthorne, who said the League of Women Voters, a nonprofit corporation, wanted to contribute money to influence the vote on ballot proposals that will be on the Nov. 2 ballot, but was worried about the law.

Ball Sales, Profits To Set Record

BALTIMORE, Md. — Ball corporation will have record sales and earnings for the first nine months of 1976, John W. Fisher, president and chief executive officer, predicted this week to a group of financial analysts and securities brokers here. However, the company's third-quarter earnings will not reach last year's record of 96 cents per share.

Fisher declined to predict exact figures for the nine-month period or the third quarter, saying, "The third quarter is not yet complete and our numbers won't be ready from the auditors for several weeks."

The Muncie, Ind. based manufacturer of glass and metal containers, technical and industrial products and petroleum engineering and equipment products had sales of $198 million and net income of $7.6 million at the end of the first six months in June.

Fisher cited, as the cause of the decreased earnings in the third quarter, a reversal of year-earlier gains in the petroleum engineering and equipment line of business.

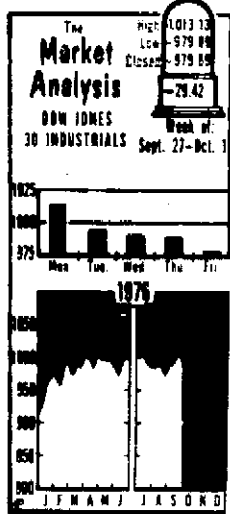

"Decreased drilling activity in the Indonesian area and an abnormally difficult start-up in our petroleum equipment fabrication plant in Natchez, Miss., have caused much of the decrease," he said.

He predicted continued strength in sales and earnings for the company, based on investment in a new metal container plant in Fairfield, Calif., and wide acceptance of new computer-related products in 1977. "These, coupled with our continuing strength in glass containers, existing metal container plants and innovative developments in our product lines, make the future bright," Fisher said.

(Ball corporation is the parent company of Ball Rubber division of St. Joseph.

National May Quit Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — National Tea Co., based in Chicago, says it plans to sell 63 of its Chicago area stores to the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. (A&P) for $22 million.

National Tea, which has suffered losses in the Chicago market since 1972, said Friday it also was considering phasing out its entire 100-store Chicago Division — including eight stores in Milwaukee, and others in northern Illinois and Indiana and a small part of Michigan.

The company, with 6,000 employees in the Chicago Division, was founded in Chicago in 1899, but now Loblaws Cos. Ltd. of Canada owns a large majority interest. In turn, Loblaws is 82 per cent owned by George Weston Ltd.

The company said its loss in the Chicago Division, which accounted for 38 per cent of total sales of $1.47 billion, was $15 million last year. The chain as a whole lost $5.95 million last year and $6.9 million in the first half of this year.

National operates 260 other stores in the Midwest and South. A&P acquisition of the stores would mark a strong comeback for the New Jersey-based chain, which closed more than 1,400 small and marginal stores around the country after it suffered a $137 million loss in 1974.

A&P's new president is Grant C. Gentry, a former executive vice president of Jewel.

National Tea was the top food retailer in the Chicago area 20 years ago. It currently is ranked third with 13 per cent of the market.

Apple Theft Charged In Van Buren

Van Buren sheriff's deputies said he was arrested in connection with the alleged theft Sept. 24 of 28 bushels of apples from Hilltop Orchards, Lawrence township, where he was formerly employed. Deputies did not list the value of the apples.

Boyer was released on his own recognizance pending the Oct. 13 hearing.

Foster Care Home Owner In Berrien Wins Reprieve

A temporary restraining order was issued Friday in Berrien Circuit court prohibiting the Village of Berrien Springs from enforcing a zoning ordinance against the owner of a foster care home. Judge Julian E. Hughes signed the restraining order which is to remain in effect during the pendency of a civil suit because, according to the order, "the irreparable harm which would result to the owners and residents" of the home.

The suit against the village and its officials was filed on behalf of Daniel and Jennie Cristancho, owners of the foster home at 382 Washington street, and Kenneth Casey and Mae Holtz, identified as residents of the home. The suit is the latest round of controversy about the foster home, touched off last summer when Cristancho sought a building permit to expand the home. The village council in September ordered the police department to investigate whether the home violates village zoning ordinances, since the village contends Cristancho is operating a commercial venture in a residential area.

Village ordinances call for commercial zoning when more than three people live in a foster care home, but Cristancho contends recent license rulings in Michigan classify adult foster homes as residential entities.

He previously said he cares for six full-time residents and one person on a temporary basis.

The suit asks for judgments by the court declaring the zoning ordinance as interpreted and applied by the village be declared null and void; a permanent injunction prohibiting enforcement of the ordinance; and an award for costs of the suit and any additional costs permitted by the court.

Four Ask Hearings In Berrien Court

Four persons demanded examinations and 16 were sentenced Friday in Berrien Fifth District court.

Those demanding examinations were:

Charles H. Bowman, 22, of 108 Quince drive, Benton Harbor, on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon without a license Friday in Benton township.

Bowman was also sentenced to fine and costs of $100 or 30 days in jail for use of marijuana. Police discovered marijuana in his car after he was stopped for a defective taillight.

Harry M. Gallias, 25, and Charles F. Chaffin, 32, both of Jackson, each demanded examination on a charge of possession of marijuana with intent to deliver Sept. 30 in Benton township. Bonds were set at $10,000 each.

Robert Williams, Jr., 20, of 557 East Main street, Benton Harbor, on a charge of resisting and obstructing a police officer Sept. 25 in Benton township. He was freed on a $1,000 personal recognizance bond.

Sentenced yesterday were: Robert Lee Petznick, 20, of Route 1, Box 119 C, Singer Lake road, Baroda, $100 and one year probation for use of PCP Aug. 6 in St. Joseph.

An accomplice, Randy Bowman, 18, of 1256 Blossomlane, Benton to wnship, was sentenced to 30 days in jail and one year probation for the same offense.

Eddie Hurst, 38, of 1050 Monroe street, Benton Harbor, 30 days in jail for creating a disturbance Aug. 30 in Benton township.

James A. Mashak, 35, of 5202 Jagar Shore road, Coloma, 30 days in jail and $100 or 90 days total for cashing an insufficient fund check under $50 July 22 in St. Joseph.

Reginald L. Williams, 21, of 1025 Pavone street, Benton Harbor, 30 days in jail for illegal entry of a house at 987 Pearl street, Benton Harbor, Sept. 25.

Simp Robinson, Jr., 38, of East St. Louis, $100 and six months probation for use of marijuana Oct. 1 in Benton township.

Gary W. Huff, 24, of 905 Wisconsin avenue, St. Joseph, 30 days in jail and $100 and six months probation for assault and battery against Jane Loomis Sept. 17 at Babe's lounge.

Sentenced for driving with a suspended license were Larry Hardin, 32, of 4293 Territorial road, Benton Harbor, five days in jail and $200 or 45 days total; Juan M. Briones, 20, of Austin, Tex., three days in jail and $71; and Ambrose Washington, 24, of 1135 McAllister avenue, Benton Harbor, six days in jail and $142 or 60 days total.

Sentenced for larceny under $100 were William H. Carson, 17, of 2708 Lake Shore drive, St. Joseph, $122 or 30 days in jail and Elsie V. Griffith, 51, of 2585 Empire avenue, Benton Harbor, $122.

The suits claim that Chappell, while pursuing the Cheatham car, "failed to operate either a red spotlight or a siren." The suit also contends that the chase was "only for a traffic violation which is not a felony or dangerous crime (and) that the only purpose was to secure the payment of a traffic violation."

The suits additionally contend Chappell was negligent because "a high-speed pursuit was not warranted" and he did not summon marked police cars to let the occupants of the Benton township when he spotted a car traveling at high speed. He said he followed the auto which turned onto Walnut and then ran a stop sign at Main, where the collision occurred.

Kin Seek $200,000 Damages From Officers

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON Staff Writer

Suits have been filed in Berrien Circuit court against the Michigan state police and a state trooper stemming from the death of two men during a 1974 police chase.

The suits, which seek $100,000 each, were filed on behalf of the families of John H. Lewis, of Benton Harbor, and Ronald D. Post, of Benton Heights. The two were killed when the top of the car in which they were passengers was sheared off as the auto slid under a truck trailer.

Named defendant, along with the state police, was Trooper Gary Chappell, of the Benton Harbor post.

Lewis and Post, along with the driver of the car, Ernest Cheatham, Jr., of Benton Harbor, died Nov. 15, 1974, when the car in which they were riding glanced off a pickup truck and then slid under a semi-trailer at the intersection of East Main and Walnut streets in Benton township.

At the time of the collision, Chappell reported he was patrolling Red Arrow highway in Benton township when he spotted a car traveling at high speed. He said he followed the auto which turned onto Walnut and then ran a stop sign at Main, where the collision occurred.

The state police post at the time reported it was not known if the three victims knew they were being pursued by police, since Chappell was driving a semi-marked patrol car with a police emblem on one side and no turret lights on the roof. The post said a red spotlight inside the car was believed to have been in use.

The suits claim that Chappell, while pursuing the Cheatham car, "failed to operate either a red spotlight or a siren." The suit also contends that the chase was "only for a traffic violation which is not a felony or dangerous crime (and) that the only purpose was to secure the payment of a traffic violation."

The suits additionally contend Chappell was negligent because "a high-speed pursuit was not warranted" and he did not summon marked police cars to let the occupants of the

Grant Spotlights Oil Shale

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state has been awarded a $1.9 million grant from the federal Energy Research and Development Administration to find a way to extract gas and oil from shale deposits.

Shale deposits on the Lower Peninsula contain at least 2.5 trillion barrels of oil, more than 60 times the nation's known crude oil reserves, according to current estimates.

Gov. William Milliken said Friday the research grant is to develop a way to extract the gas and oil by processing the shale underground, "by far the most desirable method from an environmental standpoint."

The grant will fund a proposal by Dow Chemical Co. and supported by the Michigan Energy and Resources Research Association, a nonprofit group made up of industry, universities and state government.

A research team for the project was formed by Dow and MERRA and is made up of researchers from the University of Michigan, Michigan Tech University, Wayne State University and the Environmental Research Institute of Michigan.

"Success in this high-risk, unconventional but potentially big-payoff project could substantially ease the energy crunch in Michigan and the nation," Milliken said.

In-the-ground processing means shafts are drilled into the shale, which is fractured and ignited. The gases caused by partial combustion are then retrieved.

The governor's office said the technique is cheaper and less damaging to the environment but is less efficient than the mining method.

Fund Bar Ruled Dead

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A provision in a 1954 Michigan election law that bars corporations from contributing to the support or opposition of a ballot proposal is unenforceable, says the attorney general.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said Friday that the 22-year-old campaign financing law does clearly prohibit corporate contributions on ballot questions.

But, Kelley said, recent court decisions "have cast doubt on the continued viability of this proposal."

Earlier this year, the Michigan Supreme Court, in ruling on a new political ethics law passed in 1975, upheld the right of corporations to contribute money toward the victory or defeat of ballot proposals.

The Supreme Court cited the right of the public to be informed, and added that ballot questions can affect "the assets, the conduct or, indeed, the very existence of a corporation."

Kelley's opinion clearly opens the way for corporate contributions to, for example, help defeat Proposal A that would ban nonrenewable beverage containers.

The opinion was sought by House Republican Leader Dennis Cawthorne, who said the League of Women Voters, a nonprofit corporation, wanted to contribute money to influence the vote on ballot proposals that will be on the Nov. 2 ballot, but was worried about the law.

Ball Sales, Profits To Set Record

BALTIMORE, Md. — Ball corporation will have record sales and earnings for the first nine months of 1976, John W. Fisher, president and chief executive officer, predicted this week to a group of financial analysts and securities brokers here. However, the company's third-quarter earnings will not reach last year's record of 96 cents per share.

Fisher declined to predict exact figures for the nine-month period or the third quarter, saying, "The third quarter is not yet complete and our numbers won't be ready from the auditors for several weeks."

The Muncie, Ind. based manufacturer of glass and metal containers, technical and industrial products and petroleum engineering and equipment products had sales of $198 million and net income of $7.6 million at the end of the first six months in June.

Fisher cited, as the cause of the decreased earnings in the third quarter, a reversal of year-earlier gains in the petroleum engineering and equipment line of business. "Decreased drilling activity in the Indonesian area and an abnormally difficult start-up in our petroleum equipment fabrication plant in Natchez, Miss., have caused much of the decrease," he said.

He predicted continued strength in sales and earnings for the company, based on investment in a new metal container plant in Fairfield, Calif., and wide acceptance of new computer-related products in 1977. "These, coupled with our continuing strength in glass containers, existing metal container plants and innovative developments in our product lines, make the future bright," Fisher said.

(Ball corporation is the parent company of Ball Rubber division of St. Joseph.

National May Quit Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — National Tea Co., based in Chicago, says it plans to sell 63 of its Chicago area stores to the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. (A&P) for $22 million.

National Tea, which has suffered losses in the Chicago market since 1972, said Friday it also was considering phasing out its entire 160-store Chicago Division — including eight stores in Milwaukee, and others in northern Illinois and Indiana and a small part of Michigan.

The company, with 6,000 employees in the Chicago Division, was founded in Chicago in 1899, but now Loblaw Cos. Ltd. of Canada owns a large majority interest. In turn, Loblaw is 82 per cent owned by George Weston Ltd.

The company said its loss in the Chicago Division, which accounted for 38 per cent of total sales of $1.47 billion, was $15 million last year. The chain as a whole lost $5.95 million last year and $6.9 million in the first half of this year.

National operates 260 other stores in the Midwest and South. A&P acquisition of the stores would mark a strong comeback for the New Jersey-based chain, which closed more than 1,400 small and marginal stores around the country after it suffered a $157 million loss in 1974.

A&P's new president is Grant C. Gentry, a former executive vice president of Jewel.

National Tea was the top food retailer in the Chicago area 20 years ago. It currently is ranked third with 13 per cent of the market.

Foster Care Home Owner In Berrien Wins Reprieve

A temporary restraining order was issued Friday in Berrien Circuit court prohibiting the Village of Berrien Springs from enforcing a zoning ordinance against the owner of a foster care home. Judge Julian E. Hughes signed the restraining order which is to remain in effect during the pendency of a civil suit because, according to the order, of "the irreparable harm which would result to the owners and residents" of the home.

The suit against the village and its officials was filed on behalf of Daniel and Jennie Cristancho, owners of the foster home at 362 Washington street, and Kenneth Casey and Mae Holtz, identified as residents of the home. The suit is the latest round of controversy about the foster home, touched off last summer when Cristancho sought a building permit to expand the home. The village council in September ordered the police department to investigate whether the home violates village zoning ordinances, since the village contends Cristancho is operating a commercial venture in a residential area.

Village ordinances call for commercial zoning when more than three people live in a foster care home, but Cristancho contends recent license rulings in Michigan classify adult foster homes as residential entities.

He previously said he cares for six full-time residents and one person on a temporary basis.

The suit asks for judgments by the court declaring the zoning ordinance as interpreted and applied by the village be declared null and void; a permanent injunction prohibiting enforcement of the ordinance; and an award for costs of the suit and any additional costs permitted by the court.

Four Ask Hearings In Berrien Court

Four persons demanded examinations and 16 were sentenced Friday in Berrien Fifth District court.

Those demanding examinations were:

Charles H. Bowman, 22, of 108 Quince drive, Benton Harbor, on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon without a license Friday in Benton township.

Bowman was also sentenced to fine and costs of $100 or 30 days in jail for use of marijuana. Police discovered marijuana in his car after he was stopped for a defective taillight.

Harry M. Gallias, 25, and Charles F. Chaffin, 32, both of Jackson, each demanded examination on a charge of possession of marijuana with intent to deliver Sept. 30 in Benton township. Bonds were set at $10,000 each.

Robert Williams, Jr., 20, of 557 East Main street, Benton Harbor, on a charge of resisting and obstructing a police officer Sept. 25 in Benton township. He was freed on a $1,000 personal recognizance bond.

Sentenced yesterday were: Robert Lee Petznick, 20, of Route 1, Box 119 C, Singer Lake road, Baroda, $100 and one year probation for use of PCP Aug. 6 in St. Joseph.

William Kokmeyer, 41, of 2910 Heatherdown, Kalamazoo, $500 and two years probation for conspiracy to obtain money under false pretenses from Jen's inc., Nov. 28, 1975 and Oct. 12.

The board also elected John F. Daly as chairman to replace Clifford H. Simmons, who announced his retirement. Simmons, 69, served as a member of the Hoover board since 1955, and as chairman of the board since 1957. Daly, 53, has been president of Hoover since 1968 and chief executive officer since 1972. He will continue to serve in these capacities as well as board chairman.

CAMPAIGN SWING IN U.P.

Riegle Sets Hectic Pace

By DONALD WOUTAT

Associated Press Writer
If it were Brooklyn, it might have been bagels.
But it was the Upper Peninsula of Michigan and might as well have been Finland, so politician Donald Riegle wolfed down part of a Finnish pasty. It's beef, potatoes, carrots, onions and rutabaga, and that's what they eat in the U.P.

"It's God's country," Riegle said of the countryside where the autumn colors were brilliant — but below average, according to local residents.
The congressman, who is running for the U.S. Senate, zipped through Marquette, Ish-pening and Escanaba on a hectic daylong campaign jaunt last week. It was the third U.P. visit of the year for the Democrat from Flint, and he said just being there makes him "feel better as a person."

That's what he said to a caller on a WUPY (that's "Woopy") radio talk show, just after taking some criticism of his abortion stand.

"Abortion — that's always the first question up here," Riegle said.
In six newspaper, TV and radio interviews, a speech to 200 Northern Michigan University students and at an Escanaba Democratic fundraiser, Riegle said:

"Michigan is in more serious economic shape than we want to admit... This is my family's 23rd election campaign... I'm personally opposed to abortion... Detroit today is a war zone... I'm sure your football team will go undefeated... I want to be your senator."
It was largely a "media blitz," Riegle's press secretary said, because that's the only way to reach the scattered U.P. population. And Riegle was buoyed by an aide's prediction that he would sweep all 15 northern counties.

The day ended just before midnight with a soft drink and a pinball game.

"I feel very good about today," he said. Five hours later he was shaking hands at a factory gate.

Pro, Con On Ballot Issues

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The November ballot proposal to ban throwaway beverage containers was endorsed and the proposal to limit state spending was opposed in positions taken by two organizations. The Michigan Commission on Services to the Aging went on record against Proposal C, which would limit state spending and tax collection to 8.3 per cent of state personal income. The commission said approval of the measure could lead to higher local taxes and to cutbacks in state services, which would tend to affect senior citizens first. Directors of the Michigan Council of Churches unanimously endorsed Proposal A, which would ban throwaway containers for beer and soft drinks in the state. The proposal to ban throwaway bottles and cans also won the support of Senate Minority Leader Robert Davis. The Gaylord Republican said the proposed ban would reduce roadside litter and reduce the consumption of natural resources.

ANOTHER STOP: Rep. Donald Riegle, D-Mich., exits from private plane at Lansing airport Wednesday morning, making another campaign stop after starting morning shaking hands at factory gate in Escanaba, Mich., at 6:15. (AP Wirephoto)

The children of Gerald Ford have expressed unhappiness at times about living in the White House. Do you think the Carter children would have a similar reaction?—Daniel Morton, Austin, Texas

● No, I don't. First of all, we have been sort of moving toward such a position for quite a while. The Fords were thrust into the position suddenly. They weren't as well-prepared psychologically as we are. Secondly, three out of the four children are married and would not be living with our parents if they move into the White House. So we wouldn't have the "goldfish bowl" existence the Ford children have had.

FOR MICHAEL LANDON

Why is your TV locale of "Little House on the Prairie" in Minnesota? I thought the Ingalls lived in South Dakota. —Edith M. Thompson, Midwest, Wyo.

● If the show stays on the air long enough, the Ingalls family will indeed wind up in South Dakota, as they did in the books. But the Ingalls started their adventures in Minnesota. We plan to follow the books.

FOR EILEEN FULTON, star of TV's "As the World Turns"

Since yours is an afternoon show, do you have any male fans?—J.B., Coshocton, Ohio

● Sure do. Since we go on at 12:30 in many parts of the country—the lunch hour—the show is watched by men in the garment industry, farmers and office workers. Truck drivers are big fans. I get mail from bus drivers, dentists, doctors and lawyers. In fact, 50 percent of my mail is from men.

FOR MRS. BETTY FORD

What is your definition of a liberated woman?—L.D.G., Alden, N.Y.

● One who is happy doing what she's doing, whether it's a job or as a housewife. It doesn't make a bit of difference—just so she inwardly feels that she is happy and she is liberated.

FOR BROOKS ROBINSON

Who are the toughest batters for you to play against, and which is your favorite stadium away from home?—Robert Cook, Bakersfield, Calif.

● The toughest hitters for me to play against are Mickey Rivers (Yankees), Frank Duffy (Indians) and Doug Griffin (Red Sox) because they are excellent bunters and you have to play them in very close. I enjoy playing in Boston's Fenway Park more than anywhere else.

FOR DODY GOODMAN, star of "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman"

Why do you think your show has caught on the way it has?—J.C., Rapid City, S.D.

● Hard to give an exact reason, unless it's because we talk about things that have never been discussed so openly before. The subject matter is frank and candid, and, without patting myself on the back, we perform well and handle each situation as we would if it came up in our own homes. Maybe we were in the right place at the right time—who knows?

FOR GENEVIEVE BUJOLD, starring in "Obsession"

How did you get your start in pictures?—M.H., Albany, N.Y.

● By selling my bike for $15. I used the money to pay for acting lessons.

FOR CLARENCE M. KELLEY, F.B.I. Director

Have the recent attacks on the F.B.I. hurt your recruiting?—Steven Banks, Rockland, Mass.

● Not at all. As a matter of fact, we have a very fine group of young people waiting in the wings to come into the Bureau.

FOR EARL "THE PEARL" MONROE, star of the New York Knicks

How did you get your nickname?—M.L., Dothan, Ala.

● In my senior year in college, Louis Overby of the Winston-Salem Sentinel dubbed me "The Pearl." I opened the season with big nights in four successive games, scoring 33, 68, 58 and 50 points. He called them "Earl's Pearls." That was 10 years ago, and I've been called "The Pearl" ever since.

FOR THE "ASK THEM YOURSELF" EDITOR

Please tell me about Jenny Agutter. I loved her in the movie, "Logan's Run."—M. Sheehan, N. Tonawanda, N.Y.

● London-born Jenny has been an actress since she was 11. (Her father was in charge of entertainment for Britain's armed forces—that's how she became exposed to show business.) You won't remember her childhood performances, but you might recall her being Julie Andrews's daughter in the film, "Star!" Twenty-three-year-old Jenny is not married. Her dates have not yet reached the serious stage because, as she puts it, her career and independence come first. She lives in a modest apartment near Hollywood's Sunset Strip and is unimpressed by the advantages of being a star. In fact, she doesn't even own a car, preferring, instead, to rent one. Right now, she's back in her home country making a new film, "The Eagle Has Landed." Her parents are proud of her achievements but wish their daughter would settle down and get married.

HOW YOUR MIND CAN AFFECT YOUR

Our Panel of Doctors Agrees About the Increasing Danger of Stress—And

By Diana Hunt

Stress can kill us. Brought on by any number of life changes, stress can lead to such feelings of helplessness that it can pave the way for diseases or death. As Americans, we've never been trained in mind control, although various forms of meditation are becoming increasingly popular. Physicians have not been trained to think in terms of prevention of illness, neither have hospitals. And many of our insurance carriers cover therapeutic, not preventive care. Consequently, we visit the doctor only after we develop specific complaints.

We interviewed five different types of doctors, and they came up with some surprising, sometimes opposing, facts. But all agreed that the health of your mind very much controls the health of your body.

Norman Orentreich, M.D.
Dermatologist, New York, N.Y.

Dr. Orentreich is clinical associate professor of the New York University Medical Center, president of the Orentreich Foundation for the Advancement of Science and director of the Aging Study Center.

Dr. Norman Orentreich makes it clear that our inner feelings can alter our outward appearances.

"There is no doubt that tension and emotional problems can cause physical disease," says Dr. Orentreich, "but it also works the other way. Physical disease can cause mental problems. It is not a one-way street."

"Because of the skin's obvious visibility to the public, people are conscious of how they look. This can play an intense role on the mind. We all know that tension can cause cold sweating or blushing, but because of anxiety, people will not only bite their nails, they might also purposely scar their face to make themselves unattractive when unable to handle one-to-one relationships." Sometimes true disease occurs, and it then becomes a crutch, Dr. Orentreich feels. He gives the example of a child losing his hair because of an allergy. This changes the constellation of his place in the family. He may become overly spoiled by all the attention and reactions of his parents. Lines in the face are "another reflection of one's mental state. We notice a relaxed face or a tense face immediately. 'The pull of the muscles on the skin can alter the face by imprinting permanent expressive lines,'" Dr. Orentreich explains. "We hear of the inscrutable Oriental because his face shows nothing. This is because he is trained not to show emotion; therefore, his face does not reflect the internal tensions or stresses."

Wrinkles are a result of too much sun, as well. "People feel they get a kind of life force from the sun, and there is a psychic interrelationship. If a person is tan, he looks healthy, so he feels healthy. But sun is damaging to skin. It leads to premature aging, as well as wrinkles and unsightly dark spots."

While Dr. Orentreich feels that some people enjoy being sick as an excuse not to perform, he cautions that one can overdo disorders thought to be psychosomatically caused. "You do a patient an injustice if you label him a neurotic—you must first explore every avenue."

Jacob Aranoff, M.D.
Plastic Surgeon, New York, N.Y.

Dr. Aranoff is affiliated with Mt. Sinai Hospital in New York, London Hospital and St. Andrews Hospital (England).

A former ear, nose and throat specialist, Dr. Aranoff has treated many patients with self-induced ailments.

"Frankly, at least 70 percent of my patients have psychosomatic symptoms," says Dr. Aranoff. "I would have patients with perennial symptoms of stuffiness, raw throat, sneezing, post-nasal drip, eyelid puffiness and so forth. The severity varies with the amount of tension the person is under. Often, symptoms are worse at night and in the morning because that's when people are most vulnerable. How many tensions and problems the person went to bed with determine how severe the symptoms are when he wakes up."

According to Dr. Aranoff, there are only three tissues which respond to tension: blood vessels, glands and the smooth (involuntary) muscles.

"I can tell from the membrane in the nose if tension or anger is causing the problem," he explains. "The normal color of the nasal membrane is pinkish. With anger or resentment, it turns red. With depression or fear, it is a violet gray."

Interestingly enough, 13 percent of Dr. Aranoff's nose-throat patients were under 10 years of age. Stress at home can cause nose bleeds, throat irritation and other problems. "I don't think psychosomatic symptoms have anything to do with city living versus country living. The problems are caused by things which occur everywhere—sibling rivalry, tension in marriage and so on. A child may react to the presence of a new baby, for instance, or he may resent his parents leaving him alone in the evenings. Blood vessels expand under stress and can burst. The child subsequently suffers from nose bleeds, and the parents can't figure out what is wrong."

No one can say why problems manifest themselves in certain areas of the body, but the most vulnerable spot often seems the target—the singer with hoarseness, the dancer with joint problems. Dr. Aranoff feels that extreme fear of a disease can make the symptoms of that disease appear. "One's father died of cancer of the larynx, and the son comes in suffering from chronic hoarseness."

Psychosomatic symptoms have to be recognized for what they are. He contends many unnecessary operations are performed, particularly those for the nose and tonsils. "The most common cause is lack of recognition that tension is the culprit."

HEALTH

What to Do About It

Lee Zawol, D.O.

Surgeon, Osteopath, Battle Creek, Mich.

Dr. Zawol is chairman of the Department of Surgery at Lakeview General Hospital.

As a surgeon, most of Dr. Zawol's cases are referrals. Not surprisingly, he feels it is detrimental to doctors' images to accuse them of performing unnecessary operations.

Dr. Zawol knows that tension can cause metabolic and related endocrine changes in the body and that continuing functional change over a period of time can cause permanent organic changes. When one is uptight, the blood vessels constrict and can produce changes in the vessels themselves.

Dr. Zawol sees depression as a common denominator in all of us. "We get depressed because we have difficulty coping with the problems of reality. If I can get a patient to talk about his problems, it's a good thing. I might find his taxes went up, his job is threatened, his wife is spending too much money, and the dog is pregnant. He is tense, and all he wants is to feel good."

Music, recreation or any avocation is beneficial in helping the body relax. Dr. Zawol feels, "Laughter, too, is therapeutic. It has an effect on the mind, releasing the body of tension. Work addicts are people unable to relax, and it will get to them eventually, like the young executive trying to get ahead; he's uptight, he's involved in the pecking order and the back-biting, and that produces tension. There's an adage worth remembering: 'Your problems are not important, it's how you handle them that is important!'"

Robert M. Giller, M.D.

Acupuncturist, New York, N.Y.

Dr. Giller is associated with Memorial Sloan Kettering Hospital and Brunswick Hospital Center. He is lecturing on "Alternatives of Western Medicine" at the New School for Social Research.

Dr. Robert Giller had not practiced long when he became discouraged with the defensive posture of medicine. He felt traditional methods of treatment were not effective, and so he dropped out and turned to Oriental theories and ultimately to acupuncture. New York was the second state, after Nevada, to recognize acupuncture and to license physicians to use that technique.

Dr. Giller is adamant concerning the inseparability of the mind and the body. "In Chinese medicine," he explains, "it is always body and mind together. Physical ailments can cause mental problems—if one is in constant pain one is likely to become depressed. By the same token, mental problems can cause physical ailments. Everybody is predisposed to certain weaknesses. Stress can be physical, mental, environmental or nutritional. It manifests itself in a physical form somewhere in the body—low back pain, migraine headaches, bursitis, neck and shoulder problems.

"I find acupuncture helps relieve muscular tension and allows the patients to relax and look at their mental problems in a new light. I then can discuss their problems with them, and, if I can't help, I refer them to someone who can." But the name of the game for Dr. Giller is preventive medicine, not having to cure ailments. What he would eventually like to see is children from grade school through university being taught regular health care. "If people listened to their bodies, they would be able to recognize the early-warning signals and take the necessary steps to prevent illness. As it is, people are merely treated as parts and organs, and you just can't get better that way."

Dr. Kenneth Grigg corroborated the relationship between tension or mental stress and physical disease. "There are several ways this manifests itself," Dr. Grigg explains. "Peptic ulcers, for instance, have been directly shown to be related to psychological factors. Mental stress causes more excretion of acid in the stomach, thereby physically causing the ulcer."

The two most common psychogenic symptoms, he says, are headaches and backaches. "Back pain often represents depression, but we don't know why."

Dr. Grigg pointed out that the mood of a person lowers his resistance to bacteria. After all, cold and flu germs float around us, but not everyone gets sick.

"The bacterial flora of the throat changes with the psychological state of the patient," he explains. "If a patient is depressed, he is more prone to a sore throat from the presence of pathogenic bacteria. No one knows the exact connection between the brain and bacterial resistance factors, but it certainly is a factor."

Even more striking is a cold occurring in a patient undergoing psychoanalysis when the threat of separation comes up, such as the analyst going on vacation. This situation reproduces the feelings that originally were experienced by the patient after a separation in childhood—the temporary or permanent loss of an important person.

"People react to stress in different ways," he believes. "They express themselves through certain target organs—that organ which becomes the target when psychological stress is present. Other physical symptoms related to stress are amnesia, hysterical blindness, paralysis and seizures. These generally occur following a severe psychological trauma."

"Dr. Grigg points out that the mood of a person lowers his resistance to bacteria. After all, cold and flu germs float around us, but not everyone gets sick."

There is often a family predisposition to certain illnesses. "There are also such things as anniversary reactions," continues Dr. Grigg. "People will have psychological or physical disorders on the anniversary of a patient's disorder and not be aware of the connection. A divorce may have this effect on a child, and on the anniversary of that trauma, years later, disorders may appear."

There you have it. Doctors across the medical spectrum in agreement on the ill effects of stress. And there is beginning to be a realization in our society that, in dollar terms, it is important for the mind to be as healthy as the body. Some insurance plans now have 80-percent coverage for up to $50,000 for psychotherapy. Originally the insurance companies felt that this type of coverage was too expensive. However, it has been conclusively proven that people who were in long-term therapy had a low rate of physical disease. Even though the original cost was high, the overall cost of health insurance was lower for the general population. Including psychotherapy in their coverage resulted in reduced payments in the long run.

The concept of dealing with the mind and body together is vital. Instead of courting ill health and merely trying to repair damage done to the body through abuses of overeating, excessive drinking resulting from continual stress, we should think in terms of preserving our health. We must learn to cope with the realities of life, even if it means lowering our expectations.

BURN AWAY FAT BY THE HOUR

...TURN IT INTO FLUID THAT YOUR BODY FLUSHES AWAY!

Yes, now you can lose up to 10 ... 20 ... 30 — even 50 pounds or more • without starvation diets • without grueling exercise • without ravenous hunger THANKS TO THE MOST POWERFUL REDUCING AID EVER RE-LEASED FOR PUBLIC USE WITHOUT A PRESCRIPTION!

SHRINK YOUR BODY'S FAT CELLS...
 TRIM AWAY POUNDS AND INCHES!

First came the ALL DAY cold tablet. Then the ALL DAY allergy pill. Now, from medical science comes the latest GIANT-STEP in the conquest of fat... this incredible ALL-DAY time-release capsule and fat-melting program, developed by a medical doctor... and guaranteed to work like nothing else you've ever heard about, read about, or tried before in your life. Because when in your life did you ever dream of a weight-loss method so effective, that without starvation diet, without grueling exercise, without gnawing hunger you can transform your body into the sleek, streamlined figure you've always longed for... even if at this very moment you are as much as 50, 60, or even 100 pounds overweight!

CONTINUOUS ROUND-THE-CLOCK ACTION ATTACKS THE BASIC CAUSE OF FAT BUILD-UP DAY AND NIGHT

Unlike every other weight-loss method that has failed you in the past, the COUNTDOWN once-a-day capsule and reducing program works in a completely different way. Not by pitting your will-power against some "inhuman crash diet". Not by wracking your body with torturous exercise. And most certainly not by the use of high-powered "speed" drugs that leave your nerves shattered and shot.

Doctor's New All-Day Triple-Action
 FAT-MELTER PROGRAM Works All Day To:

1. Transform fat into fluid and flush it right out of your system.
2. Attack the basic cause of overweight — overeating — and convert the food you do eat into burned up energy instead of into fat.
3. Break down those bulges of flab as you lose weight from your entire body... that up to now seemed impossible to budge... and force them to be consumed — oxidized — by your own body chemistry — without ravenous hunger — thanks to this thrilling new ALL DAY TIME-RELEASE FAT-FIGHTER PROGRAM.

COUNTDOWN with Mira-thene-12

Before starting this program, consult with your physician to be sure you are in normal health and your only problem is obesity. Individuals with high blood pressure, heart disease, diabetes, or thyroid disease should use only as directed by a physician. As a matter of fact, we urge you to show this entire program to your own family physician and see if he doesn't agree that this is a medically sound approach to the problem of obesity.

Instead, this NEW TOTAL APPROACH TO TOTAL SLIMNESS actually helps shrink the fat cells in your body ALL 24 HOURS A DAY... even while you sleep. Yes, literally burns and oxidizes those bulging pockets of flab as you lose weight — all over your body — as it melts down into liquid that your body flushes away daily, in a completely natural, gentle manner.

And it's all so easy with this wondrous ALL-DAY CAPSULE that helps set the stage for the fat-burning process to be triggered into action.

A DOCTOR EXPLAINS...

No matter how many fad and crash diets you've run through in the past... there is only one effective weight-loss method known to medical science. It is simply this: in order to burn off fat there are 2 things you must do.

1. You must decelerate the rate of calorie intake. 2. You must step up your body's rate of fat burn-off just like you step up a furnace, so that you actually convert the food you do eat into burned-up energy instead of into piled-up fat.

And this is precisely why COUNTDOWN is so effective. Because the moment you launch yourself on this doctor's "Lifetime Slimness" program, here's what happens in your body:

1. Gnawing hunger pangs disappear as tiny grains of the most powerful reducing aid ever released for public use without a prescription are gradually released into your system to constantly calm your appetite and help you decelerate your body's caloric intake.
2. The food you do eat on this doctor's fully satisfying eating program instead of being stored up as fat, is now converted into a source of energy that your body burns away.
3. And even though you may lose as much as 20, 30, 50 pounds OR MORE... you never miss a meal... never deny yourself sensible snacks and desserts... never for a single moment starve yourself the very least bit.

NOW! ALL THE ECSTASY OF SLIMNESS WITHOUT THE AGONY OF HUNGER!

That's because with the COUNTDOWN no-hunger way to slimness, you arm yourself with the most modern and effective way to weight control known to medical science: This medical doctor's all-out assault and VICTORY OVER FAT BUILD-UP... due to excess calorie intake and lack of fast calorie burn-off (the basic cause of overweight). The COUNTDOWN once-a-day, continuous action, time-release capsule and program works all the time... all day... Transforms your body fat into "flush-away liquids"... it is by far the easiest, most pleasant way to achieve that slim, trim body of your dreams.

WORKS SO FAST YOU START TO GROW SLIM IN JUST DAYS — IN FACT, EVEN WHILE YOU SLEEP!

Best of all, not once are you asked to pit your hunger against a cast-iron willpower. All you are asked to do is simply this: Take one of these new ALL-DAY time-release capsules each morning... then following the doctor's satisfying eating program and his simple nightly bedtime tonics (that are actually fun to do), you literally eat your way to slimness as you shed pounds and inches like never before.

Naturally, you can't expect to gorge and stuff yourself silly on all sorts of over-rich, high-fat foods... and in unlimited quantities. BUT — and this is the whole key to success — if you will simply replace all those zany, half-baked fad diets of the past with this high-powered ALL-DAY capsule and this doctor's sane, satisfying eating program... YOU without gnawing hunger... YOU without grueling exercise can lose up to 10 — 20 — 30 — even 50 pounds OR MORE thanks to the latest, most effective doctor-developed ONCE-A-DAY reducing program in AMERICA... COUNTDOWN with Mira-thene-12.

SEE DRAMATIC RESULTS IN JUST 72 HOURS... OR IT COSTS YOU NOTHING!

JUST ONE CAPSULE A DAY HELPS YOU DISSOLVE FAT AWAY as this doctor's 3-way action program

- breaks down bulging pockets of fat while it burns away fatty tissues from your entire body
- shrinks your body's fat cells
- turns fat into liquid that your body drains away

Yes, you step up fat burn-off as you decelerate calorie intake... meaning pounds and inches melt away starting in just days!

So effective you'll lose up to 6 pounds of fat and fluid the very first 72 hours!

OUR "TV" CELEBRITY POLL WINNER

PAUL MICHAEL ("STARKY") GLASER

"Isn't It Nice... All
The Ladies Being
So Attentive to Me?"

By Peer J. Oppenheimer

It was the hottest day of the year as Paul Michael Glaser was hunched over the coffee table fixing my cantankerous tape recorder. We were in his dressing trailer in downtown Los Angeles, where he was on location for another episode of "Starky and Hutch." Paul—who plays Starky—will soon be seen in the title role of the TV movie, "The Great Houdini."

FAMILY WEEKLY: Let me ask you some "how" questions: How do you feel about being chosen by almost 40,000 FAMILY WEEKLY readers as the most popular TV actor after only one season on television?

GLASER: It feels pretty good!

FW: How do you feel about doing your television series?

GLASER: I have mixed feelings about that. Actually, I have mixed feelings about everything. But the series is a good challenge. At times it feels very Glaser—in the limelight but still searching for love...

GLASER: I went to two colleges—Tulane University in New Orleans as an undergraduate, then Boston University. [Paul received his master's degree in Fine Arts at Boston University.]

FW: And what did you study?

GLASER: Mostly theater. I wanted to direct.

FW: Do you feel you are making decisions today on a more deliberate, more calculating basis?

GLASER: I suppose you could say that. Actually, I am experiencing a greater self-awareness, a greater knowledge of not who I am, but what and how I am. I find the greatest problem in existing in this life is to strive to become something we think we should be, or something we want to be. We spend a lot of energy in finding out who we are. I am trying to spend more time finding out how I am—how do I feel, how do I operate, how do I exist, how does myself work? I am trying to relieve myself of those judgments which qualitatively cause me to evaluate myself in terms of what I want to be and what I like to be.

FW: How do you feel about your career at this point?

GLASER: It's getting easier and easier, but television is a producer's medium. It's a soap seller. They take you and put you up there, and you're cardboard before you know it. And it's just too easy to let that happen. The great struggle is to live in a moment, acquire that great balance where the pressure doesn't get to you, and I can do what I want—which is to work for my craft.

tedious and very exhausting, but it's exciting.

FW: What would you do if it ended?

GLASER: Go into films as an actor, direct and produce—to realize as many creative outlets as possible.

FW: How are you getting along with your partner in the series?

GLASER: We have a marvelous relationship, and that really speaks for itself in the show. I don't believe that's something you can fake.

FW: When did you decide what you wanted to be?

GLASER: I don't believe anyone ever really decides when he'll be this or that. There is just a time in your life when you realize you are heading in a certain direction.

OUR "TV" CELEBRITY POLL WINNER

PAUL MICHAEL ("STARKY") GLASER

"Isn't It Nice... All
The Ladies Being
So Attentive to Me?"

By Peer J. Oppenheimer

It was the hottest day of the year as Paul Michael Glaser was hunched over the coffee table fixing my cantankerous tape recorder. We were in his dressing trailer in downtown Los Angeles, where he was on location for another episode of "Starky and Hutch." Paul—who plays Starky—will soon be seen in the title role of the TV movie, "The Great Houdini."

FAMILY WEEKLY: Let me ask you some "how" questions: How do you feel about being chosen by almost 40,000 FAMILY WEEKLY readers as the most popular TV actor after only one season on television?

GLASER: It feels pretty good!

FW: How do you feel about doing your television series?

GLASER: I have mixed feelings about that. Actually, I have mixed feelings about everything. But the series is a good challenge. At times it feels very Glaser—in the limelight but still searching for love...

GLASER: I went to two colleges—Tulane University in New Orleans as an undergraduate, then Boston University. [Paul received his master's degree in Fine Arts at Boston University.]

FW: And what did you study?

GLASER: Mostly theater. I wanted to direct.

FW: Do you feel you are making decisions today on a more deliberate, more calculating basis?

FW: How do you keep fit?

GLASER: I run every morning for a couple of miles, play tennis when I can on weekends and swim and work out as much as possible in between.

FW: You are 33—and still a bachelor—how do you feel about marriage?

GLASER: I think marriage can be a beautiful thing—it will come to me when the time is right.

FW: Does that mean you have too much fun being single or that you haven't found anyone you'd like to be married to?

GLASER: Let's say I'm getting less afraid of making a commitment.

FW: Where is home?

GLASER: In the Hollywood Hills. I'm in the process of remodeling my house, and I'm doing all of that before we move in. I imagine I'll have someone take care of the grounds. I work incredible hours, so I won't have time, and my lady doesn't have time to do it, either.

FW: You referred to "your lady"—what does she do?

GLASER: Elizabeth is a schoolteacher. She teaches children between the ages of 6 and 9 in a school for special education.

FW: How did you meet her?

GLASER: We were each driving down Santa Monica Boulevard. I smiled at her, and she smiled at me; then I pulled over to the side, and so did she. . . . Then I asked her for a date, and she accepted. That was over a year ago.

FW: Before you started in the series?

GLASER: I'd finished the pilot, but the show hadn't gone on the air.

FW: Is there any pressure on your relationship now that you are a star?

GLASER: I indulge myself to the degree that I allow myself to say, "Isn't it nice . . . all the ladies being so attentive to me?" Of course, Elizabeth has to deal with her fears, but other than that, things work out very well for us.

FW: Is Paul Michael Glaser your real name?

GLASER: Paul and Glaser are my real names, but I became Michael for a time because there was another Paul Glaser. When he died, I tacked the Paul back to become Paul Michael Glaser.

FW: Do you have any brothers and sisters?

GLASER: Two sisters. Both were married, one is now divorced. The oldest one lives in Boston, is married to a psychiatrist. The other one has lived in France for the last 15 years. She trains horses. I'm the baby of the family.

FW: As the youngest, and the only boy, were you spoiled?

GLASER: Spoiled rotten. I was a brat. I wasn't aware of what I was like then in terms of how other people saw me, and the word brat is a judgment anyway. What I should say is I was a very angry kid.

FW: Why were you angry?

GLASER: Try the world! One of the motivations for someone's becoming an actor could be the fact that he wants love and attention and the limelight. So put two and two together, and you get a person who wasn't getting that, was plenty irked and found that the only way to get it was to express that anger.

FW: But you came from a family which was able to do much for you since they were well-off financially. . . .

GLASER: Money doesn't mean anything! As a matter of fact, the more money the kid has, the more the kid's parents are out there busting their chops to get those things for the kid, while the one ingredient the kid needs most is love.

FW: You mean you felt you didn't have

"We were each driving down Santa Monica Boulevard. I smiled at her, and she smiled at me; I pulled over to the side, and so did she. . . . Then I asked her for a date, and she accepted."

enough love?

GLASER: Yeah, I felt it. Very much so.

FW: Did you ever get over that feeling?

GLASER: That's what I am struggling to do. That's why I'm an actor. Trying to find out who I really am so Paul Michael Glaser can love Paul Michael Glaser.

FW: Have you had many close friends in your life?

GLASER: No. Never.

FW: Do you think you are at fault?

GLASER: Nobody's at fault. That's just the way it worked.

FW: I read that you said you were brought up in a "golden ghetto." What did you mean by that?

GLASER: I referred to an upper-middle-class Jewish community. A ghetto that has all the "gilt" as well as all the "guilt." But I never looked at myself as well-off, even though I was guilty of a good degree of snobbishness. When I was a kid, that was the way I felt about my status in the community: I had this and the other person didn't. But the older I got and the more pain I had, the more I realized all those things didn't really add up to anything.

FW: What was the first money you earned?

GLASER: I did a lot of odd jobs—a back-up chef, an asphalt construction worker, time keeper, assistant engineer. I mowed lawns, all those things. My parents put great emphasis on my arsenal of spare time—I was not allowed to sit around and just gaze at the wall.

FW: Do you still live that way today?

GLASER: I am trying to get to the point where I can enjoy coming home as Paul Michael Glaser and contemplating what a beautiful thing life is.

"This Quarterback is No Dummy"

"We never used a chain saw before today.
Homelite put us in control."

None of these seven people had ever handled a chain saw before. So we gave each person a different Homelite® and told them to start cutting. It proved our point: anyone can be in control with a Homelite.

Homelite chain saws are designed with control in mind. They're lightweight, precision balanced. They all have solid, comfortable grips. And they're the only chain saws with the exclusive new SAFE-T-TIP™. With SAFE-T-TIP in place, a Homelite can't kick back—and you're protected against the most serious loss of control in a chain saw.

Kickback occurs when the nose of the saw hits a solid object. But the new SAFE-T-TIP shields the nose and chain. So kickback cannot occur. The SAFE-T-TIP also keeps the nose from hitting dirt, stones and obstructions that can dull or damage the chain. You get easier cutting with less need to sharpen or replace the chain.

Whether you're a first timer or an old timer, you're in control with a Homelite. You can cut down trees, trim limbs, clear brush and cut firewood—quickly, easily, efficiently. Your Homelite Dealer has the widest selection anywhere, from the economical XL®, to the SXL-Automatic. And with over 12,000 Homelite Dealers coast to coast, you're sure of fast, efficient service—and a wide range of parts and accessories—wherever you live.

Homelite Division of Textron Inc.

You're in control with Homelite.

Terry Bradshaw, who expects to lead his Pittsburgh Steelers to their third straight Super Bowl championship this season, laid to rest the false story that he was "too dumb" to be a successful quarterback, when he struck gold in last January's Bowl competition. The "dummy" image had its origin in the fact that Bradshaw, a native of Shreveport, La., went to little-known Louisiana Tech instead of Louisiana State, loved country music and seemed to sports writers to be a "big, blond hick from the backwoods." "I had a bellyful of being called a 'dummy,' and I hope that image is never brought up again," says the 27-year-old quarterback. Bradshaw's field generalship, as well as his outstanding passing ability, has been a key factor in the Steelers' triumphs. Unlike some other quarterbacks, he doesn't depend on the coach to send in plays but calls almost all of them himself. "The story that he's not a thinking quarterback was a bad rap and completely unfounded," says Pittsburgh coach Chuck Noll. Bradshaw has been a success not only in football, but also in running a 480-acre cattle ranch in his native Louisiana. And this year he wooed and married 25-year-old Jo Jo Starbuck, the lovely blond star of the "Ice Capades," who skated for the U.S. in the 1968 and 1972 Olympics. Jo Jo is giving up her ice-skating career and nearly $100,000 in annual income to be with her husband.

According to his father, the Steelers quarterback was blessed with an "arm like a cannon." When he was only 5 years old, he could throw a baseball 40 feet at a target only six inches in diameter. His first sport was baseball, but he switched to football when he was 11. "He used to hang a five-gallon bucket off a swing set, and every afternoon he'd go out and throw footballs at it," the elder Bradshaw recalls. "In the course of one summer, he wore out two footballs and four buckets." Bradshaw was drafted No. 1 by Pittsburgh in 1970, but had rookie jitters the first year and did not live up to his advance billing. But as he gained professional maturity, he took command and clinched the role of No.-1 field general. The Steelers' 1975 Super Bowl victory marked the first time in 42 years that the Pittsburgh team won the championship of the pro-football world. After their repeat in 1976, the Steelers ranked with the all-time top teams of the sport. The 1976 triumph was highlighted by Bradshaw's dramatic 64-yard touchdown pass, thrown a second before he was knocked cold by a defensive player for the Dallas Cowboys.

"This Quarterback is No Dummy"

"We never used a chain saw before today. Homelite put us in control."

None of these seven people had ever handled a chain saw before. So we gave each person a different Homelite® and told them to start cutting. It proved our point: anyone can be in control with a Homelite.

Homelite chain saws are designed with control in mind. They're lightweight, precision balanced. They all have solid, comfortable grips. And they're the only chain saws with the exclusive new SAFE-T-TIP.™ With SAFE-T-TIP in place, a Homelite can't kick back—and you're protected against the most serious loss of control in a chain saw.

Kickback occurs when the nose of the saw hits a solid object. But the new SAFE-T-TIP shields the nose and chain. So kickback cannot occur. The SAFE-T-TIP also keeps the nose from hitting dirt, stones and obstructions that can dull or damage the chain. You get easier cutting with less need to sharpen or replace the chain.

Whether you're a first timer or an old timer, you're in control with a Homelite. You can cut down trees, trim limbs, clear brush and cut firewood—quickly, easily, efficiently. Your Homelite Dealer has the widest selection anywhere, from the economical XL, to the SXL-Automatic. And with over 12,000 Homelite Dealers coast to coast, you're sure of fast, efficient service—and a wide range of parts and accessories—wherever you live.

HOMELITE TEXTRON

You're in control with Homelite.

Terry Bradshaw, who expects to lead his Pittsburgh Steelers to their third straight Super Bowl championship this season, laid to rest the false story that he was "too dumb" to be a successful quarterback, when he struck gold in last January's Bowl competition. The "dummy" image had its origin in the fact that Bradshaw, a native of Shreveport, La., went to little-known Louisiana Tech instead of Louisiana State, loved country music and seemed to sports writers to be a "big, blond hick from the backwoods." "I had a bellyful of being called a 'dummy,' and I hope that image is never brought up again," says the 27-year-old quarterback. Bradshaw's field generalship, as well as his outstanding passing ability, has been a key factor in the Steelers' triumphs. Unlike some other quarterbacks, he doesn't depend on the coach to send in plays but calls almost all of them himself. "The story that he's not a thinking quarterback was a bad rap and completely unfounded," says Pittsburgh coach Chuck Noll. Bradshaw has been a success not only in football, but also in running a 480-acre cattle ranch in his native Louisiana. And this year he wooed and married 25-year-old Jo Jo Starbuck, the lovely blond star of the "Ice Capades," who skated for the U.S. in the 1968 and 1972 Olympics. Jo Jo is giving up her ice-skating career and nearly $100,000 in annual income to be with her husband.

According to his father, the Steelers quarterback was blessed with an "arm like a cannon." When he was only 5 years old, he could throw a baseball 40 feet at a target only six inches in diameter. His first sport was baseball, but he switched to football when he was 11. "He used to hang a five-gallon bucket off a swing set, and every afternoon he'd go out and throw footballs at it," the elder Bradshaw recalls. "In the course of one summer, he wore out two footballs and four buckets." Bradshaw was drafted No. 1 by Pittsburgh in 1970, but had rookie jitters the first year and did not live up to his advance billing. But as he gained professional maturity, he took command and clinched the role of No.-1 field general. The Steelers' 1975 Super Bowl victory marked the first time in 42 years that the Pittsburgh team won the championship of the pro-football world. After their repeat in 1976, the Steelers ranked with the all-time top teams of the sport. The 1976 triumph was highlighted by Bradshaw's dramatic 64-yard touchdown pass, thrown a second before he was knocked cold by a defensive player for the Dallas Cowboys.

PEOPLE QUIZ/ By John Gibson

Are big biceps really a plus when it comes to attracting a woman . . . or is she looking for something more?

What Makes a Man Attractive To a Woman?

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. When it comes to catching a woman's attention — and holding it — the muscular man has the inside track.
2. Women prefer men with hairy chests.
3. Music can affect the way a woman responds to a man—and how attractive she finds him.
4. Women are much better at sizing up men than men are at sizing up women.
5. How much the cut of a man's clothes and his general grooming affect a woman's rating of him depends largely on whether her mood is up or down.

ANSWERS

1. False. According to a study of women's preferences in men, conducted at a leading university, "the traditional image of an ideal 'muscle man' holds little attraction for most women." The study also showed that: Women who are traditionally feminine show a preference for masculine physiques—trim, tapering V-shaped, while less traditional women express more nonstereotyped preferences.
2. True. A recent study of college-aged women, conducted by a team of investigators at Georgia College bears this out. In regard to the amount of chest hair, the findings are as follows: 46 percent of the women indicated that they preferred a "very hairy chest," while 46 percent voted in favor of a "moderately hairy chest," and only 8 percent preferred a "bare chest."
3. True. Studies show that women are much more emotionally responsive to music than men are, and that romantic music can alter a woman's mood appreciably and make her more receptive to the attributes of the opposite sex. Evidence indicates that when a man is seeking to impress a woman favorably, a background of appropriate music can tip the scales in his favor.

4. True. Psychological studies at Harvard University have shown that women are much better at judging a man's character and personality than vice versa. Tests show women to be more person-oriented and more acutely aware of telltale clues in speech mannerisms, body movements, and subtle changes in facial expression (which often tell far more about the man she is talking to than anything he may say). The fact that women's intuitive and extra-sensory faculties function more effectively than men's do—as demonstrated by Purdue University studies—is an asset when it comes to perceiving another's character. A woman often divines a man's innermost feelings before he is quite aware of them himself. ("I knew he was going to propose long before he did.")
5. True. If she's in a good mood, attention to dress and grooming can win a man Brownie points—particularly during the first meeting. However, psychological studies show that when a woman is distraught, anxious or worried about something, the way a man is dressed cuts little ice and has virtually no effect on her feelings about his attractiveness.

Observations

Good Show. London's taxis, those marvels of roominess and comfort in basic black, have long roused Americans' envy. But now they're being challenged—right here in the U.S. At New York's Museum of Modern Art, five prototype taxis of the future were recently displayed alongside their British cousin. All are roomier than the London cab, and each is a snappy yellow or orange. The exhibit, called "The Taxi Project," was sponsored by Mobil and the Urban Mass Transportation Administration of the U.S. Department of Transportation.

Room for improvement. Can you guess how many passengers a year are carried by cabs? The answer: 2.5 billion. We're not pushing taxis over other forms of mass transit, but they are important even if often neglected. In fact, they are the only public transportation available in over 3,000 American communities. The prototype museum vehicles, built to exacting specifications, were produced by two American companies (American Machine and Foundry, Inc., and Steam Power Systems, Inc.) and three foreign firms (Volvo, Volkswagen and Alfa Romeo). The idea was to build, at a reasonable cost, cabs that would better serve passengers, drivers and the taxi industry.

They come in a box. The designs are squarish. These are nimble, perky vehicles you can walk in and out of—carrying packages, and without bumping your head. A departure from modified passenger-car taxis, they could be great for suburbanites as well as city-dwellers. Features like sliding doors and niches for wheelchairs make them easier for the old and the handicapped.

"TAKE ME TO A COMFORTABLE CAB"

See how they run. Volvo's 4-passenger cab is diesel-fueled with 3-speed automatic transmission, gets 22 to 24 miles per gallon. Volkswagen's taxi looks like a minibus and features a hybrid power plant with an electric engine for city driving and gasoline power for longer hauls and faster speeds. Alfa Romeo's 5-passenger prototype has a dual-overhead-cam engine that runs on gasoline. The two American taxis have steam engines that can run on anything from unleaded gasoline and diesel fuel to kerosene and methanol.

We're moved. Anything that moves more people better and more comfortably, conserves fuel and enhances the urban environment is worth looking into. Want to know more about these cars? A book, "The Taxi Project: Realistic Solutions for Today" (160 pages with 147 illustrations, nine of them in color), can be obtained by sending $7.95, plus 50 cents handling charge, to Customer Sales Service, Museum of Modern Art, 11 West 53rd Street, New York, N.Y. 10019.

You Picked Your Favorites: THE CELEBRITY POLL WINNERS FOR 1976

Heartthrob Robert Redford is the man you voted the most popular movie idol for the second-year running. Last year he assumed the role from John Wayne, a three-time winner retired from the race. His new reigning counterpart is Julie Andrews, as the most popular actress. Paul Michael Glaser, Starsky of "Starsky and Hutch," vaulted to the top TV spot after only a season on the tube, as did Lindsay Wagner of "The Bionic Woman."

Sharing honors in the TV supporting-role category were Henry Winkler, the "Fonz," and Michael Learned, who becomes a consecutive three-time winner of our annual poll.

and third-place Paul Newman, just as he did last year.

Movie Actress: Julie Andrews, in a see-saw upset, retrieved her title by a bare percentage point from Barbra Streisand, who had won for the last two years. Doris Day came in a distant third.

Robert Redford

Julie Andrews

TV Actor: Winning for his role as the irrepressible crime fighter, Paul Michael Glaser had no real competition from Michael Landon or Alan Alda (who ran first last year.) They placed second and third respectively.

TV Actress: In a breathtaking finish, Lindsay Wagner grabbed the lead from

Henry Winkler

Michael Learned

Angie Dickinson by three percentage points. Karen Grassle, mother on "The Little House on the Prairie," came in third.

TV Supporting Actor: Talk about overnight successes! Henry Winkler of "Happy Days" walked away with the highest voting percentage of all categories. He left John Travolta of "Welcome Back, Kotter," and Ralph Waite of "The Waltons" far behind.

TV Supporting Actress: This was the most hotly contested category. Michael Learned, who secured her title of three-time champion, triumphed by one percentage point over Melissa Gilbert—young Laura on "The Little House on the Prairie." Melissa was followed closely by Julie Kavner (Rhoda's sister).

The Key Ingredient Discovered By A Medical Doctor

THE BRAN DIET

You can lose 14 to 24 pounds or more without eating less food. If this sounds too good to be true, get the entire program now and read what Medical Doctors say about it. We've just published a new guidebook, THE BRAN DIET, that is short enough for you to read in one hour and easy to understand. We've condensed a tremendous volume of research into just a few thousand words. It reveals that you can lose as much as you want without hunger through an amazing weight loss secret that shrinks the fat right out of your body.

What Makes It Work? It Must Work — Or You Pay Nothing!

A scientific study described in our guidebook reveals why fewer calories are absorbed by your body from food that contains the proper amount of bran, while more calories are absorbed from the bran-free food that most of us eat. It must work — no matter what you've tried before — or you don't even have to pay our low price of $1.99.

You'll Feel Full With The Right Amount of Bran in Your Diet

The Bran Diet reduces the urge to overeat by requiring more chewing, slowing down the intake of food and stimulating secretions that induce a feeling of fullness. We invite you to ask your doctor for his opinion of our diet.

Between Meal Hunger Banished!

Scientific studies show that volunteers with the right amount of bran in their diet stayed full while those on a bran-free diet soon became hungry and ate again. Do you ever feel this way on your present diet? If so, the reason's simple: it lacks bran, the outer fiber coat of grain that is usually discarded in milling. You just need a little bit of bran if it's present in the food you eat. When you fill out and mail the order form, you'll soon receive dozens of tasty menus and recipes with foods which contain the bran you must have to lose weight and keep it off without being hungry.

It's A Healing Diet Too

The Bran Diet wasn't even designed for taking off fat. It was created as a healing diet after the brilliant detective work of a famous cancer researcher. He observed that people in certain countries enjoy virtual immunity from certain diseases, because they have the right amount of bran in their diet. You'll read the full story in our guidebook.

Two doctors recently praised bran in their newspaper columns. One says, "We now have evidence incriminating bland foods in the development of appendicitis, polyps, diverticuli, and cancer of the large intestine." The other says that our typical bran-free diets produce the cramping pain of diverticular disease, and that 90% of the symptoms are relieved on the bran diet. Few people are constipated either, since no blockages form. High blood cholesterol levels which go with heart, lung, kidney and artery disease are lowered astonishingly on the bran diet. Phlebitis and hemorrhoids are controlled too. Even ulcers and gallstones are related to the amount of fiber in your diet.

Here's Proof That Ordering THE BRAN DIET Can Help You Shed 20 to 100 Pounds Or More

Read what people who've tried it say in these true stories. Read why it may be the best way ever discovered to restore health and lose weight permanently.

Here I am now. Order THE BRAN DIET, and see how easy it will be for you to lose weight.

"I lost 110 pounds on THE BRAN DIET."

— Mrs. Ann Adkins,
Westfield, N. C.

"I'd been fat all my life. I had tried all kinds of diet aids, pills and fad diets. I'd lose 20 or 30 pounds and gain it back — plus more. Then, at 31 when I weighed 224 pounds, I put myself on the bran diet. I know it sounds unbelievable, but I stuck with it until I lost 110 pounds. I didn't go hungry at all. It's the kind of food, not the amount, that matters. It's wonderful to be slim. People that I work with are fascinated with what I've done. They used to say, 'She has such a pretty face — if only she weren't so fat!' Now, I get lots of compliments.

P.S.—My husband has lost 40 pounds too, and we are able to get out and do things we've never done before. It's been over 1½ years since I reached 114 pounds, and I have no trouble keeping weight off. I would like to share my newly found joy in life with others and encourage those who have problems losing weight."

"Your Bran Diet Program has been recommended by my doctor from England, and he says it has cured many people."

"My daughter and I have been on Plan No. 1 for awhile. It's easy to stay on because you don't have that empty feeling."

— Mrs. J. S.

"The macaroni and the meatloaf are the best I ever ate."

— Mrs. F. B.

1. It keeps you off the "Yo Yo Syndrome." (This is what happens when you lose a few pounds and then gain it all back.)
2. Your body absorbs fewer calories than with the same amount of regular food.
3. The food is delicious and easy to fix — so you aren't tempted to go back to your old diet. Imagine losing weight with these delicious dishes: Macaroni and Cheese, Pancakes, Brownies, Meatloaf, Dinner Rolls, Beef Stew, Rice Pudding, French Toast, Bran Cookies.
4. It works fast. You can see results in a few days. You'll soon feel like jumping up and doing things.

6. Hunger disappears because it fills you up. You don't feel weak.

PEOPLE QUIZ/ By John Gibson

Are big biceps really a plus when it comes to attracting a woman... or is she looking for something more?

What Makes a Man Attractive To a Woman?

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. When it comes to catching a woman's attention — and holding it — the muscular man has the inside track.
2. Women prefer men with hairy chests.
3. Music can affect the way a woman responds to a man—and how attractive she finds him.
4. Women are much better at sizing up men than men are at sizing up women.
5. How much the cut of a man's clothes and his general grooming affect a woman's rating of him depends largely on whether her mood is up or down.

ANSWERS

1. False. According to a study of women's preferences in men, conducted at a leading university, "the traditional image of an ideal 'muscle man' holds little attraction for most women." The study also showed that: Women who are traditionally feminine show a preference for masculine physiques—trim, tapering V-shaped, while less traditional women express more nonstereotyped preferences.
2. True. A recent study of college-aged women, conducted by a team of investigators at Georgia College bears this out. In regard to the amount of chest hair, the findings are as follows: 46 percent of the women indicated that they preferred a "very hairy chest," while 46 percent voted in favor of a "moderately hairy chest," and only 8 percent preferred a "bare chest."
3. True. Studies show that women are much more emotionally responsive to music than men are, and that romantic music can alter a woman's mood appreciably and make her more receptive to the attributes of the opposite sex. Evidence indicates that when a man is seeking to impress a woman favorably, a background of appropriate music can tip the scales in his favor.

4. True. Psychological studies at Harvard University have shown that women are much better at judging a man's character and personality than vice versa. Tests show women to be more person-oriented and more acutely aware of telltale clues in speech mannerisms, body movements, and subtle changes in facial expression (which often tell far more about the man she is talking to than anything he may say). The fact that women's intuitive and extra-sensory faculties function more effectively than men's do—as demonstrated by Purdue University studies—is an asset when it comes to perceiving another's character. A woman often divines a man's innermost feelings before he is quite aware of them himself. ("I knew he was going to propose long before he did.")
5. True. If she's in a good mood, attention to dress and grooming can win a man Brownie points—particularly during the first meeting. However, psychological studies show that when a woman is distraught, anxious or worried about something, the way a man is dressed cuts little ice and has virtually no effect on her feelings about his attractiveness.

Observations

Good Show. London's taxis, those marvels of roominess and comfort in basic black, have long roused Americans' envy. But now they're being challenged—right here in the U.S. At New York's Museum of Modern Art, five prototype taxis of the future were recently displayed alongside their British cousin. All are roomier than the London cab, and each is a snappy yellow or orange. The exhibit, called "The Taxi Project," was sponsored by Mobil and the Urban Mass Transportation Administration of the U.S. Department of Transportation.

Room for improvement. Can you guess how many passengers a year are carried by cabs? The answer: 2.5 billion. We're not pushing taxis over other forms of mass transit, but they are important even if often neglected. In fact, they are the only public transportation available in over 3,000 American communities. The prototype museum vehicles, built to exacting specifications, were produced by two American companies (American Machine and Foundry, Inc., and Steam Power Systems, Inc.) and three foreign firms (Volvo, Volkswagen and Alfa Romeo). The idea was to build, at a reasonable cost, cabs that would better serve passengers, drivers and the taxi industry.

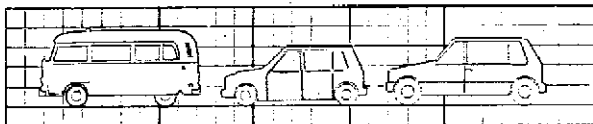

They come in a box. The designs are squarish. These are nimble, perky vehicles you can walk in and out of—carrying packages, and without bumping your head. A departure from modified passenger-car taxis, they could be great for suburbanites as well as city-dwellers. Features like sliding doors and niches for wheelchair make them easier for the old and the handicapped.

"TAKE ME TO A COMFORTABLE CAB"

See how they run. Volvo's 4-passenger cab is diesel-fueled with 3-speed automatic transmission, gets 22 to 24 miles per gallon. Volkswagen's taxi looks like a minibus and features a hybrid power plant with an electric engine for city driving and gasoline power for longer hauls and faster speeds. Alfa Romeo's 5-passenger prototype has a dual-overhead-cam engine that runs on gasoline. The two American taxis have steam engines that can run on anything from unleaded gasoline and diesel fuel to kerosene and methanol.

We're moved. Anything that moves more people better and more comfortably, conserves fuel and enhances the urban environment is worth looking into. Want to know more about these cars? A book, "The Taxi Project: Realistic Solutions for Today" (160 pages with 147 illustrations, nine of them in color), can be obtained by sending $7.95, plus 50 cents handling charge, to Customer Sales Service, Museum of Modern Art, 11 West 53rd Street, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Barbi Benton, Hugh Hefner's girlfriend, talking: "Regardless of what Hugh Hefner says in 'Playboy' magazine, he believes in permissiveness for men, but not for women. For example, he loves to see girls in see-through blouses, but if he ever saw me in one, it would be the end of us for sure. He's too possessive in his kind of love. He'd prefer that I didn't date anyone else. But you can't have everything. He's very conservative when it comes to me. I guess there's a certain amount of class that goes with being conservative. He likes to believe that I have class." Presently Barbi's proving her mettle as a recording artist, and there are a few hurdles to leap. "With the 'Playboy' image it's hard to convince people I have talent. But without 'Playboy,' I would never have had a chance at all."

LITTLE EMILY

"I sure wish I was 7 again and knew what I know now!"

ARTISTS GUY AND JOY Is this where modern art really comes from?

Two baby orangutans who live at the Los Angeles Zoo (their names are Guy and Joy) have taken up painting as a hobby — and in order to support various programs for the blind and handicapped sponsored by the Zoo Association. Guy's and Joy's original paintings are for sale, and Mrs. Chris Garton, a volunteer, says, "What's remarkable about these young orangutan artists is that they're so neat and serious about their work. They never throw paint or act playfully (as is usual for members of the ape family) while they're creating. I'm also impressed by their sense of color and design." It is interesting to note that the male uses only his brush, while the female uses her whole body to create these abstract works, but with equally enchanting (or befuddling) results.

A fad answers back: Tiny Tim, one-time gigantic star, understands what has happened to him but refuses to settle quietly atop the garbage heap. Here's how he's quoted in a new book about him: "People keep asking me why they haven't seen me on the Johnny Carson show recently. It's just for one reason — because I'm not hot. I understand that. If I ever make the grade again, they'll call me. That's how it is and should be. But I must admit, this current period is tough." According to the book, Tiny, who's currently living at home with his mother Tillie, has one hope — to re-establish himself quickly. It's a prospect that dominates his thoughts. He is continually having visions of the "new" Tiny Tim. Tiny sees himself as the star of a film. "My dream movie would be based on a Victor Hugo story called 'The Man Who Laughed,'" Tiny explained. "It's the tale of a kid who's lost his parents. A cruel slave trader takes him on a boat and beats him so much that his face becomes deformed. He always smiles, but he's crying inside. People look at him as a freak, a curiosity. So the slave trader puts him in circuses and makes a pile of money. He's sad his whole life, until he meets a beautiful, wonderful blind girl — Candice Bergen could play the part — who sees him for what he is. They fall in love, and he lives happily ever after." The book is "Tiny Tim," By Harry Stein. (Playboy Press, $8.95.)

FULL HOUSE

When children and their children visit,
You may well ask of me,
"How is it?"
"It's fine," I say, though I must face
The problem of a sleeping place.
My wife stays put, and all the others
Have beds—the kiddies, fathers, mothers.
But I must use a too-short sofa
Or sleeping bag (and can't turn ofa).
I don't know why, I couldn't guess.
It may be all-togetherness.
But this in honesty I tell:
I marvel that I sleep so well.

You Picked Your Favorites: THE CELEBRITY POLL WINNERS FOR 1976

Heartthrob Robert Redford is the man you voted the most popular movie idol for the second-year running. Last year he assumed the role from John Wayne, a three-time winner retired from the race. His new reigning counterpart is Julie Andrews, as the most popular actress. Paul Michael Glaser, Starsky of "Starsky and Hutch," vaulted to the top TV spot after only a season on the tube, as did Lindsay Wagner of "The Bionic Woman."

Sharing honors in the TV supporting-role category were Henry Winkler, the "Fonz," and Michael Learned, who becomes a consecutive three-time winner of our annual poll.

and third-place Paul Newman, just as he did last year.

Movie Actress: Julie Andrews, in a see-saw upset, retrieved her title by a bare percentage point from Barbra Streisand, who had won for the last two years. Doris Day came in a distant third.

Robert Redford

Julie Andrews

TV Actor: Winning for his role as the irrepressible crime fighter, Paul Michael Glaser had no real competition from Michael Landon or Alan Alda (who ran first last year.) They placed second and third respectively.

TV Actress: In a breathtaking finish, Lindsay Wagner grabbed the lead from

Henry Winkler

Michael Learned

Angie Dickinson by three percentage points. Karen Grassle, mother on "The Little House on the Prairie," came in third.

TV Supporting Actor: Talk about overnight successes! Henry Winkler of "Happy Days" walked away with the highest voting percentage of all categories. He left John Travolta of "Welcome Back, Kotter," and Ralph Waldo of "The Waltons" far behind.

TV Supporting Actress: This was the most hotly contested category. Michael Learned, who secured her title of three-time champion, triumphed by one percentage point over Melissa Gilbert—young Laura on "The Little House on the Prairie." Melissa was followed closely by Julie Kavner (Rhoda's sister).

Taste Science Succeeds.

'Enriched Flavor'TM breakthrough brings unprecedented taste to low tar smoking.

By "cracking" cigarette smoke down into separate ingredients, researchers at Philip Morris discovered very special "key" flavor units that deliver taste way out of proportion to tar.

The discovery is called 'Enriched Flavor.'

The cigarette packed with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco is MERIT. At 9 mg., one of the lowest tar levels in smoking today.

Yet, MERIT actually packs the taste of cigarettes having more tar.

Up to 60% more tar.

Tests Verify Taste

9 mg. tar MERIT was taste-tested against five current leading low tar cigarettes ranging from 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar.

Thousands of smokers were tested. The majority reported that even if the cigarette tested had up to 60% more tar than MERIT, MERIT delivered as much — or more — taste.

The Key Ingredient Discovered By A Medical Doctor

THE BRAN DIET

You can lose 14 to 24 pounds or more without eating less food. If this sounds too good to be true, get the entire program now and read what Medical Doctors say about it. We've just published a new guidebook, THE BRAN DIET, that is short enough for you to read in one hour and easy to understand. We've condensed a tremendous volume of research into just a few thousand words. It reveals that you can lose as much as you want without hunger through an amazing weight loss secret that shrinks the fat right out of your body.

I'm Ann Adkins. Here I am before I went on THE BRAN DIET and lost 110 pounds. Then, people would say, "She has such a pretty face — if only she weren't so fat." Read my full story.

What Makes It Work? It Must Work — Or You Pay Nothing!

A scientific study described in our guidebook reveals why fewer calories are absorbed by your body from food that contains the proper amount of bran, while more calories are absorbed from the bran-free food that most of us eat. It must work — no matter what you've tried before — or you don't even have to pay our low price of $1.99.

You'll Feel Full With The Right Amount of Bran in Your Diet

The Bran Diet reduces the urge to overeat by requiring more chewing, slowing down the intake of food and stimulating secretions that induce a feeling of fullness. We invite you to ask your doctor for his opinion of our diet.

Between Meal Hunger Banished!

Scientific studies show that volunteers with the right amount of bran in their diet stayed full while those on a bran-free diet soon became hungry and ate again. Do you ever feel this way on your present diet? If so, the reason's simple: it lacks bran, the outer fiber coat of grain that is usually discarded in milling. You just need a little bit of bran if it's present in the food you eat. When you fill out and mail the order form, you'll soon receive dozens of tasty menus and recipes with foods which contain the bran you must have to lose weight and keep it off without being hungry.

It's A Healing Diet Too

The Bran Diet wasn't even designed for taking off fat. It was created as a healing diet after the brilliant detective work of a famous cancer researcher. He observed that people in certain countries enjoy virtual immunity from certain diseases, because they have the right amount of bran in their diet. You'll read the full story in our guidebook.

Two doctors recently praised bran in their newspaper columns. One says, "We now have evidence incriminating bland foods in the development of appendicitis, polyps, diverticuli, and cancer of the large intestine." The other says that our typical bran-free diets produce the cramping pain of diverticular disease, and that 90% of the symptoms are relieved on the bran diet. Few people are constipated either, since no blockages form. High blood cholesterol levels which go with heart, lung, kidney and artery disease are lowered astonishingly on the bran diet. Phlebitis and hemorrhoids are controlled too. Even ulcers and gallstones are related to the amount of fiber in your diet.

Here's Proof That Ordering THE BRAN DIET Can Help You Shed 20 to 100 Pounds Or More

Read what people who've tried it say in these true stories. Read why it may be the best way ever discovered to restore health and lose weight permanently.

"I lost 110 pounds on THE BRAN DIET."

— Mrs. Ann Adkins, Westfield, N. C.

"I'd been fat all my life. I had tried all kinds of diet aids, pills and fad diets. I'd lose 20 or 30 pounds and gain it back — plus more. Then, at 31 when I weighed 224 pounds, I put myself on the bran diet. I know it sounds unbelievable, but I stuck with it until I lost 110 pounds. I didn't go hungry at all. It's the kind of food, not the amount, that matters. It's wonderful to be slim. People that I work with are fascinated with what I've done. They used to say, "She has such a pretty face — if only she weren't so fat!" Now, I get lots of compliments.

P.S.—My husband has lost 40 pounds too, and we are able to get out and do things we've never done before. It's been over 1½ years since I reached 114 pounds, and I have no trouble keeping weight off. I would like to share my newly found joy in life with others and encourage those who have problems losing weight."

"Your Bran Diet Program has been recommended by my doctor from England, and he says it has cured many people."

"My daughter and I have been on Plan No. 1 for awhile. It's easy to stay on because you don't have that empty feeling."

— Mrs. J. S.

"The macaroni and the meatloaf are the best I ever ate."

— Mrs. F. B.

For example, he loves to see girls in see-through blouses, but if he ever saw me in one, it would be the end of us for sure. He's too possessive in his kind of love. He'd prefer that I didn't date anyone else. But you can't have everything. He's very conservative when it comes to me. I guess there's a certain amount of class that goes with being conservative. He likes to believe that I have class." Presently Barbi's proving her mettle as a recording artist, and there are a few hurdles to leap. "With the 'Playboy' image it's hard to convince people I have talent. But without 'Playboy,' I would never have had a chance at all."

LITTLE EMILY

"I sure wish I was 7 again and knew what I know now!"

ARTISTS GUY AND JOY
Is this where modern art really comes from?

Two baby orangutans who live at the Los Angeles Zoo (their names are Guy and Joy) have taken up painting as a hobby — and in order to support various programs for the blind and handicapped sponsored by the Zoo Association. Guy's and Joy's original paintings are for sale, and Mrs. Chris Garton, a volunteer, says, "What's remarkable about these young orangutan artists is that they're so neat and serious about their work. They never throw paint or act playfully (as is usual for members of the ape family) while they're creating. I'm also impressed by their sense of color and design." It is interesting to note that the male uses only his brush, while the female uses her whole body to create these abstract works, but with equally enchanting (or befuddling) results.

A lad answers back: Tiny Tim, one-time gigantic star, understands what has happened to him but refuses to settle quietly atop the garbage heap. Here's how he's quoted in a new book about him: "People keep asking me why they haven't seen me on the Johnny Carson show recently. It's just for one reason — because I'm not hot. I understand that if I ever make the grade again, they'll call me. That's how it is and should be. But I must admit, this current period is tough." According to the book, Tiny, who's currently living at home with his mother Tillie, has one hope — to re-establish himself quickly. It's a prospect that dominates his thoughts. He is continually having visions of the "new" Tiny Tim. Tiny sees himself as the star of a film. "My dream movie would be based on a Victor Hugo story called 'The Man Who Laughed,'" Tiny explained. "It's the tale of a kid who's lost his parents. A cruel slave trader takes him on a boat and beats him so much that his face becomes deformed. He always smiles, but he's crying inside. People look at him as a freak, a curiosity. So the slave trader puts him in circuses and makes a pile of money. He's sad his whole life, until he meets a beautiful, wonderful blind girl — Candice Bergen could play the part — who sees him for what he is. They fall in love, and he lives happily ever after." The book is "Tiny Tim," By Harry Stein. (Playboy Press, $8.95.)

ARMOUR'S ARMOURY
By Richard Armour

FULL HOUSE

When children and their children visit,
You may well ask of me,
"How is it?"

"It's fine," I say, though I must face
The problem of a sleeping place.

My wife stays put, and all the others

Have beds — the kiddies, fathers, mothers.

But I must use a too-short sofa
Or sleeping bag (and can't turn off).

I don't know why, I couldn't guess.

It may be all-togetherness.

But this in honesty I tell:

I marvel that I sleep so well.

One wife's definition of retirement: "Twice as much husband on half as much income."

—Conrad Fiorello

Two Alaskans spent a summer vacation in the northernmost tip of Maine and had the time of their lives. As they were leaving, one of them said to his host effusively, "Thank you, thank you! Now I know what they mean by true Southern hospitality!"

Kids see life differently. Send original contributions to "Child," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., N.Y., N.Y. 10022. $10 if used — none returned.

My 3-year-old niece Gina was delighted at the arrival of her new baby cousin. When the baby was about 3 months old, Gina thought they should be old friends by now. She greeted her with a cheerful, "Hi Melany," but when the baby completely ignored her, she sighed, "She thinks she doesn't know me."

Taste Science Succeeds.

'Enriched Flavor'™ breakthrough brings unprecedented taste to low tar smoking.

By "cracking" cigarette smoke down into separate ingredients, researchers at Philip Morris discovered very special "key" flavor units that deliver taste way out of proportion to tar.

The discovery is called 'Enriched Flavor.'

The cigarette packed with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco is MERIT. At 9 mg., one of the lowest tar levels in smoking today.

Yet, MERIT actually packs the taste of cigarettes having more tar.

Up to 60% more tar.

© Philip Morris Inc. 1976

9 mg. "tar," 0.7 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC Method.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

If you smoke, you'll be interested.

Tests Verify Taste

9 mg. tar MERIT was taste-tested against five current leading low tar cigarettes ranging from 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar.

Thousands of smokers were tested. The majority reported that even if the cigarette tested had up to 60% more tar than MERIT, MERIT delivered as much—or more—taste.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough.

HOW THE CLUB OPERATES

Simply mail the application together with check or money order for $1.86 as payment (that's $1.00 for your first 11 selections, plus 86¢ for shipping and handling).

Every four weeks (13 times a year) you'll receive the Club's music magazine, which describes the Selection of the Month for each musical interest . . . plus hundreds of alternates from every field of music. In addition, up to six times a year you may receive offers of Special Selections, usually at a discount off regular Club prices.

If you wish to receive the Selection of the Month or the Special Selection, you need do nothing—it will be shipped automatically. If you prefer an alternate selection, or none at all, simply fill in the response card always provided and mail it by the date specified.

You will always have at least 10 days in which to make your decision. If you ever receive any Selection without having had at least 10 days in which to decide, you may return it at our expense, for full credit.

Your own charge account will be opened . . . the selections you order will be mailed and billed at regular Club prices, which currently are: 8-track tapes and cassettes, $6.98 or $7.98; reel tapes, $7.98; records, $5.98 or $6.98—plus shipping and handling. (Multiple unit sets and Double Selections may be somewhat higher.)

After completing your enrollment agreement (by buying 8 selections within 3 years), you may cancel membership at any time. If you decide to continue, you'll be eligible for our generous money-saving bonus plan. Act now!
